OLD AGE PENSION DEFEAT SCORED BY PINCHOT

Today

Over the Union Pacific.
Plenty of Beer.
Pigs, Corn, Prosperity.
Best Minds Worry.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

LYNNDYL, Utah, May 2.

THIS RETURN trip from the Pacific to the Atlantic is being made over the Union Pacific. Its building was authorized by President Lincoln on July 1, 1862. It was rebuilt, made one of the world's greatest railroads, by the late E. H. Harriman, a constructive American to whom the United States owes gratitude.

The first part of the trip by auto from W. R. Hearst's ranch at San Simeon, along the edge of the Pacific for a hundred miles and then for two hundred miles across the desert, would please youth which wishes to believe that things "wild and western" still exist.

They would have seen after dark dozens of tall ghostly jack rabbits hopping about the desert roads, confused by the headlights, and, lurking at the side of the road a gray coyote that seized one and darted like a shadow into the desert. Such tragedies establish nature's balance. Without destructive enemies, rabbits would destroy all crops.

BEER INVITES attention obstreperously everywhere. Across windows of a lonesome desert gas station you see written with soap in enormous letters, "Plenty Beer." Five cents profit on a pint of beer is better than two cents on a gallon of gasoline.

THE PORT of Los Angeles announces heavy gains in imports, largely beer. In the month of April Uncle Sam's customs collections at the port increased $50,000, thanks to beer from Canada and Mexico.

Once bootleggers would have got the $50,000 multiplied by ten with beer at $1 a bottle. Mexico ships "from the second largest brewery in the world" beer, "Carta Blanca Pilsner Mexicana," and names it "Exquisitia."

E. J. STEINHEUSER, of New York and Rockaway Beach, Long Island, who tried the beer when urged by Frank M. Hauser, of Santa Monica, says:

"It is exquisitia, all right."

THE UNION PACIFIC takes travelers to see many wonders. To Old Faithful, the big geyser, to the high north rim of the Grand Canyon or off to Mt. Rainier, looking down, forever snow-covered.

And from Los Angeles eastward you travel through great food producing regions of the United States. Across California, through Nevada, where five thousand sheep bleat and graze beside the track, through Utah past the Great Salt Lake, through Nebraska, Iowa, Illinois and into Chicago, where the great exposition opens on June 1st.

Geysers that rush upward, Yosemite falls that drop down, grand peaks, deep canyons, palm trees and eternal snows contrasted are all very well. But for prosperity the corn fields that produce our greatest farm crop and pigs and cattle that eat the corn are the important features of this journey.

THE SALT LAKE TRIBUNE brings the morning news, meets you half a day out of Salt Lake City.

There is trouble to the south. Luis M. Sanchez Cerro, president of Peru, is assassinated while reviewing 30,000 troops. One man can do what 30,000 cannot prevent. The murderer was seized, "hacked to pieces," by soldiers and police. But that did not restore the dead president.

GANDHI ANNOUNCES a new "irrevocable" three weeks' fast. He tells his son Devidas, who begs him not to risk his life again, that he is fasting "to purify his soul" and protest against untouchability and the caste system.

Poor Gandhi, kept in jail by the British, would not seem to need any other soul purification. He represents pathetically the uselessness of Theodore Roosevelt's "words without deeds."

FROM WASHINGTON high finance learns with groans that it is living under a "highbrow" government willing to try anything once, and listening to a college professor as readily as it would an experienced political boss.

The nation has started many things in a hurry, to be digested at leisure. One of them not expected so soon is nationalization of labor. If laws requested are passed the government will have power to raise wages in one place, force them down in another.

The Democratic party will have power if it chooses to give a good imitation of Mussolini or Stalin.

ARTHUR SEARS HENNING says the G. O. P., meaning Republican gentlemen who recently ran the country, are filled with alarm about a "dictatorship" and believe "the independent authority of Congress is doomed to be snuffed out like that of the Italian parliament and the German reichstag."

There are marked differences between Mussolini, Hitler and President Roosevelt and, anyhow, many Americans will suggest that a dictator living in the White House might be no worse than a dictator doing business in Wall Street.

HITLER NAZIS RAID LABOR UNIONS

Workers' Activities Curbed, Leaders Arrested

BERLIN, May 2.—(AP.)—Chancellor Hitler's Brownshirts, by surprise and storm, took the last hurdle today on the road to Nazi domination of the labor movement by occupying headquarters of the free trade unions throughout Germany.

Socialist leaders of the unions, which have 5,500,000 members, were arrested.

The trade unions of the future are to be made national rather than international in character, Nazi leaders said.

Having previously smashed the Social-Democratic party, the Nazis realized Socialism's backbone — the trade unions — still moved mentally in ideology of Marxism, even though leaders tried outwardly to swing them into line with the new concept of Germany.

In Berlin, the Nazi storm troops occupied the national headquarters of the unions and the gigantic building of the metal workers' union. Labor union funds were impounded and labor banks closed temporarily.

LEADERS ARRESTED

Prominent federation leaders arrested were President Theodor Leipart, Vice President Peter Grassman and Rudolf Wissell, former minister of labor. Grassman figured prominently as labor's representative during negotiations leading to adoption of the Dawes plan.

As Leipart and Grassman are both ill, they were held in a hospital.

The Social Democratic party's few regaining Reichstag and Prussian Diet members have been leading a shadow-like existence, totally devoid of the influence which was theirs when they belonged to the dominant party in Germany. Their vast propaganda ap-

McKee Will Enter N.Y. Mayoralty Race

NEW YORK, May 2.—(AP.)—The American says Aldermanic President Joseph V. McKee will announce his mayoralty candidacy at a dinner of the Knickerbocker Society May 11.

McKee was acting mayor from the time Mayor Walker resigned until Mayor O'Brien took office January 1.

Firemen on Strike At Bentleyville

BENTLEYVILLE, Pa., May 2.—(AP.)—Bentleyville's volunteer fire department is on strike.

Authorities asked bids for the job of fire truck driver. Walter Dague bid $50 per month.

Elmer Majors had been driving the truck for $80. Firement say they won't put out fires until he is reinstated.

Kisses No Sign!

RUTH ELDER

RUTH AND CAMP WON'T REWED

SAN FRANCISCO, May 2.—(Universal.)—Between kisses and exchanges of endearment, Ruth Elder, aviatrix, and Walter Camp, Jr., had denied today any intention to remarry.

Miss Elder, hurrying up from Los Angeles, was at the pier when a globe-girdling liner docked with her former husband aboard.

She hastened to his cabin, threw her arms about his neck and exclaimed:

"Darling, You ol' sweetheart."

Verifying her denial that they intended to rewed, the son of the late football authority said:

"We have been wonderful friends ever since our divorce last year. We think the world of each other, but there will be no remarriage."

Later the divorced couple took off for Los Angeles in Miss Elder's plane. Camp will rejoin his world-cruise liner in that port.

Free Cigars Fete Full Time at Tire Plant

AKRON, O., May 2.—(AP.)—All work in plants of the General Tire and Rubber Company was stopped for a time today so workers could celebrate inauguration of capacity production.

Free cigars, cigarets and candy were distributed and posters on the walls announced "happy days are here again."

Kansas Acquits Man In Beer Test Case

WICHITA, Kan., May 2.—(AP.)—Robert R. Andrews, 28, who invited arrest and prosecution three weeks ago in the hope of testing the legality of sale of 3.2 per cent beer in Kansas, was acquitted today.

F. R. INVITED TO LONDON PARLEY

White House Attaches Deny President Plans Trip

By HARRY K. REYNOLDS
International News Service.

LONDON, May 2.—Reports that President Roosevelt may visit London during the forthcoming world economic conference caused great excitement in British official circles today.

Although it was impossible to confirm the reports, which were denied by White House spokesmen in Washington, Whitehall circles expressed belief an address before the conference by President Roosevelt would greatly enhance its efforts to combat the world economic crisis.

It was understood that Prime Minister MacDonald, now enroute to London from Washington, where he conferred with the United States chief executive, informally suggested during their talks that President Roosevelt come to London while the conference is in progress.

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—President Roosevelt has no present intention of journeying to London to attend the world economic conference this summer.

This was stated authoritatively today in response to published reports that Mr. Roosevelt was considering such a trip after the adjournment of Congress, now expected about the time the conference convenes in mid-June.

President Roosevelt is beginning to look longingly to Congress' adjournment so he will be able to get a little vacation traveling.

Definitely on the President's engagement book at this time is a motor trip to Annapolis on June 1, where he will distribute diplomas to the 1933 graduating class of midshipmen.

WORLD'S FAIR

Chicago has been using all its influence to get Mr. Roosevelt there for the opening of the Century of Progress Exposition. Inasmuch as this also falls on June 1, the President is hopeful that he will be able to visit the World's

Assembly Approves School Feeding Bill

HARRISBURG, May 2.—(AP.)—The Senate passed finally and sent to the Governor today the bill of Representative Spann, Allegheny County, authorizing Pittsburgh and Philadelphia school districts to supply food and milk to undernourished and poor school children.

Similar approval was given the McKinney bill appropriating $1,200 for maintenance of the Drake Well Memorial Park in Crawford County.

Co-Ed Found Dead In Sorority House

VATICAN CITY, May 2.—(AP.)—Pope Pius today named Monsignor Philip Scher, of Monterey, Cal., to be bishop of Monterey and Fresno.

AUTO CRASH IN OHIO CLUE TO MAUG

Hunt Women, 3 Men After Wreck of Stolen Car

John Maug and Edward Turpack, escaped convicts from the Western Penitentiary, are being sought near Cadiz, O., today.

Search followed the discovery near there of an abandoned automobile stolen from the North Side, near the Maug hideout, on the night of the escape.

Authorities at Cadiz were asked to arrest three men and a woman, occupants of the stolen car, in a telegram by Inspector of Detectives Frank R. Boyd.

According to the Sheriff at Cadiz, the car broke a wheel seven miles east of there today, and its occupants picked up a ride toward Steubenville, O.

Police here are investigating why the theft of the automobile, an Auburn sedan bearing license No. CY172, was not reported until today. The owner of the car is John Russell, of 1122 Liverpool street.

Poisoners Ask 4 Bodies Be Exhumed

The Munhall poison plot case was revived in Criminal Court today when Attorney Louis Little asked that four bodies be exhumed for further chemical analysis.

Mrs. Mary Chalfa and Mrs. Anna Allas, both of Munhall, were convicted of first degree murder last February 2, in connection with the deaths.

Their motion for a new trial was to be heard next week, but may be delayed, as Judge Gardner set May 29 for a hearing on Little's petition.

World's Super-Bank Has 25 Cents in Gold

BASEL, Switzerland, May 2.—(AP.)—The gold supply of the Bank for International Settlements, the world's super-bank, amounts to one 25 cent gold piece minted in San Francisco in 1852.

This coin was given to the bank by a friend when he learned that the bank's vaults contained no precious metal. The bank's gold holdings are stored in other banks.

Amnesia Victim Asks Sleuth's Aid

A neatly dressed man about 40 who cannot remember who he is has applied to city detectives for help.

Evidently a victim of amnesia, he told detectives the last thing he remembers is meeting a man in Columbus, O., who brought him to Pittsburgh in an automobile last Sunday, brought his lunch and gave him $1.

Simon J. Peabody, J. D.'s Friend, Dies

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., May 2.—(Universal.)—Simon J. Peabody, 82, former Columbia City, Ind., lumberman, wealthy philanthropist and close friend of John D. Rockefeller, died yesterday after a lingering illness.

Walls Collapse, Workmen Periled

NEW YORK, May 2.—(AP.)—The brick front of one of three houses being remodeled in East Ninth street, just above Washington square, collapsed today.

A dozen workmen were all accounted for.

CALLS CROONER 'TERRIBLE'

A certain crooner may be the flappers' idol, but to Magistrate T. D. Jones, of Morals Court, he is "just another saxophone player and terrible as a songster."

The magistrate voiced his views as he imposed a $5 fine on each of four youths arrested early today with buckets of paint and brushes at Fifth avenue and Wood street, charged with violating a city ordinance. They were painting the crooner's name on the sidewalks as an advertisement. Jones said:

"This fellow isn't so hot. In fact he is just another saxophone player with a good press agent. We have better musicians in Pittsburgh. The trouble is outsiders are employed to come here and take the jobs of our musicians and take the money out of town. I know what I am talking about because I am a musician myself."

Temperature Drops As Rain Falls Here

The mercury tumbled from 74 degrees to 58 during a hard thundershower this afternoon. Observer W. S. Brotzman predicted a further fall to between 45 and 50 by tomorrow morning, accompanied by showers.

Hail was reported last night as showers fell over Western Pennsylvania. Cooler weather will follow cessation of the rain tomorrow, Brotzman said.

GARBO TRUNKS HELD BY U. S.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., May 2.—(AP.)—Contradictory statements made by Greta Garbo, screen star, caused federal authorities today to hold her five trunks and three hat boxes which she brought with her when she returned from Europe Sunday.

Miss Garbo was reported to have listed herself as a returning resident of the United States and in a later declaration named herself as a Swedish citizen arriving in the immigration quota. Her baggage will be held, federal agents said, until the actress explains the conflicting reports.

Common Law Unions Ended in New York

ALBANY, N. Y., May 2.—(INS.)—Gov. Herbert H. Lehman today approved a bill designed to end common law marriages.

The measure provides no marriage "shall be valid" unless solemnized.

NEW YORK, May 2.—(AP.)—Eight incoming liners with almost 2,000 passengers were held in the lower harbor by dense fog today.

COYNE GIVES 'ALIBI' FOR OPPOSITION

Labor, Civic Leaders Flay Vote as 'Barrier To Human Progress'

Major developments in the State legislative situation today were these:

1—Defeat of the old age pension bill program in the Senate was denounced as "a barrier to human progress" by Gov. Pinchot, labor leaders and civic groups. Senator James J. Coyne gives "alibi" for voting to keep the legislation from the floor.

2—Action on a beer control compromise neared with leaders certain the proposal for county treasurers to issue licenses to retailers and wholesalers would be passed finally by the House.

3—A utilities regulating code, which faces the threat of a veto by Gov. Pinchot, was before the House for final passage.

(Details on Page Fourteen.)

By MARK SHIELDS

HARRISBURG, May 2.—Gov. Pinchot today declared that the action of the Senate last night in refusing to consider a resolution to amend the constitution to permit a state-wide vote on old age pensions "has set a barrier against human progress that must live for five years."

Labor leaders and civic groups joined with the Governor in condemning Senators Buckman, Fay and Woodward, a hard-boiled subcommittee which refused to report the bill after considering it for weeks, and whose arbitrary and reactionary stand was backed up by 27 out of 47 Senators, among them Senator James J. Coyne, of Pittsburgh, the only Allegheny countian to take such a stand.

COYNE DEFENSE

Senator Coyne said today:

"I am for old age pensions, and will vote for the resolution if it comes to the floor properly. But I am not for discharging a Senate committee from consideration of bills. I did not make a pledge of any kind on the subject when a candidate for the Senate."

Gov. Pinchot declared:

"The defeat of old age pensions last night in the Senate goes too deep for anger. It will be remembered when everything else that has happened at this session will be forgotten. It

War on Crime Bans Petters From Parks

This was a tough day for neckers—the toughest, perhaps, since the market crash of 1929.

In Pittsburgh and Charleroi things were made extremely difficult for petting parties. Public Works Director Lang announced that henceforth no parking will be allowed in the city parks after midnight.

This should leave Honeymoon Circle in Schenley Park just a shadow of itself.

Lang said such action was to reduce the number of holdups. Perhaps it will frustrate the unromantic stickupstarts, but it'll also leave a lot of young folks virtually homeless. In times like these!

In Charleroi, Constable Joseph Andrews threatened to advertise the names of neckers in the daily papers. He says the people, including the farmers, are complaining that the petters are turning every avenue of Fallowfield Township into a lovers' lane. Andrews says it's gotta stop.

EVELYN NESBIT THAW'S OWN STORY OF HER LIFE
Begins Thursday
In the Sun-Telegraph

Hypnotist Held in Death Of Girl 'Disciple'

EASTON, Pa., May 2.—(INS.)—After two witnesses testified he exercised a strange influence over the girl, Gerald Fitzgibbons, 50, a magician and hypnotist, of Audubon, N. J., was held responsible by a coroner's jury today for the death of Miss Helen Weiss Rothstein, 26, of Philadelphia, in an automobile crash at Raubsville early last Friday morning.

The jury recommended that Fitzgibbons, in jail unable to furnish a $2,500 bond, be held on a manslaughter charge.

Witnesses said the girl was infatuated with Fitzgibbons, from whom she had been taking lessons in hypnotism and psychology. She went riding with him last Thursday.

Mrs. Jeannette Bittan, the victim's sister, and Elizabeth Cordova, a friend, testified the hypnotist exercised a weird influence over the girl.

Dr. Theodore Reichbaum, deputy coroner, and Clare Snyder, county detective, asserted Fitzgibbons appeared to be intoxicated when they interviewed him shortly after the crash.

NEW WRANGLE IN HOUSE DELAYS VOTE ON INFLATION

RAINEY SEES BIG MARGIN FOR MEASURE

Debate Launched on Special Rule to Force Action

WASHINGTON, May 2.—(AP.)—Democratic House leaders still divided today over whether to force a vote late today on the inflation section of the administration's farm relief bill.

Representative Byrns, of Tennessee, the Democratic leader, said he was prepared to insist that the six hours of debate be completed today and that a vote be had tonight. If a majority insists that the "roll call go over until tomorrow," Byrns said, he was "willing to recede."

While Democratic leaders moved ahead with plans for sending the bill to conference after instructing the conferees to accept the Senate inflation amendment, Chairman Jones, of the House Agriculture Committee, who is to head the House conferees, conferred with senators who are to compose the Senate committee, on the differences on farm relief.

Speaker Rainey predicted off the floor that the inflation provision would "receive more than 300 House votes."

As the measure was called up, House Democratic leaders were forced to resort to an alternative proposition to get a vote on the inflation provision when Representative Snell, of New York, the Republican leader, again blocked an effort by Representative Pou (Dem.), of North Carolina, to bring up a rule requiring a vote after six hours of debate.

After Pou, chairman of the Rules Committee, had asked unanimous consent to consider the inflation proposal with a view to instructing the conferees to accept the Senate amendment, Snell objected, and debate began on a special rule designed to force such a vote.

A Really Momentous Question -:- By QUIN HALL

UTILITIES FIGHT TAX NOW PAID BY PUBLIC

Insurgents in Senate Back Proposals to 'Soak the Rich'

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—The first Senate attack on the administration's budget-balancing tax bill was fired today by spokesmen for the electric power utilities, protesting against a 3 per cent tax on their business.

William J. Hagenah, Chicago attorney, told the Senate Finance Committee the tax would place a "crushing burden" on the industry, force higher rates and throw thousands of employes out of work. He declared the power companies would have to effect enormous economies in order to offset the tax.

CONSUMERS NOW PAY

The tax was imposed this year on consumers, but the House transferred it in the new tax bill to the power companies. It was expected to bring in $39,000,000 a year.

The other sections of the bill included a 1-cent federal tax on gasoline and an authorization for a reduction in postal rates.

Administration leaders predicted the taxes, plus increased revenues from reduced postal rates, on top of federal economies, would balance the budget.

The gas tax was estimated to bring in $150,000,000 a year.

POSTAL REVENUE

Postal authorities said the reduced postal rates might bring in $50,000,000 more revenue a year.

These provisions were acceptable to the Insurgents as well as Democratic leaders. But the Insurgents demanded adoption of an amendment, levying a new graduated scale of Federal surtaxes on incomes in excess of $100,000 a year, hoping to make the rich pay for numerous relief activities.

They proposed a scale starting with 50 per cent surtax at $100,000 and rising to a maximum of 75 per cent on incomes in excess of $1,000,000 a year.

The income tax row threatened to overshadow all other provisions of the bill. The Insurgent drive revolved around an amendment, prepared by Senator Nye (Rep.), of North Dakota. It literally would carry out the often-voiced demand of Senator Long (Dem.), of Louisiana, for a "decentralization of wealth" through Federal taxation.

UTILITY STOCK LOSS BARED BY QUIZ

Charge Cites Service Paid Over Million To Float Issue

WASHINGTON, May 2.—(AP.)—A net loss of $1,551,626 by the Cities Service Securities Company in its marketing, during 1929 and 1930, of the class "A" common stock of the Arkansas Natural Gas Corporation was reported to the Federal Trade Commission today by Thomas W. Mitchell, commission examiner.

Mitchell was recalled by the commission's chief counsel, Robert E. Healy, as hearings on the affairs of the Cities Service Securities Company were resumed after a three-day recess.

The securities company, wholly owned by the Cities Service Company, is being investigated as one phase of the general inquiry into electric utilities.

MARKET 'SUPERVISED'

The Arkansas company is a subsidiary of the Cities Service Company, Mitchell testified, and as the new class "A" common stock was equal in all respects to the voting common stock except as to voting power, he said, "supervising the market" for the class "A" common stock "would naturally include such operations in the voting common stock as were necessary to sustain its market price."

In sustaining the market price of the voting common, the securities company purchased and resold 505,143 shares, he said, adding:

"It is remarkable that it purchased those shares at an aggregate cost of nearly $11,786,000 and sold them at aggregate proceeds of a little less than $5,966,000, thereby sustaining a gross loss on the purchase and resale of those shares amounting to $5,819,920.63."

LOSS $1,551,626.31

He added that the gross loss amounted to nearly one half of the amount paid for the shares and was considered by the company as a part of the expense of marketing the class "A" common. Mitchell said:

"After taking account of the loss from uncollectability and of the syndicate commissions and expenses, a net loss of $1,551,626.31 was shown to be connected with marketing the Arkansas Natural Gas Corporation Class "A" common stock. This amount was charged back against Arkansas Natural Gas Corporation.

STRIKE BARES SWEATSHOP CRUELTY

Girl Earns Nickel For Week in Shirt Factory

Dorothy Roe, Universal Service writer, is investigating labor conditions in Pennsylvania sweatshop centers. In the accompanying article she describes what she personally saw in Allentown yesterday.

Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins, in an exclusive interview with Miss Roe said:

"Nowhere has a more dramatic illustration of present-day conditions been found than in Pennsylvania, where the strike of young children against long hours and low wages has focussed national attention on the sort of conditions present in many communities."

By DOROTHY ROE
(Copyright, 1933, Universal Service, Inc.)

ALLENTOWN, Pa., May 2.—Mildred Sweeney is a thin, snub-nosed little Irish girl, who ought to be thinking of nothing more serious than basketball.

But Mildred, at 15, has been the sole support of a family of 10 for the last year.

From 7 o'clock in the morning until 5 in the evening, Mildred trimmed shirts in a factory in Allentown.

The highest wages she made in one week for all her long hours of work was $1.10.

One week she made just five cents.

TOO TIRED TO EAT

Other weeks she would came home, too tired to eat, at the end of the day, with 50 or 75 cents to show for the week's work.

Mildred, and most of the other children workers, are paid by the piece, from one-half cent to 2 or 3 cents a dozen for trimming shirts.

Mildred explains:

"The week that I got just a nickel I had to go every day, just like always, and wait to see if there was anything to do. Sometimes we'd wait all day and go home at night without earning anything.

"But if you don't come every day, they fire you."

Mildred is just one of the hundreds of child workers now on strike against the unbelievable conditions under which they have been working in the garment factories of Allentown and Northampton.

They walk the streets of this city, a hopeless, frightened caravan, protesting against a labor situation they can understand only vaguely.

NATIONAL ATTENTION

The plight of the children of Allentown and Northampton has roused national attention. A committee appointed by Gov. Pinchot, of Pennsylvania, is now investigating the situation, and Frances Perkins, Secretary of Labor, has issued from Washington a plea to the nation to force legislation to protect these young victims of a world depression.

The Governor's investigating committee will meet at Allentown on Thursday to hear the testimony of child workers and employers.

Miss Ruth Scandrett, of the National Child Labor Committee, investigating Allentown conditions today, said:

"It is almost unbelievable that American children in this modern day are found working under conditions that we thought we stamped out along with the dark ages.

"And many of them are afraid to go on strike. Their few pennies a week are needed at home. Their parents forbid them, under threats of beatings, to join the strikers."

CONGRESS NEAR ADJOURNMENT

WASHINGTON, May 2.—(AP.)—Speaker Rainey today said at his press conference that Congress could complete the President's emergency legislative program and adjourn by June 1.

The Illinois Democrat listed the securities, railroad, public works and tariff bills as the major portion of the remaining part of the program to be enacted.

"The 30-hours week bill is not a part of the administration program yet," Rainey said, when asked if the House would consider the legislation.

Representative Byrnes, of Tennessee, the Democratic leader, told newsmen that the Black-Connery 30-hour work week bill would not be considered by the House until all of President Roosevelt's emergency legislation program had been enacted at the special session.

Only a short time before Chairman Connery, of the labor committee, at an open hearing had voiced displeasure at a somewhat similar statement by Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the party leader. Connery asserted his committee would "go ahead and take such action as it sees fit."

F. R. Asked to Attend Parley in London

Fair immediately after its opening.

Early in June, his son John graduates from Groton. If circumstances in Washington permit, the President will attend the commencement exercises, and then, with John, join his oldest son, James, at Marblehead, Mass., for a sailing cruise off the New England coast.

During Ramsay MacDonald's visit to Washington, he suggested to the President that he might be able to pay the conference in London a flying visit and expressed the thought that it would enhance the chances of the success of the gathering.

Mr. Roosevelt, it was said, merely responded politely that he would like to do so but gave the project no serious consideration.

While the President's intimates are not entirely closing the door to the possibility of such a journey, they insisted today that under present conditions he has no thought of going.

WILSON CITED

For one thing, they pointed out that the outstanding example of an American President crossing the ocean to personally participate in an international conference—that of Woodrow Wilson—was not a happy one. There are many who believe that Wilson would have been a greater influence in the Versailles conference had he remained in Washington.

Instead of thinking about personal participation at London, administration officials said that Mr. Roosevelt is giving more thought to the selection of a strong and representative American delegation.

Some selections already have been made. Senator Key Pittman (Dem.), Nevada, probably will be on the delegation to handle the questions involving silver.

James M. Cox, Democratic Presidential candidate in 1920, has been offered a place on the delegation, and probably will accept.

Cox declined the ambassadorship to Germany on the ground he did not care to accept a permanent post, but in so doing expressed a willingness to serve the administration in any temporary capacity.

MOLEY TO GO

Prof. Raymond Moley, who has been at Mr. Roosevelt's elbow throughout the Washington conferences with foreign statesmen, is accounted a certain member of the delegation.

Secretary of State Hull probably will head the delegation, but it is considered doubtful if he will remain in London throughout the conference.

Former Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson is another possibility. Stimson is a Republican, of course, and his appointment would tend to give the delegation the required non-partisan aspect.

One or two other Republicans will be accorded places, too, according to present plans.

Meanwhile, President Roosevelt resumed his international conversations today. He went into conference with Tomas le Breton, special representative from Argentina.

Topics to be discussed were wheat control and trade relations.

Weather Conditions.

The disturbance which caused the showers over the central valleys during the past 24 hours, is now central over Northern Indiana. Chicago, 29.82, with rain continuing this morning in the lake region, the Ohio and Upper Mississippi valleys. Pressure is relatively high over the western plains and northward into Manitoba (Winnipeg, 30.10), and generally fair weather prevails there. It is cooler over the central valleys and the southern plains and warmer in the plateau district and the Southern Rocky Mountains, where another disturbance is developing.

River Conditions.

The rivers are about stationary or falling slowly. Rainfall yesterday was moderately heavy in some localities. Johnstown, 47 inch; Conemaugh, 38; Brookville, 1.12; Smethport, 1.55. Other river stations reported light amounts. Stage at Franklin is 2.0 feet. Lock No. 7 (Mon.), 12.5; Pittsburgh, 11.7; Dam No. 4, 9.5; No. 5, 8.4; No. 10, 9.3 and No. 12, 9.9. The dams are up.

SHOALS SENATE ACTION NEAR

WASHINGTON, May 2.—(INS.)—A 12-year legislative fight over disposition of the huge government-owned power and fertilizer plants at Muscle Shoals, Ala., entered its final stages today as the Senate prepared to approve the Norris Bill for government operation of this $150,000,000 property.

Pocket-vetoed in 1928 by the then President Coolidge, vetoed in 1930 by the then President Hoover, the Norris Bill was rewritten at the request of President Roosevelt to include sweeping new provisions.

HOARDERS DEFY GOVERNMENT

WASHINGTON, May 2.—(INS.)—Openly defying the Treasury to enforce its call for gold, attorneys representing clients with several million dollars of the precious metal, in effect said today:

"Try and get it."

It was contended that the Act of March 9, providing authority for the Secretary of the Treasury to call all gold and gold certificates, in unconstitutional.

NEW SECURITIES BILL OFFERED

WASHINGTON, May 2.—(INS.)—A completely re-written administration securities bill was presented to the House Interstate Commerce Committee today by the drafting sub-committee, with indications the new measure will be reported to the House this week.

Rejecting all provisions in the administration measure designed to make the Federal Trade Commission a judge of the soundness of a business enterprise, the subcommittee limited the bill to the original proposal of President Roosevelt to give the investor full information.

The theory of "let the seller beware" was carried into the measure by providing that advertisements for sales of securities must be submitted to the Federal Trade Commission. Any misrepresentation would be punishable by a prison sentence.

Ethel Barrymore's Mother-in-Law Ill

PARIS, May 2.—(INS.)—Mrs. Elizabeth Colt, mother of the former husband of Ethel Barrymore, was reported seriously ill at the American Hospital today.

MISS PERKINS ASKS WAGE LAW

WASHINGTON, May 2.—(AP.)—Miss Frances Perkins, secretary of labor, asserted at a press conference yesterday that minimum wage laws must be passed to complete the Roosevelt reconstruction program. She made her statement after additional opposition had been recorded against such a federal proposal in hearings before the House Labor Committee. Much of the opposition is coming from organized labor, which contends that a minimum wage becomes the maximum wage. Miss Perkins said:

"A minimum wage is necessary at this time if the whole program of reconstruction is to go through."

She said the children's strike in Pennsylvania constitutes "a dramatic illustration of conditions prevailing, not only in Pennsylvania, but in other states where labor standards are being broken down by the pressure of cut-throat competition."

DRESS FACTORY STRIKE LOOMS

PHILADELPHIA, May 2.—(AP.)—A general strike within a week in Philadelphia dress and blouse factories in protest against alleged sweatshop conditions and wage standards is in prospect today.

Approximately 1,100 workers celebrated May Day by voting for the strike, which officials of the International Ladies' Garment Workers Union said would affect 5,000 workers in 150 shops.

The strike was voted six weeks ago, but the banking moratorium forced its postponement.

Child workers in half a dozen shirt factories in the Lehigh Valley region who have been on strike for several weeks, are to give further details of their working conditions and wages to a state investigating committee on Thursday.

'FAIR' WAGE AIM OF N. Y. LAW

ALBANY, May 2.—(INS.)—New York State today started out on its first experiment of fixing a "fair" minimum wage for women and children in industry.

Gov. Herbert H. Lehman approved the Wald bill establishing a mandatory minimum wage system with prison sentences for employers who fail to carry out the order of the Minimum Wage Board and the State Industrial Commissioner.

The new law declares that a fair wage "shall mean a wage fairly and reasonably commensurate with the values of the service or class of service rendered."

U. S. DEBT UP 3 BILLIONS

WASHINGTON, May 2.—(AP.)—The nation's public debt has increased $3,000,000,000 in the last year.

On April 30 it stood at $21,441,209,176, compared to $18,596,695,430 on the same date a year ago.

The debt increased $78,744,899 in April.

The government's deficit for nine months of the 1933 fiscal year totaled $1,585,625,498 at the end of April as compared with $2,334,105,142 for the similar period of the previous year.

The government's receipts from income taxes and customs duties continued to decline.

Pani Leaves Mexico To Confer with F. R.

MEXICO CITY, May 2.—(INS.)—Finance Minister Alberto J. Pani, who will represent Mexico in the Washington economic talks with President Roosevelt, left the capital on his mission today.

18 REDS FINED IN MAY DAY RAID

Eighteen persons, three of whom are women, were fined $10 each and sentenced to 10 days in jail for holding a May Day meeting yesterday at Center avenue and Soho streets without a permit.

The group, said by police to be Communists, were arraigned before Magistrate James O'Connor. They admitted holding the meeting.

The women arrested were Lena Davis, of 1 Davenport street; Mary Sudania, of Trent street, and Rebecca Monroe, Negro, of 6 Dyke street.

Immigration inspectors questioned the prisoners.

M. B. Donnelly Gets Civil Service Job

Michael B. Donnelly, Fifth Ward Democrat and former city assessor, today was appointed a member of the Civil Service Commission by Mayor John S. Herron.

He replaces J. Howard Devlin, who resigned to become manager of the State Workmen's Insurance Fund.

Family of 13 Delays White House Visit

WATERLOO, Neb., May 2.—(AP.)—The 13 Sumnicks have just about given up their intention to accept this year an invitation from President and Mrs. Roosevelt to visit the White House.

Gus Sumnick, owner of the farm which the Roosevelts visited on a campaign trip last September, today said there was not quite enough money in farming this year to take the baker's dozen to Washington. But next year, he said, expected increases in farm prices should make the trip possible. He said:

"Anyway, Mr. Roosevelt is too busy now to dabble around much in social affairs. He's got a lot of work on hand."

The Sumnicks, father and mother and 11 children, are just as strongly behind Roosevelt as they were last fall when they fried a chicken dinner for his party. Gus feels a particular kinship, because he has been advocating moderate currency inflation—an administration proposal—as the true solution of the farm problem.

New Congressmen Even Eat Apples on Floor

WASHINGTON, May 2.—(AP.)—The breaking of long established House rules by some of the 160 odd new members who are given to talking, laughing, smoking, eating and reading newspapers is irritating old-timers.

Representative Clarke (Rep.), New York, told Speaker Rainey:

"I suggest we all sing, so we can make more noise than this hum of conversation."

That was during debate yesterday on the farm relief-inflation bill.

Recently Representative Busby (Dem.), Mississippi, stopped his discussion of a bill on the floor, turned to a group of members and said he wanted to apologize for interrupting their conversation by his remarks. He reminded them, however, that he had the floor.

The wife of a former member of Congress said yesterday:

"They not only smoke on the floor now and read newspapers, but they are eating apples."

One member then was observed biting into a big red apple.

54 KNOWN DEAD AS GALES LASH FOUR STATES

Homes, Barns Leveled, Man Lifted to Hilltop

SHREVEPORT, La., May 2.—(AP.)—Fifty-four dead from the tornadoes in three southern and one mid-western states late yesterday had been counted today by rescue workers who estimated that more bodies may be found as the storm wreckage is cleared.

Earlier estimates had placed the dead at 89 and the injured at more than 1,000 from spasmodic tornadoes that lashed the Mississippi valley Sunday and Monday.

Minden, La., parish seat of Webster, which felt the full force of yesterday's storm, thus far has counted 35 dead and more than 200 injured, many seriously.

5 DIE IN ILLINOIS

Five were killed in a series of storms in Illinois.

The Red Cross and agencies of the state went to the relief of the stricken communities in the South.

The May Day storms struck first along the Arkansas-Missouri line. Farm houses were levelled, barns bowled over and trees whipped down. Torrential rains blew in horizontal sheets in sections and many roads were rendered virtually impassable.

The storm at Minden broke about 4 p. m. yesterday. Witnesses said it struck the city in a funnel-shaped cloud that roared like a freight train enveloping the community in darkness. Buildings shook and quivered and loose objects whirled through the streets with the speed of bullets. Houses were levelled and unroofed.

WINDS FAN FLAMES

The Negro quarters were laid flat and fire broke out. Winds damaged the business section and ripped up communication and power lines. Parts of the residential section were levelled. An automobile was blown through a store window near the courthouse.

Sam Life, a hardware merchant, reported the winds lifted him off his feet as he walked near Webster parish courthouse and dropped him on the next hill uninjured, after giving him a bird's-eye view of the destruction.

Two filling stations at Arcadia were blown into a railroad cut in the path of an Illinois Central train. Witnesses flagged it averting a possible wreck.

A company of National Guardsmen was mobilized at Minden to open the highways and prevent looting.

SOLDIERS JAIL 101 IN IOWA FARM RIOTS

Civil Courts Will Try Suspects Following Military Hearing

LE MARS, Ia., May 2.—(AP.)—With 101 farm disturbances suspects in custody and one accidentally wounded soldier in a hospital at Denison, National Guardsmen continued today to control two Western Iowa districts under martial law, as a result of recent rioting by farmers fighting mortgage foreclosures.

Fifty-seven persons were arrested in Plymouth and surrounding counties.

Thirty-one are in jail in Crawford County, one of whom was a woman.

Four were apprehended in a Sioux City residence by a special squad of soldiers for allegedly inciting sentiment against the rule of the military. Nine others also were held at Sioux City.

SUSPECT LIST MOUNTS

As the suspect list mounted, announcement was made of a military council which will assume jurisdiction in preliminary hearings for the prisoners and prepare evidence for trial in the civil courts. The council of four men will function in both districts.

Civil courts in Plymouth and Crawford counties have been closed by Gov. Clyde Herring, but trials of men arrested by the guardsmen will be heard by regular judges following the lifting of martial law.

The wounded soldier is Kenneth Irwin, 19, of Red Oak, who was shot in the ankle when his gun was accidentally discharged.

SOLDIERS ON JAIL DUTY

With military squads scouring the countryside for suspects, the majority of activity has been connected with administration of martial law. Part of the soldiers have been delegated to jail duty as the flow of prisoners continued throughout the day and night yesterday. Further arrests are expected.

While the investigation went on, members of the Farm Holiday Association were beginning to arrive in Des Moines for the national convention to start tomorrow. Leaders said they expected representatives from 20 states and Canada. The meeting will decide as to the advisability of sponsoring a nationwide farm strike.

EX-MODERATOR CITES AUTHOR'S 'HERESY'

Surprised That Church Board Tolerated Missionary

The Rev. Dr. Clarence Edward Macartney, commenting here today on the resignation of Mrs. Pearl S. Buck as a Presbyterian missionary, announced in New York yesterday, said it was "extraordinary" she had been retained so long.

Mrs. Buck, author of "The Good Earth," had stirred a church controversy by the expression of views termed heretical and inconsistent with Presbyterian doctrine.

The controversy was sharppened by charges of the Rev. Dr. J. Gresham Machen, president of the Westminster Theological Seminary at Philadelphia, that the missions board was committed to "old-fashioned Christianity" or fundamentalism, and could not sistently approve of Mrs. Buck's "modernism."

In New York today, Mrs. Buck said:

"I resigned to save the Board of Foreign Missions further embarrassment. I have never retracted any of my convictions as stated in written and published addresses. Insofar as I can tell now, I never will."

It was charged Mrs. Buck played lightly with fundamental doctrine when she referred in a Cosmopolitan Magazine article to the doctrine that "heathen" races are damned unless they accept the Gospel. Her comment was:

"I agree with the Chinese who feel their people should be protected against such superstition."

In a subsequent article in Cosmopolitan Magazine, Mrs. Buck wrote that Christ is "not often truly believed in even by those who profess to be His followers."

MACARTNEY'S VIEWS

Dr. Macartney, author, former moderator of the Presbyterian General Assembly, and pastor of the First Church here, said:

"It is extraordinary that members of the Board of Foreign Missions should have retained for so long a person holding such views."

Dr. Macartney commented in full:

"Mrs. Pearl Buck is a gifted writer, and I have read with interest her two popular books on Chinese life, 'The Good Earth' and 'Sons.' But in published articles she has shown her complete dissent, not only from the tenets of the Presbyterian Church, but from the doctrines of historic Christianity.

"In a magazine article of this month, Mrs. Buck writes: 'And what if He never lived? What of that? Whether He (Christ) had a time to be born in history, and a time to die, as other men have, is of no matter now. Perhaps it never was of any matter.'

CENSURES BOARD

"It is extraordinary that one holding such a view of the Lord Jesus Christ should wish to serve as a missionary of the Presbyterian Church, or of any other church. But still more extraordinary, that members of the Board of Foreign Missions should have retained for so long a time a person holding such views.

"Men have the liberty to believe what they will in this world. But when they find that the views they hold are in irreconcilable conflict with the beliefs of the church in which they serve, the only honest thing to do is to withdraw.

"From the very beginning, it was written concerning Christ and great Christian facts and truths, 'Some believed, but some doubted.' The church lives and conquers by the faith of those who believe."

SEES DISPUTE ENDED

TULSA, Okla., May 2.—(AP.)—The Rev. C. W. Kerr, moderator of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A., said today he believed the resignation of Pearl Buck as Presbyterian missionary to China "will end the whole controversy" over her views on theological subjects.

Mr. Kerr expressed doubt that the matter would be raised at the church's general assembly in Columbus, May 25.

Moderator Kerr, a former Slippery Rock resident, is a graduate of Western Theological Seminary.

17 DIE IN NEW CUBAN CLASH

SANTIAGO, Cuba, May 2.—(INS.)—Seventeen combatants were killed and many wounded in a new clash between rebels and federal troops at Jiguani, near San Luis, according to reports received here today from the battle front.

The fighting marked a resumption of hostilities between revolutionaries and forces of Presdent Gerardo Machado's government following a brief period of relative quiet after the excitement of Saturday's uprisings.

According to sketchy information available here, the rebels fled to the mountains after an hour's skirmish.

The rebel band was believed to have been led by Former Senator Perezandres, leader of a large group of rebels, who made his last previous appearance near the village of Jamaica.

MINISTER SUIT GOES TO JURY

OMAHA, Neb., May 2.—(AP.)—The $50,000 alienation of affections suit of Mrs. Iva Baltzly, divorced wife of Dr. O. D. Baltzly, former Omaha pastor, against Miss Gertrude Gruenig was in the hands of a jury today.

The trial began one week ago.

Dr. Baltzly, 61, was divorced from Mrs. Baltzly in 1931 at Hot Springs, Ark., and returned here 10 days ago as a witness in the defense of Miss Gruenig.

He testified his home life had been "extremely unhappy" and that Mrs. Baltzly had been "very jealous."

Mrs. Baltzly testified she had learned of three or four "affairs" of her ex-husband, and that he once referred to a girl in Mansfield, O., where he held a pastorate before coming here, as "almost irresistible."

Miss Gruenig was a member of Dr. Baltzly's congregation here. On the stand she denied any attempt to alienate the minister's love, as charged by Mrs. Baltzly.

Gale Hits Michigan, Buildings Damaged

DETROIT, May 2.—(INS.)—Wind and electric storms continued to rip across sections of lower Michigan today, damaging power lines and buildings and turning small streams into torrents.

The Rouge River was still more than 200 feet out of its banks, raging over farmlands and suburban parks west of Detroit. Crews worked all night with sandbags and gravel re-enforcing three Ford Motor Company power dams that were threatened by the waters.

Ex-Premier Bethlen Injured by Horse

INDICT EMPLOYE IN TAX THREAT

E. E. Wells, of Indiana, Pa., was indicted by the Federal Grand Jury today, charged with unlawfully demanding $3,500 from Vernon F. Taylor, oil and coal operator, of Indiana, by whom Wells formerly was employed.

Wells is alleged in the indictment to have threatened to inform the Internal Revenue Bureau that Taylor had evaded payment of income tax for the years 1917 to 1921. Taylor reported the alleged threat to the federal authorities. A checkup revealed no basis for Wells' charge against Taylor, the Internal Revenue Bureau reported.

Cromwell T. Paulson, former teller of the Old National Bank, New Brighton, was indicted on a charge of embezzling $1,541 of the bank's funds.

Von Stroheim 'Broke,' Wants Payments Cut

LOS ANGELES, May 2.—(Universal.)—Insisting that he is now without funds or employment, Erich Von Stroheim, famed film actor and director, is seeking to obtain reduction of the sum which he is under court order to pay for the support of his son, Erich, Jr., 17.

Ordered to pay $75 a week for the boy's care in 1923, when he was asserted to be earning $100,000 a year as a director, Von Stroheim is petitioning Superior Judge D. S. Valentine to reduce the sum to $15 a week.

HIT-RUN DEATH DRIVER FREED

His explanation that fear of bandits caused him to be a hit-run driver won a three-year parole for George Swindells, 24, Tarentum, when he pleaded guilty before Judge Samuel H. Gardner in Criminal Court to two charges of involuntary manslaughter.

He was indicted for the deaths of Mrs. Catherine Fisher, 46, of Acmetonia, and Mrs. Emma Reader, 43, of Cheswick, who were run down by his automobile at 4:30 a. m. March 8 on Little Deer Creek road, near Springdale.

PITT COED HURT ROLLER SKATING

Miss Jean Clizbe, 22, of the King Edward Annex, Melwood street, a junior at the University of Pittsburg's school of chemistry, today was confined to St. Francis Hospital with a broken left wrist suffered when she fell during "roller skating practice" in Melwood street late yesterday.

Miss Clizbe, whose home is in Clinton, Ia., was testing her speed on the skates for the university's sweepstakes this month when she fell. She was skating with two companions, Miss Ethel Seuhr and Miss Virginia Hutchinson, also entered in the sweepstakes.

RANKIN CENTER EXHIBIT OPENS

Exhibition week of the Rankin Christian Center began yesterday. Children's night was held with a musical and a children's dramatic presentation. The young people will offer a shadowgraph pageant, "The Feast of the Lanterns," tomorrow night.

Negro members will give performances Thursday, which will include the singing of spirituals. "The Garden of Abundant Life," a pageant, will be presented closing night, when out of town visitors and parents are especially invited. During evenings of the week hand-craft work of the center will be displayed.

Churches May Open Again in Vera Cruz

MEXICO CITY, May 2.—(AP.)—A move to reopen Catholic churches in the state of Vera Cruz was understood today to be under way.

It is understood that the legislature plans to amend the law to permit a priest to each 25,000 persons, instead of 100,000.

I SEE BY TODAY'S WANT ADS

That a well known make of an electric range in A-1 condition can be bought reasonable.

Thousands of Pittsburghers have profited by watching Sun-Telegraph Want Ads. No matter what you want, it will eventually be listed in the Want Ads.

PAUL MELLON AT WORK IN N. Y.

NEW YORK, May 2.—(Universal.)—Paul Mellon, son of Andrew W. Mellon, former Secretary of the Treasury and ambassador to England, reported for work yesterday at his new job with the Bankers Trust Company, 16 Wall street.

Dressed in a double-breasted suit of dark gray, he arrived promptly and took his desk in the statistical and investigation department.

Officials of the bank declared Mellon was being treated like any other employe. He declined to be interviewed.

Mellon was graduated from Yale in 1929 and took a degree in 1931 at Cambridge University where he was a member of Clare College.

Keaton to Make Films in England

HOLLYWOOD, May 2.—(INS.)—Buster Keaton, deadpan comedian of the films, is turning his back on Hollywood at least temporarily. Keaton today had obtained a passport to go to Europe where he will make motion picture comedies for a British concern.

His bride, who was May Scrivens, his nurse, will go to England later.

LINDYS MAY FLY TO S. AMERICA

LOS ANGELES, May 2.—(INS.)—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh may return to New York via the Panama Canal, and possibly South America, friends revealed today.

Col. Lindbergh expects to order pontoons installed on his Lockheed Altair monoplane, now being condition here. This was the plane they flew to China and Japan.

En route back to New York they may fly down the west coast of Mexico, across the isthmus and eastward to Florida.

BANKER JAILED IN FRAUD

C. J. Oswald, former secretary of the Knoxville Building and Loan Association and assistant treasurer of the St. Clair Savings and Trust Company, was sentenced to one year's imprisonment today. He pleaded guilty to two charges of embezzlement before Judge Samuel H. Gardner.

Oswald admitted taking $7,500 from the Knoxville Building and Loan Association and $1,800 from the St. Clair Savings and Trust Company, prior to last September. He told the court he had squandered the money. He lives at 712 Estella street, Knoxville.

Plane Crash Kills British Peer, Pilot

HENDON, England, May 2.—(AP.)—Pilot Officer Viscount Kenbworth, eldest son of the Earl of Lytton, and Aircraftsman Ralph Harrison, were killed last night in a practice flight for the Hendon air pageant.

The viscount was a member of Parliament. His father is best known as chairman of the League of Nations committee which investigated the Sino-Japanese dispute in Manchuria.

'Ma' Ferguson Signs Foreclosure Curb

AUSTIN, Tex., May 2.—(AP.)—Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson today had signed the mortgage foreclosure moratorium bill empowering Texas district courts to give two extensions of six months each on the payment of debts secured by real property.

Gen. Allaire, A. E. F. Officer, Dies at 76

SANTA MONICA, Cal., May 2.—(INS.)—Gen. William Herbert Allaire, 76, retired Army officer, who commanded the first American troops to enter Paris during the World War, died last night.

'Healer' Regains Calm At 'Devil Killing' Trial

LINDEN, Tex., May 2.—(AP.)—In decided contrast to his appearance when arrested, Paul Oakley came to court neatly dressed for the first day of his trial on a charge of slaying Bernice Clayton, 3-year-old cripple.

Attired in grey shirt, blue trousers, boots and with hair trimmed, the self-styled devine healer sat quietly while Elmer Lincoln, District Attorney, asked yesterday that the death penalty be assessed. Oakley made no remarks as the jury was selected. At his arraignment he was vociferous and unkempt.

The state seeks to prove the itinerant preacher was guilty of murder for the choking of the child last December 10 at the Clayton cabin in the pine clad hills west of Linden while strange rites were being performed with the intent of curing her ailment.

The slain child's father, Sherman Slayton, 30, and Coy Oakley, 25, brother of the defendant, are in jail awaiting trial on murder charges in connection with the child's death. Coy Oakley has described himself as a "disciple of Paul."

Gandhi Command Ends Exiled Jewess' Fast

By C. S. DE ANDRADE
International News Service.

POONA, India, May 2.—Proving his long detention in jail has failed to lessen his powers of persuasion, Mahatma M. K. Gandhi today succeeded in influencing an arden woman disciple to abandon her plan of joining him in his contemplated 21-day fast.

Dr. Margaret Spiegel, an exiled German Jewess, who took up a post on the verandah of the jail and announced she would fast as long as Gandhi, was admitted to his cell today and five minutes later changed her mind about the fast.

She emerged from the cell announcing herself as a "submissive adopted daughter" of the Mahatma. Gandhi said laughingly:

"She seems to be a fellow-lunatic, but she's now going to obey her adopted father."

Expert Sleuth to Hunt Stolen 'Old Masters'

NEW YORK, May 2.—(AP.)—A specialist in the recovery of stolen paintings was assigned today to trace 10 old masters stolen from the Brooklyn Museum.

Already he has to his credit the recovery of five valuable seventeenth century miniatures which were taken from the Metropolitan Musuem in Manhattan six years ago. Within a few days after discovery of that theft, this specialist, Detective Thomas Dugan, had recovered all five of the stolen paintings, two of them at one time and three a short time later.

Working with Dugan are 20 detectives and representatives of the Brooklyn District Attorney's office and the Department of Justice.

Police were inclined to believe today that the Brooklyn paintings, valued at $40,250, were taken by members of the same gang that stole the miniatures, and that their operations are international in scope.

Deputy Chief Inspector Vincent Sweeney said the police were confident they knew who two of the men are.

The thieves apparently concealed themselves in the museum Saturday, took the paintings from their frames after the museum was closed and escaped by sliding down a rope tossed out of a fourth story window.

HERRON ORDERS POLICE STUDY FIRST AID

Mayor John S. Herron today directed that all wagon crews, desk and cell sergeants be given instruction in the use of inhalators and rudiments of diagnosing serious illness of prisoners.

This step is the outcome of the death of Lawrence O'Malley, 21, of 16 McClain street, whom Patrolman Hiram McAbee is alleged to have struck on the head with his mace. McAbee was to post $2,500 bond at the Coroner's office today pending an inquest.

Chief Surgeon D. E. Sable, of the Safety Department, will give the instructions to the police. If a prisoner is ill he must be sent to a hospital at once, the Mayor ordered.

McAbee was suspended by Police Supt. Franklin T. McQuaide. McQuaide said that maces were issued to patrolmen for self protection and they were instructed to use them as a last resort.

According to statements by five witnesses, McAbee arrested O'Malley last Thursday, in front of 611 Warrington avenue, after striking him over the head with his mace. Several hours after O'Malley had been lodged in a cell on a charge of drunkenness, he was found unconscious and taken to South Side Hospital, where he died. A Coroner's autopsy disclosed a fractured skull as the cause.

Another prisoner, serving a 30-day sentence on a charge of drunkenness, died in the County Jail last night, the Coroner's office reported. The prisoner, Carl Yanusko, 46, of 317 Bell avenue, McKees Rocks, was committed by Justice of the Peace James Westwood, of McKees Rocks. A Coroner's autopsy revealed oedema of the brain and delirium tremens as the cause.

PINCHOT SCORES PENSION DEFEAT

has set a barrier against human progress that must last five years.

"There is no need to repeat the arguments in favor of old age pensions. But I must give voice to the deepest regret that a measure so sound, so just, and so necessary should have been beaten in the Senate of Pennsylvania."

ORGANIZATION DODGE

Perturbed at the storm aroused by last night's action, the organization today tried its old dodge of drawing a red herring across the trail. It took the form of a resolution creating a commission of seven, composed of four members of the House and three Senators, to study old age pensions, unemployment insurance and minimum wage legislation, a report to be made at the session of 1935.

Even if this report should be favorable, and should be adopted in 1935, the constitutional amendment necessary could not be voted on until 1938.

Last night's battle was a dramatic affair, during which the subcommittee, dominated by Republican State Chairman Edward Martin and former Senator Joseph R. Grundy, resisted any peaceful overtures, turning them aside with the derisive reply that it was not ready to report.

Senator Harry Shapiro, of Philadelphia; Frank J. Harris, of Allegheny, and Henry Snyder, of Lehigh, the latter a Democrat, led the fight to discharge the committee and bring the issue to the floor, where there was certainty that at least 37 senators would have voted to submit the question to the voters.

Senator John J. McClure, Republican leader from Delaware County and a ranking member of the regular organization, broke with Grundy and Martin and voted to report the bill.

DISCUSSION REFUSED

McClure first asked that the motion to discharge the committee be held in abeyance to give the committee a chance to meet and discuss the question again. Senator Lanning Harvey, of Luzerne, whose larger committee first had the bill, and who appointed the sub-committee, declined to call his group into session, taking refuge behind the apology that the hard-boiled trio was not ready to report.

Harris and Shapiro then demanded a vote. Senators who sought to duck a stand on the main question of old age pensions skulked behind the fetish of senatorial courtesy holding that it was almost sacrilege to discharge a committee. Coyne was one of those who took this position.

UPHOLD PRINCIPLES

Senators Armstrong, Einstein, Brandt, Harris and Mansfield, of Allegheny County, would not subordinate their principles to the fetish of courtesy, and voted to discharge the committee, which did not sit well with the organization leaders. Six of the seven Democrats joined them, as did six Philadelphians. Another was Senator Thompson, of Westmoreland County.

This phlanx could not surmount the obstacles put in the way of consideration by Buckman, Fay and Woodward, the former recognized as the Grundy spokesman in the Senate and the latter two men of wealth.

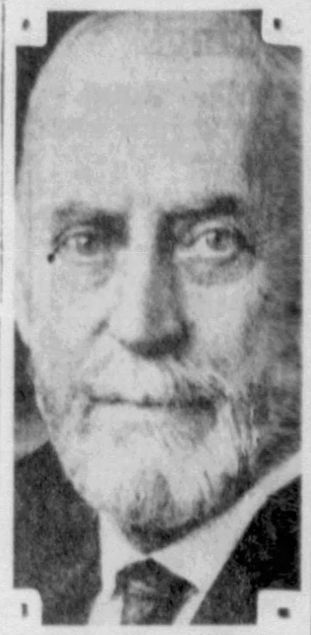
Harris, Shapiro and Snyder ridiculed the phantom of courtesy where a principle was involved, and Snyder made the direct statement that a vote against discharging the committee was a vote against old age pensions.

The motion to force the bills to the floor then went to a vote and was defeated, 27 to 20.

(Read Mark Shields' column, "Politics," on Page 1 of the second section, for comment on the old age pension bill action.)

Death Takes Pioneer Lumber Dealer Here

Joseph L. Lytle, 79, Dies at Home in Aspinwall



JOSEPH L. LYTLE

Joseph L. Lytle, the first wholesale lumber dealer in Allegheny County and for years prominent in the industry, died yesterday, at his home, 121 Second avenue, Aspinwall. Funeral services will be held in the Aspinwall Evangelical Lutheran Church at 8 p. m. tomorrow.

Mr. Lytle was born in Harmony, Butler County, March 12, 1854, and came to Aspinwall 40 years ago. He was the organizer of the Curll L. Lytle Lumber Company, which later became the J. L. Lytle Company. He was the third president and the oldest living member of the National Association of Lumber Dealers and a past president of the Pittsburgh Lumber Dealers' Association.

He was a charter member of the Aspinwall Evangelical Lutheran Church, a member of Lodge No. 448, F. & A. M., of Sharpsburg, and of the Fathers Auxiliary of American Legion Post No. 77, of Aspinwall.

He leaves four sons, Joseph L., Jr., of Cleveland; John K., of Tulsa; Blake G., of Rochester, N. Y., and Charles F. Lytle, at home, and a daughter, Mrs. Harry C. May, of Pittsburgh.

EX-MATE FIGHTS ACTRESS' SUIT

LOS ANGELES, May 2.—(AP.)—Denying charges of his former wife, Pauline Starke, film actress, that she was coerced into signing a property settlement, Jack White, movie executive, filed an answer yesterday to her suit to set aside the settlement, made at the time of their divorce in June, 1931.

White particularly denied Miss Starke's charges she was influenced by Charles F. Allison, discharged receiver of the former American Mortgage Company properties, now serving a term at McNeil Island Penitentiary.

White denied Allison made the statements attributed to him by the actress relative to Allison's "control" of former Superior Court Judges Walter Guerin, John L. Fleming and Dailey S. Stafford, who have since been defeated for re-election.

Sackett Back, Mum On German Affairs

NEW YORK, May 2.—(AP.)—Frederick M. Sackett, retiring Ambassador to Germany, returned aboard the Bremen yesterday. He declined to discuss conditions in Germany, emphasizing he had been absent from Berlin for almost six weeks.

The Bremen entered port under the Nazi flag, first German vessel to fly the swastika in New York Harbor.

Nazis Seize Fortune Of German Banker

MUNICH, Bavaria, May 2.—(AP.)—Nazis today seized the bank account of Paul Loebe, former president of the Reichsbank, amounting to 3,000,000 marks ($750,000) and presumably consisting of funds of the Socialist party.

HITLER STORMS LABOR UNIONS

paratus, including hundreds of newspapers, already have been outlawed.

The Metal Workers' Union in Berlin has a membership of 827,000 and is claimed to constitute the largest single union in the world.

All minor officials and employes of the unions, it was said, will be admonished to continue work in accordance with the needs of the national revolution in order that social democracy might definitely be crushed.

SECRECY MAINTAINED

For days there had been rumors in Berlin of a major event scheduled for the morning after May Day, but Nazi leaders were so effectively sworn to secrecy that nothing leaked out.

Nazi Commissar Hans Engel, addressing the metal workers' union employes, stated that the unions hereafter must refrain from issuing pamphlets "banefully critical" of the present regime.

He said the unions' tasks in the future consisted of seeing that workers get just wages and that old people are provided for properly. Even school children hereafter will be inoculated with the idea that manual labor is honorable.

German's athletic life also entered the solid national phalanx of Chancellor Hitler's government with a vengeance today.

Hans Vontschammer-Osten, Nazi Reich commissar of athletics, issued a proclamation through the turnvereins' sporting associations, stating Germany's "entire physical education is relieved of the pressure of the cowardly, slavish, internationally kow-towing state policy."

AUSTRIAN CLASH FATAL

VIENNA, May 2.—(AP.)—Communists and Hitlerites, fighting with guns, stones and beer glasses in a violent May Day outburst, left one man dead and four persons, including a child, injured today in the town of Altheim.

Nine other casualties were reported in Austria for the day.

$350,000 FIRE RAZES CHURCH

ROCHESTER, N. Y., May 2.—(AP.)—More than three-quarters of the city's fire apparatus and 100 firemen battled for two hours today to control a fire in the downtown First Methodist Church.

The fire destroyed the 33-year-old edifice with a loss estimated at $350,000.

A dozen firemen were hurt, six of them seriously enough to require hospital treatment, and a score of others were overcome less seriously by smoke.

Consistory Approves New Catholic Saint

VATICAN CITY, May 2.—(AP.)—Twenty-three cardinals meeting with the Pope in a semi-public consistory, together with 53 patriarchs and bishops, today approved canonization of Blessed Andre Fournet, French founder of the Congregation of Daughters of the Cross.

The canonization will take place June 4 in St. Peter's. The new delegate representing the United States, Archbishop Cicognati, was present as secretary of the congregation of rites.

Gov. Murray Vetoes Tax Time Extension

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., May 2.—(AP.)—Vetoing a legislative resolution to extend until September the time for paying taxes, Gov. W. H. Murray said yesterday "You can't operate a government unless taxes are paid."

Saturday was the last day for payment under the present law.

WETS SWEEP RHODE ISLAND FOR REPEAL

PROVIDENCE, R. I., May 2.—(AP.)—Rhode Island, third state to vote on repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, today stood firmly in the anti-prohibition column.

Wisconsin and Michigan already have voted in favor of repeal.

Only one Rhode Island community, the town of Hopkinton, voted to retain the amendment as the electorate—150,244 to 20,874—named 31 repeal-pledged delegates to the state convention May 8. Hopkinton voted 310 to 293 against repeal.

Rhode Island, which never ratified the Eighteenth Amendment and was commonly known as "wettest of the states," had state prohibition for three years. Repeal was voted in 1889.

REPEAL VOTES PILE UP

Repeal votes piled up rapidly as yesterday's election progressed, with the heaviest polling coming during the evening hours just before closing time. All of the state's six cities showed large repeal majorities, with the prohibition group drawing its slight strength from the rural communities.

Providence cast 60,662 repeal votes to 6,758 retention ballots.

Rhode Island's other five cities showed repeal majorities as high as 9 to 1.

DISAPPOINTING TO DRYS

An unusually active campaign had been carried on by the prohibition leaders, who attacked the recently enacted beer and liquor control law which permits saloons for the sale of beer.

The prohibition vote had been forecast as unusually heavy because of the saloon issue and on election eve the repeal supporters were a bit reticent to predict too great a victory.

DENVER, May 2.—(AP.)—By a vote of 20 to 15 the State Senate adopted on final reading a resolution for a special election on ratification of repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment. The resolution provides for a special election June 20 to name delegates to a constitutional convention to be held August 7 to consider the question of repeal. The measure now goes to the House.

AUSTIN, Tex., May 2.—(AP.)—A resolution proposing to submit repeal of the prohibition section of the State Constitution failed to receive the required 100 votes in the Texas House of Representatives today. The vote was 85 ayes to 49 noes.

Sprinter Burned As Fall Sets Off Match

ADRIAN, Minn., May 2.—Robert Mitchell, local high school track sprinter, isn't going to worry much from now on whether his hair is combed when he's running—at least he's not going to carry any combs with him.

While out for a sprint he fell. In his back pocket were two combs and a match. The impact fired the match. The combs caught fire. The side of his leg was burned seriously.

U. S. TO ACCEPT FRENCH PLAN

By JOSEPH K. SMITH
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—The United States is prepared to acquiesce to the French demand for a safeguarding clause in the proposed international tariff truce, International News Service learned today on high authority.

This clause would permit France to increase its tariff duties in the event the dollar or pound took a sudden drop during the duration of the truce.

Although latest dispatches from Paris declare the French government desires stabilization of British and American currency as the price for French adherence to a tariff truce, officials believe France will be willing to accept with the safeguarding clause.

This clause was suggested by former Premier Herriot during his visit here and he expressed his personal belief France would be satisfied with it.

17 PUPILS HURT IN BUS CRASH

NEW YORK, May 2.—(AP.)—Former Gov. Alfred E. Smith was made an honorary member of the Society of the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick last night. Less than a dozen men have been similarly honored, among them George Washington, Cardinal Hayes, the late Sir Thomas Lipton and the late President Theodore Roosevelt.

James J. Hoey, who served with Mr. Smith in the Legislature, offered the resolution which made him an honorary member.

HIT-RUN VICTIM HERE LOSES $1,300 'ROLL'

A hit-and-run automobile victim's reported loss of $1,300 was being investigated today by city detectives.

Disappearance of the money was reported by John Glomok, a carpet weaver of Walnut street, East End, after he was discharged from Passavant Hospital. The detectives learned he had withdrawn $5,000 from a bank, a circumstance which gave added weight to his story.

Glomok was knocked unconscious by an automobile at Kirkpatrick street and Bigelow boulevard last Tuesday. Police were summoned and removed him in a patrol wagon to the hospital.

After being treated for head injuries and a fractured shoulder, Glomok was discharged from the hospital Saturday. Hospital attaches gave him $3, which they said was all the money he had when he was brought there.

Glomok reported the disappearance of the money to Center avenue police and William Springer, 216 Shady avenue, was arrested on a suspicious person charge. Springer said he had driven Glomok from the East End to the downtown district on the day he was injured, but said he left him there and knew nothing about the money.

Springer was held under $2,500 bail for further investigation.

Clyde Fleming, of 266 Watsonia boulevard, a witness to the automobile accident, said he did not obtain the license number of the automobile. Police said Glomok had been drinking.

An attempt to rob the J. H. Kim Company, food preservers, of 1455 Spring Garden avenue, failed last night after burglars had knocked the combination off a safe. Police said the burglars apparently were frightened away.

JUVENILE ABUSE FACES ACTION BY LENCHER

Any cases of brutality toward juvenile wards and cases of attack on the children while in foster homes, will be prosecuted by Judge Benjamin Lencher, recently placed in charge of Juvenile Court work.

Judge Lencher announced he would demand the District Attorney take action when any case of attack or mistreatment is shown, and that he (Judge Lencher) would personally follow through the prosecution.

Judge Lencher has not yet received a copy of the report as submitted to the County Commissioners by the investigators. He said he would discuss the report with other County Court Judges as soon as copies have been received and reviewed.

SEPARATE COURT URGED

The new Juvenile Court Judge said he believes that court should be a distinct branch of the local courts. He said he believed a separate Juvenile Court would be a big step in correcting ills of the present system.

Commenting on the present home-finding system of placing children in foster homes, Judge Lencher said:

"It is not fair to abandon the home-finding system in favor of a central home until we can prove that the present system does not work. However, there can be no justification for a home-finding system unless we can have constant supervision of the county's wards. We do not have the proper supervision at present."

CENTRAL HOME UNDESIRED

Judge Lencher would be in favor of a Juvenile Court home only as a last resort. He said:

"I do not look favorably on a central home for wards. Wherever it is possible—even in the face of poverty—keep the child in his own home, unless the condition of the home is clearly immoral or spells plain unsocial habits.

"A little poverty and sacrifice in the child's own home is more to be tolerated than attacks in foster homes without poverty. It would be better for the county to give money to support a child in his own home, providing conditions were all right, than to pay cash to a foster parent who will mistreat and neglect the ward."

Film Gangster Gets First Train Out

CHICAGO, May 2.—(AP.)—During the confusion following the bombing of the Illinois Bell Telephone Company yesterday, George Raft, movie "gangster," was seen inspecting the damage. Asked his opinion, he replied:

"I've got to catch a train—and it'll be the first one leaving."

ONE OF CHICAGO'S FIVE 'MAY' BOMBINGS

THE BOMB WRECKAGE AT THE ENTRANCE TO SPRAGUE-WARNER WHOLESALE GROCERY

One of the five places bombed in Chicago's "May Day," apparently a racketeering truckers' war and not the work of Communists. This is an International News Photograph Service picture.

CHICAGO BOMB WAR JAILS 3

CHICAGO, May 2.—(INS.—Three suspected bombers were held in custody of police today as the May grand jury convened to open a probe of Chicago's six bombings, believed to be the latest act of terrorism by hoodlum racketeers seeking to strengthen their hold on trade unionism.

The three men held are John (West Side Jack) Barry, one-time associate of the late "Big Time" Murphy; Bruno Geidras, 26, and John Wesulis, a companion of Geidras.

Also under suspicion were Fred Sass, business agent of the Sanitary Cinder and Sprinkler Teamsters' Union, and Morris Goldberg, brother-in-iew of William (Klondike) O'Donnell, a clerk in the Van Teamsters' Union.

Police were convinced of the new war among the labor element when explosion of a time bomb at the spacious Lake Forest home of W. A. Metzger, Lake County business agent for the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, rocked the quiet suburb as 25 leaders of the union, headed by Metzger, were meeting at his residence.

One of the dead men was Leo Stasco, Shenandoah. The other was too badly burned for immediate identification. John Mueller, Shenandoah, was critically burned.

SICK BOY'S FATE BEFORE COURT TOMORROW

Charges that she is trying to imitate the parents of 2-year-old Helen Vasco, of Hastings, N. Y., who said their child was "better dead than blind," were denied today by Mrs. Mary Lesic, Millvale mother.

Mrs. Lesic, of 248 Arlington street, refuses to return her 3-year-old son, Billy, to the Children's Hospital for treatment for tuberculosis of the spine.

Several Pittsburgh mothers have written her, accusing her of trying to imitate Mrs. Anna Vasco, of New York. Mrs. Lesic's reply is:

"I don't know anything about this mother in New York and don't care. All I know is what I am going to do with my boy. I'm not going to let him go back to the hospital. I'm going to take care of him at home."

With these words, the physicians say, she has condemned Billy to become a hunchback. They also point out that the disease is already destroying the boy's spine and may result in his death.

COURT TO DECIDE

Tomorrow the Juvenile Court will decide the case. In one part of the courtroom will be Humane Society officials, who are prosecuting the case. In another will be the Lesics and their son, Billy.

For three weeks now Mrs. Lesic has resisted the pressure of law, medicine, religion and charity that seek to supersede her parental rights. Explaining the action she would take in court, she said:

"I'm going to read to the Judge the many letters that I got from people all over the country. They tell me that I should keep my boy at home. I'm going to show that Judge some people who think like I do."

Meanwhile, brown-eyed Billy plays outside his Millvale home with neighboring children, not knowing of the court battle that will be waged over him tomorrow in court.

Girl, 16, Sneezes Steadily for Four Days

HOLLYWOOD, May 2.—(Universal.)—For four days, Rhea Nathanson, 16, has been sneezing incessantly, on the average of one sneeze a minute.

With the patient, who is at Hollywood Hospital, showing no signs of recovery from the unusual malady, physicians sought the cause of the prolonged sneezing fit.

Dr. E. B. Woolfan said:

"We are using a process of elimination to determine whether some hitherto unknown germ is the cause of the malady. Blood cultures are being taken and other laboratory work is being done."

BLINDNESS FEAR BRINGS SUICIDE

DENVER, May 2.—(AP.)—A belief that Mrs. William E. Fisher ended her life because of ungrounded fears she was losing her eyesight, was expressed by authorities soon after the 50-year-old Denver society woman's body had been recovered yesterday from a park lake.

Mrs. Fisher, wife of a Denver architect, disappeared from her fashionable country club place home Saturday night while her husband and son, Allan, played bridge with friends. She was attired only in light garments.

Firemen and police dragged Washington Park Lake after a pedestrian found on the shore a coat similar to the one Mrs. Fisher threw about her shoulders when she left her home.

M'LEAN ADMITS DIAMOND JINX

MONTREAL, Quebec, May 2.—Edward B. McLean, turfman and former proprietor of the Washington Post, whose former wife recently offered as security for a $250,000 loan the famous Hope diamond, said last night:

"I must admit I have not had good luck since I bought the stone. I have never been one to believe in luck, good or bad, but now as I get older I am beginning to wonder if, after all, there may not be something to this Hope diamond jinx."

McLean presented the stone to Evalyn Walsh McLean when he married her in 1912.

BANKER HOOTED ON WAY TO JAIL

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., May 2.—(Universal.)—Judicially branded "a common and notorious thief," hooted and heckled as he walked from court to the county jail, Edwin T. McKnight, 69, convicted banker and former state senator, yesterday started the first of two terms aggregating seven years.

McKnight was president of the closed Medford Trust Company and was found guilty on several counts of grand larceny and bribery of public officials.

As the banker walked from the courthouse, face shielded by topcoat, one woman shouted:

"There's the man who got my $10,000.

Just a Year Ago, We Opened Our

Horne-Parry Studio

Its success was instantaneous. Within less than six months, we were obliged to increase our staff and install additional camera rooms—one exclusively for children—to maintain "sittings without appointment."

The Horne-Parry Studio presents a happy combination of artistic experience and department store prices. Its accessibility has supplied the impulse and opportunity for thousands to have pictures made. The happy results, in turn, have brought new patrons, and so the department has grown. The operators are specialists in their work, including a Hollywood camera man, a children's artist, and an expert in home portraiture.

Specials for May

In commemoration of this first anniversary, we are offering two Specials for May.

Three Horne-Parry Portraits for $7.50, Including One Tinted Picture

A Miniature in Color, Attractively Framed, for $5

Either or both of these Specials provide happy suggestions for Mother's Day pictures. Early sittings are suggested.

Our Buyer's Always Saying "Let's Have a Rug Riot"—Tomorrow We'll Have It!

Gimbels SPOTLIGHT NO. 11

We've heard our rug buyer brag about his ability to produce "rug riots"—and thought it an amusing exaggeration. Then one day we walked into his department—straight into the scene you see here. A rug riot before our very eyes! One salesman calling off and customers shouting "That one's mine", "I'll take that one", "I want that". So when the buyer showed us these rugs the other day and said they'd cause a "rug riot", we believed him. They're far and away better than anything we've seen yet. We'll have a rug riot tomorrow.

We like to compare items in the Anniversary Sale with those of 1914—the year the store opened. But frankly, such rugs as these American Orientals, AT ANY PRICE, were beyond our wildest dreams.

$45 AMERICAN ORIENTALS

The receiver of the Pennsylvania Carpet Co. (a Philadelphia concern of more than 50 years' experience in the weaving of fine rugs) gave us the opportunity to buy 100 of their "Reconda"* weave at practically half price. The patterns are beautiful Persian and Chinese designs in the deep reds, shimmering blues and greens and lovely rust that we associate with real Orientals. Stoutly woven of heavy wools to survive years and years of service. 8.3x10.6 and 9x12 ft. And think of it—$5 delivers this rug.

29.75

SEAMLESS WORSTED WILTONS

Have you looked for a new rug recently? If you have, you've seen this very same quality and probably thought it marvelous at 59.50. A real Worsted Wilton (and we don't have to tell you how worsted weaves wear!) Seamless! A product of the famous W. & J. Sloane mills! Fascinating Oriental colorings in fine Persian and Chinese designs. 9x12 ft. It's provocative of a "rug riot" if we hadn't another thing to advertise. $5 down delivers.

$100 AMERICAN ORIENTALS

"You fellows do a whale of a rug business," a fine rug-maker complimented us. "Why not give me a little of it?" "O. K.," we agreed. "Providing you give us something sensational for our May Anniversary." He did. Kiran weave, fresh from the looms, a complete present-day line, not discontinued patterns. Faithful copies of Sarouks, Ispahans and Kashans. Chemically washed like hand-made Orientals. Weighing 65 lbs. (ordinary rugs at this price weigh only 40 lbs.). 9x12-ft. size. $6 down delivers.

58.75

We don't know who names the American Orientals, but ten to one it's the same lady who picks out the names for Pullman cars.

COAL MEN HERE FAVOR AGENCY SALES PLAN

Pittsburgh and Western Pennsylvania coal operators today abandoned their policy of "rugged individualism" and unanimously voted for a non-partisan committee of three engineers to formulate plans for a regional sales agency, along the general lines of the Appalacrian Coals, Inc., co-operative sales organization of southern operators.

Many high volatile coal producers here indorsed the sales agency proposal as the Pittsburgh Coal Company, through its president, J. D. A. Morrow, approved the plan at a meeting of 230 producers in William Penn Hotel. Morrow said:

"We would rather make money collectively with the rest of the industry than lose it individually. We'll do anything within reason to work out a plan."

TO DEVELOP PLAN

Details of the sales plan will be developed by three independent engineers—Samuel Taylor, chairman; Dan Hoffacker and John Rayburn. They will report their findings at a general meeting to be announced later.

The legality of such associations recently was upheld by the United States Supreme Court and selling organizations have been created in southern fields, in West Virginia, Eastern Ohio and Alabama, speakers pointed out.

Producers of this district have lost the sale of 50,000,000 tons between 1920 and 1930, producers estimate, and it is to regain this business the selling agency project is proposed.

ORIGINATOR SPEAKS

Edward Greever, counsel for the Southern coal operators, and regarded as the father of the central sales agency plan, told his audience, which included representatives of all the large companies of Western Pennsylvania:

"The plight of the coal industry may be attributed to patriotism of operators during the World War period. Out of the unprecedented demand in the war came the response for increased production.

"You developed mines further, thereby planting the seeds which have since sprouted into the overshadowing tree of depression. Production was increasing, but consumption was beginning to decrease. The coal industry deflated before anything else. It was completely deflated by 1926, and since then you have been going into the cellar."

SECRETARY SPEAKS

C. B. Huntress, executive secretary of the National Coal Association, said the proposed selling plan was "a weapon we can now use toward profitmindedness." He said:

"President Roosevelt has said he would make no recommendation for legislation affecting the bituminous coal fields at this special session so that it is unlikely that any governmental regulatory bill will be passed within the next four weeks. Washington will look more kindly on an industry that helps itself."

PRICE UP, GOLF PERMITS DROP

Only 30 golf permits have been taken out this year for the county parks, where the links will open Saturday.

The county started to issue the permits a week ago. Last year in the first week, 260 permits were issued. Golf fans explain the decrease by the fact that the permits cost $20 this year, just twice what they cost last.

Efforts of the players to reduce the price have so far been a failure. Last night a committee met with Park Director A. M. Marion to discuss economies in operating the links and suggested that he cut his budget to a total of about $36,000 for golf operations.

Marion refused to accept the tentative budget. He declared that $36,000 would not be enough to keep the two courses in shape.

Four Die, Two Hurt As Fire Razes Home

ROCKWOOD, Me., May 2.—(AP.)—A woman, her daughter-in-law and two of the latter's children were burned to death today when fire destroyed a small frame dwelling on Moose River. The dead are Mrs. Evelyn Burke, Mrs. Fred Burke, Stephen, 5, and another child.

A third child was severely injured when tossed from a window and Joe Burke, a brother of Fred, was badly burned.

REDUCE NOW WITHOUT THYROID WITHOUT SALTS WITHOUT DIET

Science finds absolutely safe way to lose ugly fat.

Here's wonderful news for women who want to make their figures slim and lovely. A great physician, who has specialized in research with the Pasteur Institute of Paris and famous clinics of America, has discovered an absolutely harmless tablet that will take off 8 or 10 pounds a month.

Now it is absurd for anyone to take dangerous drugs, or a daily dose of laxative salts that rushes food through the system half digested, and leads to chronic constipation. The new treatment contains no Thyroid Extract, no laxative drugs at all. It is a safe, natural regulator of the digestive ferments (Lipases) which control the production of fat in all human bodies.

You don't have to starve yourself or go through painful exercises. You simply take the tablets each day and continue to eat three ample meals. The fat disappears at just the places where you want to lose it. We will donate $5000 to charity if anyone can prove that Vannay contains Thyroid, Iodine or any harmful drugs.

Start the treatment at once and all your fondest dreams of health and slim loveliness should come true. Ask your druggist for Vannay and be sure to see that name on the package. If he doesn't have Vannay, insist that he orders it for you.

Ex-State Employe, Idle, Shoots Self

GREENVILLE, Pa., Nov. 2.—(AP.)—Firing a bullet into his chest and another through his temple, John Leslie Bartz, 24, former State Highway Department surveyor, killed himself in his room.

Neighbors said he had been ill and despondent after six months unemployment.

JUNIOR PATROL GOES ON AIR TOMORROW

A bugle call duet by Marion Giesey, 13, of 117 Biddle avenue, Wilkinsburg, and Hugh Craig, 15, of 432 Robinson street, Pitcairn, will open the Junior Patrol radio program tomorrow at 4:45 p. m. over Station WCAE.

Quin Hall, who originated "The Junior Patrol" cartoon, which appears daily in the Sun-Telegraph, will be at the WCAE mike with his two comic strip characters, "Snuggins" and "Junior."

James Fitzgerald, 6, of 5614 Donson way, will take the part of "Snuggins," and Edlis D'Emilie, 13, of 3818 Pier street, will play the part of "Junior" on the broadcast. The program will be a regular weekly feature and will last for a half hour.

The Brideson Studio Orchestra will furnish the music for the program.

RANCH PLOWED FOR TREASURE

PIERRE, S. D., May 2.—(AP.)—Another "gold" rush is on in South Dakota.

Ever since federal authorities reported finding $9,360 in currency on the Verne Sankey ranch, near Chamberlain, hideout of the gang which received $60,000 ransom for the return of kidnaped Charles Boettcher, wealthy Denver broker, there has been a rush of money-seekers to the locality. Armed with picks and shovels, men and women are reported digging in search of more of the ransom money.

Gov. Tom Berry said he had been told that the "gold" seekers had dug up enough land so it could be "profitably planted with wheat."

Elliott Roosevelt Campaigns Like Old-Timer

TUCSON, Ariz., May 2.—(INS.)—Elliott Roosevelt, son of the President, is making his debut in politics.

He is accompanying Mrs. Isabella Greenway, a friend of the Roosevelt family for 30 years, on the trips that she is making in her campaign for a seat in the House of Representatives. She hopes to succeed Lewis W. Douglas, who resigned as Arizona's lone Congressman to become director of the budget.

Young Roosevelt is attracting large crowds shaking hands in the manner of a veteran, and smiling like his father. He has postponed until after the election, to be held in June, his plans to enter business.

'LIGHT' BANDITS GIVEN TERMS

The so-called "stop-light bandits" today began serving 10 to 20 years in Western Penitentiary. Sentence was imposed by Judge Samuel H. Gardner.

Frank Sparano, 28, of 240 Paulson avenue, and Roy Mauder, 24, of 308 Mayflower street, entered pleas of guilty several weeks ago, admitting robbing the occupants of several automobiles stopped at crossing lights in East End.

Sentence was deferred while police further checked their activities. Finally a total of 37 robberies and 10 cases of larceny was charged to them, to all of which they pleaded guilty.

CLOSED BANK PAYS DIVIDEND

WASHINGTON, Pa., May 2.—(AP.)—C. M. Kennedy, receiver for the closed Washington Trust Company, today mailed checks totaling $440,000 to 19,300 depositors of the institution.

They represent the third dividend of 10 per cent since the bank closed in the fall of 1931.

Fayette Farmer Ends Life By Gun

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., May 2.—John N. Coleman, 45, Redstone Township truck farmer, shot himself to death by propping a 12-gauge shotgun against his stomach and discharging it with a stick.

Wellesley Girl Wins Hoop Race, Fated to Wed

WELLESLEY, Mass., May 2.—(AP.)—This is not strictly an engagement announcement, but Doris Gundlach, of Belleville, Ill., will be the first member of the Wellesley College graduating class to wed, if there is anything to a time-honored Wellesley tradition.

Doris, with her gown sewed up to her knees to prevent tripping and her mortar board cap tied on with a bit of ribbon, yesterday won the annual senior class hoop race.

According to tradition, she is fated to be the first of the class to win a much smaller hoop for the second finger of her left hand.

CLEAR SUITOR OF SLAIN MAID

NORTH ADAMS, Mass., May 2.—(AP.)—Police today admitted their investigation of the slaying of Leah L. Johnson, 18-year-old domestic, had reached an impasse.

A former suitor of the girl, whose garroted and stabbed body was found in a clump of thorn apple bushes Saturday, satisfied officers that he had no connection with the affair.

For want of further clues the investigators again turned their attention toward the stockily built unidentified man with whom Miss Johnson was last reported seen. She was seen walking with this man a short distance from where the body was found.

PACT IN ESTATE OF REYNOLDS UPHELD

CONCORD, N. C., May 2.—(AP.)—Arrangements for the settlement of the $20,000,000 estate of the late Smith Reynolds by giving each of his two children approximately $2,000,000 and using the remainder for a charitable foundation today bore the approval of Judge Wilson Warlick, of the North Carolina Superior Court.

Judge Warlick late yesterday dismissed the petition of the Cabarrus Bank and Trust Company, which, as co-guardian of Anne Cannon Reynolds II, daughter of the tobacco heir by his first wife, asked permission to institute court action seeking for the child at least half of the estate. The bank conceded that the other half should go to the infant son of Libby Holman Reynolds, second wife of the tobacco heir.

APPEAL PLANNED

Attorneys for the bank announced an appeal would be taken to the North Carolina Supreme Court. This appeal, it was said, probably cannot be heard before next fall's term of the court.

The effect of Judge Warlick's decision was to approve also the agreement whereby Libby Holman Reynolds, former Broadway torch singer, is to receive more than $500,000 of her late husband's estate.

This settlement on the erstwhile actress, her attorneys, Benet Polikoff and William Graves, explained, will insure parity in the division of the estate between the two children of the 19-year-old tobacco heir, who was found shot to death in his Winston-Salem (N. C.) home last July 6.

TRUSTS ESTABLISHED

By a pre-divorce agreement, which Judge Warlick specifically upheld, Mrs. Anne Cannon Reynolds, the first wife, received the income from a $500,000 trust fund and a like trust was established for her baby Anne, now two and a half years old. It was provided that the child should inherit the mother's portion, in the event it survives her.

By the recent agreement, the son of Libby Holman will receive $2,000,000 and the mother "in excess of $500,000." The daughter of Anne Cannon (now Mrs. Frank Brandon Smith, of Charlotte) will receive $1,500,000 to supplement the original trust of $500,000.

Brother Identifies Body Found in River

The body of a man recovered yesterday from the Ohio River under the Sewickley Bridge was identified at the county morgue last night as that of John Finn, 64, of 7308 Hamilton avenue, a former downtown department store floorwalker. The identification was made by Richard Finn, a brother, who told morgue attaches his brother disappeared January 16.

ELOPING TRUSTIES NABBED IN EAST

HARTFORD, Conn., May 2.—(AP.)—Two prison trusties, a man and a woman, who escaped from State Prison at Jackson, Mich., last Saturday night in an automobile stolen from the warden's garage, were arrested here early today.

The woman posed as the warden's daughter, and the man as the warden's chauffeur. They told Hartford police they were "on a tour through the east."

Under questioning, however, police said the woman told them the two had escaped from the warden's home in which they were employed as trusties. She said she was Mrs. Cora Cannell, 36, and had been convicted with her husband in 1932 on charges of forgery.

She identified her companion as Stanley Mierzank, 37, a caretaker at the warden's home. He had been convicted for robbing a bank, she told police, and had been transferred to the warden's house after serving seven years of a long sentence.

They were arraigned in police court and held in $15,000 bonds as fugitives from justice. The case was continued to May 12. Police said the couple would offer no obstacles to their return to Michigan.

Motorcyclist Hurt In Collision, Dies

Auto Fall Wins Women Freedom

Magistrate T. D. Jones in Morals Court today held that injuries suffered by two women in tumbling out an automobile was sufficient punishment for them. The two, Mrs. Stella Redman, 23, of 403 McKee place, and Hazel Small, 20, of 250 York way, were discharged along with the former's husband, Howard Redman, 32.

They had been arrested in Brown's road April 27, charged with disorderly conduct, after they testified they had attended a beer party.

JAPANESE DENY RED CLASH

TOKIO, May 2.—(AP.)—The War Office stated today that Chinese sources were "sadly mistaken" in their efforts to explain the Japanese retirement from the North China coastal area on the grounds that trouble threatened between Japan and Russia on the Manchurian border.

The Japanese army is maintaining a full force along the Great Wall of China, it was stated.

The Japanese are prepared "to draw a punitive sword as often as necessary" to keep the triangular area between the Great Wall and the Lwan river, extending 60 miles along the coast and 100 miles inland, clear. It was stated that if reports that Chinese troops were recrossing the Lwan river are correct, the Japanese will again attack.

The war office was amused by reports that Japanese forces had bombed the Chinese Eastern Railway at Pogranichnaya on the Manchurian-Soviet border. A spokesman said:

"Japanese and Manchukuan troops hold Pogranichnaya: why should we bomb it?"

Chinese Kidnapers Seize 10 Each Day

MUKDEN, May 2.—(AP.)—Kidnapings at the rate of 10 a day—1,200 in four months—have been reported in South Manchuria to Japanese police since January 1. The figures were announced today.

Several victims of the Manchurian banditti, including Dr. Niels Nielsen, American missionary, are still held captive.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Appropriate Gifts

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am 16 years of age, a high school student, and for the past year and a half I have been going about with a boy who is now a college freshman, 18 years old. He has given me charming and suitable gifts, both for my birthday and for Christmas. His birthday is near, and I would like to send him a little remembrance. (I like him a great deal.) Will you please advise me as to what would be appropriate in such a case?

M.

Since you are in high school and the Adorable He is in college, it would show your discrimination, social and literary, if you choose for him an excellent book. Men of all ages especially enjoy biographies and travel books . . . like "British Agent," for instance, for everyone is interested in what has happened or is happening in Russia, especially when this information is given "first hand." Or choose a book on some other country in which he is especially interested, or on some hobby or special enthusiasm of his.

Or, if you don't like the book suggestion, how about one especially handsome evening handkerchief, white, sheer linen, beautifully monogrammed with his initials? Or a good-looking pocket pencil, or a box of letter paper, white, plain, generous in size?

Accepting Gifts

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1—My eighteenth birthday will soon be here and as it is the custom to receive gifts, I would appreciate it very much if you will send me the correct form to use when thanking people for their gifts.

2—Also please tell me the correct form to use when introducing my young man friend to my other friends? A. A.

1—As you receive each gift, open it, thank the giver and make some appreciative comment about the gifts. Something like this, for instance, "Thank you so much, Mary, for your lovely thought." Then, as you open the gift, add, "What beautiful handkerchiefs; I've never owned such handsome ones. How kind you are!"

2—When you introduce the young man to a woman, say, "Miss Graham, may I present Mr. Allen." This form of introduction, that is when we introduce a man to a woman, is always an excellent one to use. If we wish to be more informal, we mention only the names . . . but always the woman's name first: "Miss Graham, Mr. Allen."

When you are introducing this young man to another man, mention only the names, "Mr. Browne, Mr. Allen." Look at each person as you mention the name, and say the name distinctly and graciously.

Pittsburgh Mothers Joyfully Greet Medicine Which Saves "Midnight Worry" Over Child

Simple, Harmless Preparation Called "Family Physician" Brings Swift Relief in Most Little Child Ills; Ends Mothers' Heartaches.

Dr. John T. Houchens

Thousands of Pittsburgh mothers are joyfully celebrating the arrival here of the "Family Physician" medicine, a simple, harmless, but amazingly effective preparation which makes short work of little ills of children which cause mothers such big heartaches.

Ever since "Family Physician" was produced, 68 years ago, it has become more and more popular with mothers because it never fails to bring results. When a little stomach is upset (often during midnight hours), or cold, rasping cough or severe constipation makes a child fretful and feverish, a spoonful of "Family Physician" makes doctor's work easier and calms mother's fears while she waits for the doctor to arrive.

"Family Physician" is more than a laxative; it actually cleans out bowels and sweetens the stomach, so that often the poison which causes your child's illness is eliminated before it can spread through the system.

PROVE "FAMILY PHYSICIAN" EFFECTIVE AT OUR RISK

Your child's well-being—your own peace of mind—your health and happiness—these things are too precious to ignore. Get a 30c or 60c bottle today at any Mayflower or Sun Drug Store. We will take all the risk of proving how many heartaches it will save you—how many sick spells it will save your children. Give them a spoonful at first sign of illness. If you're not joyfully surprised at their swift recovery, your money back on return of the remainder of the medicine.

There's a special representative at the Sun Cut-Rate Drug Store, at 211 Diamond Street, who will gladly tell you all about the "Family Physician" medicine without the slightest obligation on your part. See him today without fail.

Dr. John T. Houchens was born October 16, 1849, at Richmond, Va. After he came of age he graduated from the University of Virginia, then came to Baltimore, Md., studied medicine and became a graduate of pharmacy.

After compounding the "Family Physician" formula he found that it gave such wonderful relief that parents came from far and near to get it for their children. The numbers of his customers grew so fast that he could not attend to anything else but that one medicine, and he had to employ more and more people to help him.

He did no advertising. The sales of the "Family Physician" Medicine grew by merit alone. In 1902 the Houchens Medicine Co. was incorporated.

Today "Family Physician" is aiding children and adults from one end of this country to the other. It has made mother's tasks easier and her heart lighter. We guarantee it will do as well for you and yours—or it will not cost you a penny. Get a 30c or 60c bottle at any Mayflower or Sun Drug Store today.

What Mothers Say:

"I've used the 'Family Physician' since 30 years ago, for my six children and now see to it that my three grandchildren have its help. I keep it in the house all the time."
MRS. S. A. STEWART,
Baltimore, Md.

"I have been using the 'Family Physician' for 25 years with good results. When the kiddies had colds, sore throats, fever or other children's ills, I always gave them 'The Family Physician'—always with beneficial results. Now I give it to my grandson when needed because I know it's thoroughly dependable. My mother and mother-in-law both had large families and they give it highest praise."

Falls Road, Md.

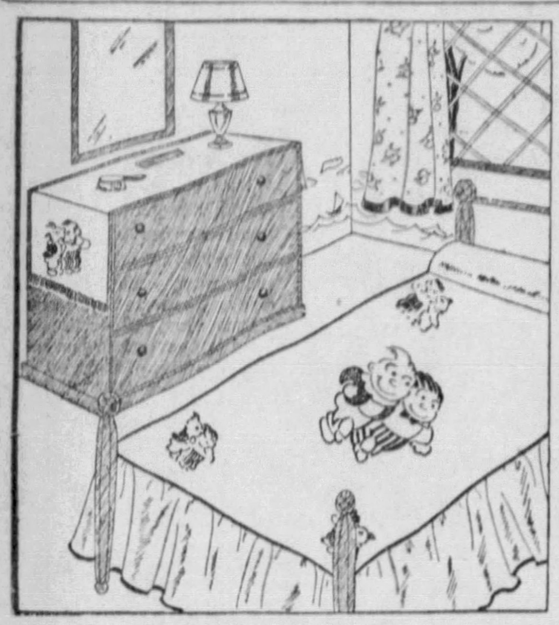
KATZENJAMMER KIDS BEDSPREAD



Pattern No. 409

The Katzenjammer Kids! To how many of us grown-ups does that not recall childhood days when we eagerly awaited each Sunday to see the new antics of these irrepressible rascals? And today children all over the country are still waiting, as we did, to see what new fix the Katzenjammer Kids have gotten into. What little friends of theirs, boys or girls, would not be delighted to have them embroidered on their bedspread, their curtains, or decorating a cushion? So here they are—they have stepped right out of the funny sheet for the first time to help make the rooms of their little friends gay. Though they themselves have never found any deviltry too difficult to carry out, they insisted that when translated onto bedspreads and pillows they be as easy to do as possible. So they have been interpreted in the simplest of embroidery stitches, but so that they lose none of their pert personality.

The pattern consists of a large motif 14 inches square and six motifs 4½ inches square. With the pattern you will find a color chart with two color schemes, showing exactly where to place the colors; concise directions and yardage for making a bedspread for a juvenile bed, as well as suggestions for further uses of the motifs.

BEER CONTROL VOTE NEAR IN HOUSE

HARRISBURG, May 2.—Under Gov. Pinchot's threat that he will pile on additional work if the session does not adjourn this week, the General Assembly today moved uncertainly toward a compromise on beer control legislation.

A conference scheduled for this morning, between Gov. Pinchot and Legislative leaders, on the appropriation and revenue problems confronting the Assembly, went the way of many other conferences. It didn't happen. Instead, a meeting is to be held this afternoon.

Both the administration and Republican organization awaited eagerly the final House vote on the John J. McClure beer control measure, which would let County Treasurers license wholesale and retail dealers. Leaders of each group expressed confidence the bill will be passed.

The proposition of Senator William D. Mansfield that the beer tax be increased to $2.48 per barrel so that collection of the 4 mills tax on savings banks might be obviated, met with general approval among individual members, yet nowhere in the Senate is there the exhibition of a backbone to try its effect.

The Governor's promise of more work if the session is prolonged was given in a terse statement. He said:

"If the Legislature does not adjourn finally this week, I shall have important additional matters to lay before it."

Though the chief executive refused to enlarge upon it, the announcement was regarded by legislators as holding an implied threat to call an extra session soon if the Legislature does not quit this week.

GUARD SECRET OF RICH MINE

COLORADO SPRINGS, Col., May 2.—(Universal.)—What is said to be the richest gold ore in the history of mining has been discovered near Colorado Springs.

An assay made at the Golden Cycle Mill developed the incredible value of $17,637 in gold per ton of ore.

The sample from which the assay was made came from Georgetown, Col., weighed 17 pounds and was valued at nearly $130. A chunk of pure gold of the same weight would be worth about $300.

The ordinary 60-ton carload of the ore, if it maintained this richness, would be worth more than $1,000,000.

The utmost secrecy is being observed as to the name of the mine and its owner.

Bill for Permanent Registration Pushed

HARRISBURG, May 2.—(AP.)—The House Elections Committee last night reported for passage the Harris (Senate) bill providing permanent registration of voters in Pittsburgh and Scranton. The measure passed first reading.

Amendment of the bill was made by the House Committee to include permanent registration for Scranton.

Pioneer Railroad Builder Dies at 96

OMAHA, Neb., May 2.—(AP.)—Arthur P. Wood, 96, pioneer railroad civil engineer who helped build 1,000 miles of the Union Pacific Railroad, died yesterday at his home here.

Wood was the oldest living graduate of the University of Michigan. He was born in Belmont County, O.

SUNDAY MUSIC UP TO PINCHOT

HARRISBURG, May 2.—(AP.)—The Senate last night sent to Gov. Pinchot a bill to legalize Sunday concerts.

The action came less than a week after Pinchot signed the Schwartz bill to permit voters to decide whether municipalities may license Sunday afternoon baseball and football.

The House-approved concert measure, sponsored by Representative Long, Philadelphia, was defeated last Thursday, but was reconsidered last night. The Senate, 28 to 18, dispatched the bill to Pinchot.

Senator George L. Reed, Dauphin, Republican, was the only Senator to speak against it. He described it as the opening wedge to break down the ancient blue laws and asserted he could see no reason for passing it.

State Appropriation To Pitt Increased

HARRISBURG, May 2.—(INS.)—The University of Pittsburgh's appropriation was increased to $1,188,000 under the terms of a bill reported to the Senate for final passage today.

The measure, as introduced in the House, called for an appropriation of $1,650,000. The House Appropriations Committee cut it to $1,069,200. The Senate Committee added $118,800 to the latter amount.

Pinchot Signs Bond Bill to Help Idle

HARRISBURG, May 2.—(AP.)—Gov. Pinchot last night signed the Scott (Senate) bill providing for the issue and sale of $25,000,000 in bonds, $20,000,000 of which would be used to help persons who are out of work.

The measure is part of the relief program agreed upon at conferences between Gov. Pinchot and legislative leaders.

Magazine Censor Proposal Killed

HARRISBURG, May 2.—(AP.)—The Long (House) bill making the superintendent of public instruction the censor of magazines published in the state was "killed" by the Senate Law and Order Committee last night.

UTILITIES BILL AWAITS FINAL HOUSE VOTE

HARRISBURG, May 2.—(AP.)—The Senate's public utility bill, which Republican organization forces in the legislation are backing against Gov. Pinchot's new plan for revising the state regulatory laws, today awaited final House action.

Representative Ellwood J. Turner, Delaware, in reporting the bill last night, told the House the Utilities Committee, of which he is the chairman, had inserted amendments "which we believe have strengthened the measure."

Criticized by Pinchot as being less complete than the administration measure buried in Senate committee, the McClure bill gives the Public Service Commission greater authority over rate changes, security issues, holding companies, affiliates, reparations and sales of appliances.

VETO INDICATED

Based on recommendations of the Senate Utility Investigating Committee and the Public Service Commission, the bill represents the limit to which organization leaders are ready to go in amending the public service company law. The Governor has indicated he will veto it.

Representative Turner condemned Gov. Pinchot for blocking "many beneficial changes" in the present law, proposed by the 1931 Senate and defeated when the Governor insisted on inserting amendments to give him authority to "hire and fire" Public Service Commissioners.

MAJOR CHANGES

The revised bill makes these major changes:

Security issues — Commission given control over issues for one year or longer and companies required to notify commission regarding short term securities.

Rate increases — Commission authorized but not required to suspend increases for six months pending approval and empowered to exact bond covering refunds to consumers if rates are ultimately found to be unjustified.

Holding companies — Commission approval required for loans or security transactions between affiliated companies and for contracts covering security issues.

PENN PACIFIST INQUIRY ASKED

HARRISBURG, May 2.—(AP.)—A resolution demanding investigation of the 322 University of Pennsylvania students who voted against bearing arms, was presented in the Senate last night.

The resolution, which was sent to a committee, urged the inquiry to determine if any of the students had received senatorial scholarships. It also asked the senators who made the awards, if any are found, to cancel them.

Senator George L. Reed, Dauphin, objected to immediate consideration and it was referred to the committee on military affairs.

Measure to Protect News Source Offered

HARRISBURG, May 2.—(AP.)—A measure providing that newspaper employes cannot be compelled to disclose sources of information in trials or legislative investigations was introduced in the Senate last night.

Sponsored by Senator Andrew J. Sordoni, Luzerne, the bill proposes that reporters' sources of information for stories published in newspapers are inviolate before any tribunal.

FIGHT UTILITY EXEMPTIONS

WASHINGTON, Pa., May 2.—Demanding that all property owned by public utilities in Washington County be taken off the exempt assessment list, the Washington County Tax Justice League has gone on record here with a program for lowered governmental costs.

Real estate owned by public utilities in the county, according to the league, has been placed on the exempt list to an alarming degree. In Washington alone, the league charges, two ninths of a total municipal valuation of $6,136,000 is exempt from taxes.

Action on Insurance Codes Off Until '35

HARRISBURG, May 2.—(AP.)—Insurance codes before the General Assembly will not be acted upon at the present session.

Representative Louis Schwartz, Philadelphia, introduced a resolution last night asking appointment of three Senate and four House members to study and revise the insurance code and insurance department code and submit them to the 1935 session.

Mother Builds Shack at Pen to Be Near Son

DES MOINES, Ia., May 2.—(AP.)—Whatever happens, nothing can shake Mrs. Kate Farnell's love for her son.

When they sent him to the penitentiary at Fort Madison for life, she built a shack outside the prison walls and lived in it so she could be near her boy.

The "boy," Jean, is now 48. Mrs. Farnell is 78, but her advanced age did not stop her from hitch-hiking two days and a night to Des Moines, where she hopes to have Gov. Clyde Herring commute Jean's sentence.

STATE PAY CUT PLAN REVISED

HARRISBURG, May 2.—(AP.)—A voluntary 10 per cent slash in state salaries above $1,000 will be urged in the General Assembly this week as a new compromise economy move.

The cut would be made only on that portion of the salary over $1,000.

A resolution covering the new plan is to take the place of the Howell proposal, which met defeat in the House after receiving Senate approval. The Howell plan called for voluntary cuts of 20 per cent on that part of the salary above $750.

Gov. Pinchot, who has announced he will take a flat 10 per cent slash in his $18,000 salary, has urged that no cuts be made on salaries under $1,200. The $1,000 exemption is viewed as a compromise plan.

RELIEF BATTLE PERILS 65,000

GREENSBURG, Pa., May 2.—A break between Westmoreland County Poor Board and County Emergency Relief Board today threatened to leave 65,000 needy individuals without food today.

Those affected include families from Vandergrift, Irwin and Latrobe districts, until yesterday cared for by the County Poor Board.

In these districts food orders would have been distributed today.

Following a meeting Monday between the poor board and relief organizations, the latter amended a resolution of April 17, dispensing with the poor board's relief distribution services May 1 to May 31.

The poor board met later and decided to close relief agencies.

BEER TAX DRIVE LAUNCHED HERE

The hunt for evaders of government taxes on 3.2 per cent beer began in all counties in Western Pennsylvania, the district under the supervision of Collector of Internal Revenue D. B. Heiner.

Operating under the direction of Chief Field Deputy Collector W. R. Stevenson, 43 deputy collectors are seeking out retail and wholesale dealers in the newly-legalized brew who have not complied with the tax requirements.

1,233 Life Terms (Of 137 Pen Cats) Commuted

JOLIET, Ill., May 2.—(AP.)—The Parole Board met at the penitentiary today and 1,233 life terms were commuted—but not a man was happy!

The prisoners turned loose were 137 cats, at nine life terms per cat.

Prison officers decided May Day was a good moving day for a big majority of the penitentiary's cat population and loaded them into a box car on a siding. A few cats were kept in prison. Where the rest will travel was unknown—a brakeman said he would chaperon the carload out of town.

EXPO BUILDING RENTAL ASKED

City Council today was to discuss a letter from John L. Porter, president of the Western Pennsylvania Exposition Society, urging the city to pay the society back rent on the Exposition Building amounting to $37,500. The rent, the letter said, has been unpaid for a year and three months.

Porter asserted the rent was ordered paid several months ago by Council's finance committee.

REO ANNOUNCES THE

LEVERLESS AUTOMATIC PATENTED

MOST REVOLUTIONARY IMPROVEMENT SINCE THE SELF-STARTER

Reo Motor Car Company presents the REO SELF-SHIFTER—greatest automotive advance since the self-starter displaced the hand-crank.

The car without a gear shift lever! The car that shifts for itself!

PROVED BY TEST

The SELF-SHIFTER is simple in operation—thoroughly tested, utterly foolproof. It is unlike any other so-called "automatic" device. You do not have to learn driving all over again. Start the car as you always did—merely touch a selector on the dash instead of "fishing" for "low" with a gear shift lever—then step on it!

SAFE—EASY TO OPERATE

You glide away with a swift, smooth flow of power never experienced before—never possible before—in any other car!

There is no waiting for the "feel" of the gears—no jerking—no lurching.

Without the slightest attention from the driver, the SELF-SHIFTER carries you on through second into high. You can drive for hours if you wish, without once touching the clutch pedal or shifting gears. There is no shifting to do in the automatic range—because the SELF-SHIFTER does it for you.

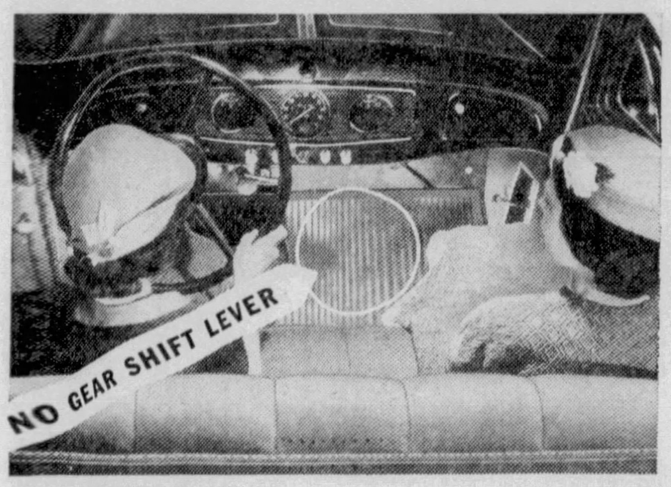
HANDS FREE FOR THE WHEEL

In slow traffic, on steep hills, or wherever reduced momentum requires more power, this uncanny device automatically shifts itself back to second—then up to high again as speed increases!

There is nothing for you to do but steer. Your hands are free for the wheel. There is no groping for the gear shift lever with one hand while dodging traffic with the other.

There is no "stalling" through failure to shift at the proper instant. The SELF-SHIFTER takes care of that. It is not only simpler than present transmissions—but infinitely safer.

There are other advantages—numerous advantages—that one can never begin to appreciate from a mere recital of the facts. Treat yourself to a ride! That is the one way to learn what a truly revolutionary development it is!



The REO SELF-SHIFTER is fully protected by patents. It is in no sense to be confused with any other so-called "automatic" driving device now on the market.

Olive oil is nature's great beautifier

—and it's olive oil that makes Palmolive green

CLEOPATRA knew the beauty value of olive and palm oils; so did other lovely women of her time. And from that day to this, nothing has taken the place of those priceless, natural oils for skin protection.

Palmolive Soap is the modern development of this age-old beauty formula. The only oils in Palmolive are the soothing beauty oils from the olive tree, the African palm, and the cocoanut palm—no other fats whatever. That accounts for Palmolive's natural green color. That accounts, too, for its gentle, mild, thorough cleansing. Palmolive refreshes the skin and keeps it supple and smooth.

Now that Palmolive is selling at the lowest prices in history, give yourself the benefit of this finest of all beauty care for the bath, too.

The vial at the right shows the exact amount of olive oil we put into each cake

Beauty cleansing as prescribed by experts

Do this morning and evening. Work a fine lather of Palmolive Soap and warm water gently but thoroughly into the skin of face, neck and throat. Rinse with warm water, followed by cold. Feel, with delight, the new beauty of your skin.

INCREASE IN AID APPEALS HE RE HALTED

The increase in requests for family and welfare relief has been checked for the first time in the past few years, partly by the upward trend of business activity during the past few weeks, a summary revealed today.

Statisticians of the Federation of Social Agencies today revealed that the peak had been reached in the week of March 13, when new appeals for relief totaled 2,343, of which 1,600 were families and 743 individuals. This had dropped, for the week of April 17, to 797 new appeals.

INCREASED BUSINESS

At the same time, statisticians for the University of Pittsburgh Bureau of Research showed a trend of increasing business activity for the past five weeks, indicated by increased car loadings and other factors.

Relief agencies believed part of the decrease in new demand for aid might be attributed to the seasonal decline and also to the reforestration program.

Meanwhile, the resumption of work in several plants was recorded today.

Fifteen mills at the Laughlin plant of the American Sheet and Tin Plate Company at Martins Ferry, O., will resume operations Monday, with 1,500 men affected, it was reported by the Associated Press.

This news agency also reported resumption of the brass foundry of the Standard Sanitary and Manufacturing Company in Louisville, Ky., employing 3,600. At the main office of this company here, it was announced that the Trenton plant, employing between 300 and 400, had resumed April 21.

Whether the Pittsburgh works resumes or not depends on further orders, it was said.

BRACKENRIDGE PLANT

Glass and steel activities were reported to have been resumed in the Brackenridge plant of the Allegheny Steel Company and the Creighton plant of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company.

The Edgar Thomson plant of the Carnegie Steel, which has been operating for several weeks, is expected to close down tomorrow.

The Carnegie plant of the Superior Steel Corporation has adjusted its rolling mill to turn out 20-inch steel in place of 16-inch, but would not say the steel was to be used for beer barrels.

Meanwhile the district's steel picture was brighter, with the announcement the Moltrup Steel Products Company, of Beaver Falls, has recalled 100 employes, having received an order for 12 carloads of cold-drawn steel.

Five hundred men have been called back to work at the Weirton, W. Va., plant of Weirton Steel Company, subsidiary of National Steel Corporation. More men will get jobs during the next two weeks, it was reported.

HOME EXHIBIT INAUGURATED

Pittsburgh's newest institution glorifying the home-building art, the Better Homes and Buildings exhibit on the third floor of the Gulf Building, Seventh avenue, officially was opened to the public yesterday. As an added attraction this week only, a special electric refrigeration display is being held in connection with the exhibit with 10 local distributors of electric refrigerators participating through the Electric League of Pittsburgh.

Admission to the Better Homes and Buildings exhibit, which is a permanent institution presenting the latest trend in domestic architecture and demonstrating the correct usage of building materials, furnishings and utilities, is free. The show this week will be open from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m.

SEIZE DYNAMITE IN AVELLA RAIDS

AVELLA, Pa., May 2.—(AP.)—Unleashing a May Day attack on radicalism in Washington County, Sheriff J. A. Seaman staged three raids in the Avella district, confiscating 25 sticks of dynamite, stacks of Communistic literature, and 40 sacks of Red Cross flour.

The Sheriff, reinforced by deputies and constables, made no arrests. Seaman said he had a warrant for Jack Stewart, whom he termed a radical leader, but the man was not located.

The officers conducted raids on the Rector Building at Avella, the Browntown Garage, and a building known as the "Old Barracks" at Cedar Grove. The places are alleged Communist headquarters.

Welcome Prepared For Gen. Gorecki

Polish organizations and the American Legion are preparing a rousing welcome for Gen. Roman Gorecki, of Poland, when he arrives at Pennsylvania station at 9:15 o'clock tomorrow morning. School children and members of the Polish Falcons will appear in native costumes. Gen. Gorecki arrived in New York today.

'SHANTYTOWN'S MEN TO VOTE

"Shantytown," the Father Cox community of unemployed in the shadow of Old St. Patrick's, will have its annual election for Mayor tomorrow night.

The 350 male "voters" will meet in St. Patrick's Square to name the guiding hand for another year. It will be strictly a "community ticket" and as far as could be learned on the eve of election there is only one candidate—Father Cox—"Mayor of Shantytown" for two years.

Father Cox said last night:

"Of course, I expect to be re-elected by acclamation. But I wouldn't be surprised if they sprung a 'dark horse' on me at the last minute. Times are difficult and it has been pretty hard sledding to keep that crowd contented and happy. However, I'm not worrying. If I'm re-elected I'll renew my pledge to do everything possible to maintain their morale and keep the wolf from the door of my little village."

In the meantime Father Cox is not letting up in his drive for Sun-Telegraph subscriptions. Every Saturday, as regular as clockwork, he gets a substantial check from this newspaper for the subscriptions he and his friends have obtained during the week. Without this check he says he might just as well "close up shop." Every subscription that comes in on the blank on this page or is telephoned in with the request that Father Cox be given credit for it, brings to his unemployment relief fund a liberal cash commission.

People Denied Right To Pension Vote

By MARK SHIELDS

HARRISBURG, May 2.—Senator John J. McClure, of Delaware County, last night stepped into the political picture in an endeavor to take the popular play away from Republican State Chairman Edward Martin and those hrrd-boiled gentlemen who follow the banner of Joseph R. Grundy.

Mr. Shields

The occasion was the motion of Senator Shapiro, of Philadelphia, to bring the old age pension Constitutional amendment to the floor. A sub-committee, dominated by Martin and Grundy men, had buried the bill surely. Shapiro moved that the committee be discharged and that the Senate overwhelmingly in favor of the measure if forced to vote on it, be given the chance.

The motion was defeated, but prior to the action McClure had made his play for popular esteem. He had played the game along with Philadelphia and a majority of the Allegheny County delegation. McClure said frankly that he would vote to discharge the committee, but he sought to avoid this embarrassment.

He suggested that as a substitute for the Shapiro motion that the Senate recess for 30 minutes, during which the Pensions and Gratuities Committee might be given the opportunity to report the bill. A majority of the committee was said to be ready to report it.

* * *

Maneuvers Deprive Senate of Vote

But Senator Lanning Harvey, of Wilkes-Barre, chairman of the committee, arose and announced that the sub-committee handling the bill, Senators Buckman, Fay and Woodward, had said it was not ready to report, and that therefore a committee meeting would be useless. This was weasling of the most palpable nature. Harvey is against the bill and he was seeking an alibi. He could have called the committee and forced the sub-committee to disgorge the measure.

Immediately Shapiro moved for a vote on his motion and it was defeated 27 to 20.

The Senate, therefore, through the hard-boiled attitude of Woodward, Buckman and Fay, and the weak-kneed position of Harvey was deprived of a chance to express its approval.

But it was only on a technicality which many Senators welcomed, that they avoided a vote. Actually, every member who voted against discharging the committee voted against permitting the people of Pennsylvania to express their sentiment on old age pensions.

* * *

Foes Take Refuge Behind Old Custom

That phase of the situation was clearly drawn by Senator Henry L. Snyder, of Lehigh, a Democrat. He frankly said that a vote against discharging the committee was a vote against old age pensions. There is no getting away from that fact. Some members spoke weepingly about senatorial courtesy and the horror they felt at any movement to discharge a committee.

Stripped of insincerity and camouflage, what these members meant was that they didn't want to vote for old age pensions, and took refuge behind an outworn tradition. Men who would eagerly seize anything new mechanically in the advancement of knowledge or society were horrified at being asked to accept anything new in their brains.

Of the Allegheny County delegation, Senator James J. Coyne was the only Senator to vote to refuse the people of Pennsylvania an opportunity to express themselves. This was no new departure for the Senator, who feels that he in an individual capacity should say what the people should have the right to vote on.

There are approximately ten million persons in Pennsylvania. About four million of them are eligible to vote. But the four million are deprived of the chance to express themselves on old age pensions because three Senators of the Senate sub-commitee were hard-boiled, one, Senator Harvey, was supine, and 27 sought refuge behind the cloak of senatorial "courtesy."

* * *

Possessors of Wealth Oppose Pensions

Of the three, Fay, Woodward and Buckman, the latter is the direct agent in the Senate of Grundy and reaction. Woodward is a wealthy gentleman, whose investments have lifted from him the fear of any danger of poverty in his old age, and Fay is one of the wealthy gentlemen of Mercer County.

Harvey is liberal, that is liberal so far as the question of Sunday baseball, being the president of a professional baseball club. On old age pensions he is conservative.

As to politics, McClure has challenged Martin and Grundy for Republican leadership.

But the Democrats also have something to say on this subject. Of seven Democratic members of the Senate, six voted to discharge the committee. The seventh, Senator Sones, of Lycoming, voted for "courtesy." Democratic leaders after the vote opined that Senator Sones is not and never was a real Democrat, any more than is Representative Jake Shenkel, of Allegheny County, a rain check member of the party.

This will be an issue in the next statewide campaign, with the Democrats using it to the fullest extent. And if the Republicans desire to string along with the Martin and Grundy wing rather than McClure, they will run into plenty of trouble.

Incidentally, the so-called Pin-

FOREST ARMY NEEDS PLAY EQUIPMENT

800 in 4 Camps Lack Games, Books for Spare Time

By AL GOUGH
Staff Correspondent

ALLEGHENY NATIONAL FOREST, Pa., May 2.—Pittsburgh's army of citizen foresters encamped here with full equipment for work are in dire need of equipment for play.

Approximately 800 men are occupying four camps in this vast timberland. There is not so much as a single baseball or a pair of horseshoes among the entire group of recreation.

The Forest Army's recreational needs have been brought to the attention of Third Corps Army headquarters and Maj. Gen. Paul B. Malone, corps commander, has made a request of the adjutant general that the citizen army be furnished the additional equipment.

NEED EQUIPMENT

The principal need, according to Gen. Malone, is regulation playground equipment, radios, musical instruments and reading matter. To this list the men themselves loudly proclaim their need for razor blades, writing paper, tent lanterns and "smokes."

Most of the citizen foresters have allotted the major portion of their $1 a day to their dependants at home. For the most part they have about $5 or less monthly for their own needs. Out of this they must supply their personal needs. At some of the camps they plan subscriptions among themselves to buy baseballs and bats. Some are writing home to friends and relatives for help.

PITCH ROCKS

The encampment at Heart's Content, in the center of a level clearing at the edge of the forest, has been whiling away the recreational hours in the evenings by pitching rocks, much the same as they would pitch horseshoes. Lieut. Robert H. Kreuger, in command, commenting on the needs of his camp, said:

"These men have several hours of daylight every day for recreation. In addition, they have all of Saturday and Sunday. There is little for them to do except hold meetings, hike through the woods, or match yarns.

"We need reading material and something to play with."

WALK TO TOWN

At Dunkle Corners Capt. Everard F. Oslen pointed to the need of the citizen "soldiers." He said:

"Ludlow is our nearest town. It is 12 miles away and our men walk there and back for an evening's recreation."

At Pebble Dell, Lieut. William L. Richardson already has laid out a baseball diamond and has a detail of men already at work in anticipation of balls, bats and gloves to equip a camp team.

The Sugar Run camp, composed entirely of Negroes, has its work and pleasures cut out also and with the hope of musical instruments, the officers in charge already are planning a jazz orchestra.

Peace Being Sought In Painters' Strike

Union officials and contractors today were attempting a settlement of a strike of 800 painters and decorators who went on strike yesterday against a proposed wage reduction.

E. M. Adams, secretary-treasurer of the Painters' District Council No. 1, explained that contractors sought to reduce the wages from $9.50 for an eight-hour day to $6. He added that very few large jobs are being held up by the walkout.

200 FORESTERS ENTRAIN

A new quota of 200 men enlisted for service in the Citizens' Conservation Corps left Pittsburgh last night for Fort Howard, Md., where they will be outfitted and sent into the Allegheny National Forest as the fifth company of this city's forest army.

Other groups will leave nearby counties within the next few days.

Last night's contingent was made up of Allegheny County residents outside of the city, and was part of the 300 recruited yesterday. The other 100 are expected to leave for Fort Howard tonight.

Forest Army to See 'War Birds' Attack

BAYTON, O., May 2.—(AP.)—Behind a thick smoke screen, 27 of Uncle Sam's "war birds" tonight will attack Fort Knox, Ky., where 2,000 youths are being trained for forest duty.

The bombing, scout and attack planes will swoop over the Army post at 9 p. m. and theoretically make an attempt to wipe it out while from the ground an Army defending force will try to spot them with giant searchlights and "shoot" them down.

SANDY APPEARS AT THEATER

"Sandy," the "ferocious" dog doomed to die for biting a 3-year-old child, was on exhibition last night in the Pastime Theater, Herron avenue.

Mrs. Ethel Cannon, of Junilla street, is soliciting a fund for the defense of the dog which was condemned to die by Judge S. L. Reed, of Cambria County.

The fund is to appeal the case to Superior Court May 15 when Judge Reed is scheduled to return here to sentence Sandy's owner, Frank Sechan, of Elizabeth Township, whom he paroled for six months on condition that he would dispose of Sandy.

Sechan, in violation of his parole, refused to kill the dog on the grounds that it was not vicious. Mrs. Cannon, who entered the dog in a downtown department store dog show recently, said she had 1,800 signers to a petition that the dog was friendly.

Mrs. Cannon said she has raised more than $60 in the fund for Sandy's defense. A "Sandy Fund" has been created in the Dollar Savings Bank to which anyone interested in the case may contribute.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

NEW YORK, May 2.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

Everybody was happy here in New York last night, the market went up yesterday. Spirits here just go up or down according to that day's market. They think the whole U. S. just depends on what pocket the little white ball rolled into on the exchange roulette table that day. But our country has got so that each one of us has to live by a "racket" of some kind, and none of us must be too critical of the other fellow's. When you figure it right down none of us are in a really essential business but the farmer, and he raises so much that even his business is partly non-essential. But we got to be tolerant. For these New Yorkers are likable rascals even when they are skinning you.

Will Rogers

Yours, WILL.

CHURCH FIGHTS GARBAGE SITE

Declaring they would be forced to "adore God in the shadow of a garbage furnace," members of St. Ann's Catholic Church, of Homestead, last night petitioned the Borough Council protesting the site it selected for an incinerator.

Although Council intimated the plant would not be built at the Sixth avenue site, a block and a half from the church and its school, and near the main business thoroughfare, members declared they will fight injunction proceedings and attempt to show there would be no lowering of property values or unsanitary conditions resulting from the plant.

GIRL VANISHES WITH $900

A 17-year-old Italian girl, Cora Mitchell, was reported missing from her home at 1912 Watson street, today, according to police.

The girl's disappearance was reported by her brother, Michael Mitchell, who said coincidental with her departure $900 belonging to her grandmother was missing, police said.

Miss Mitchell is 5 feet 2 inches tall and weighs 110 pounds.

She is believed to have gone to Chicago, where the Mitchell's have relatives, police said.

Babes in Wood Song Rewritten On Large Scale

—By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER—

President Roosevelt's reforestation plan is tough on us mugs who can't tell toadstools from mushrooms.

They will all be growing in the woods pretty soon. And the Republican threat of tall grass on Broadway ain't as bad as the Democratic promise of big oaks in the fairway.

Haven't heard anything of those babes in the woods who went out to plant all those forests. The toughest job in that army is guard duty around a lunch wagon.

We would like to be with them in weather like this with our head and feet sticking out of a pup tent and bright stars for traffic lights.

Wish the boys would let us know when the trees are big enough to keep the sun out of your face, the birds are singing in the branches and the apples are ripe.

We like to join an army under the most favorable conditions possible.

CHURCH WALL COLLAPSES

A section of the north wall of Most Holy Name Roman Catholic Church, Harpster and Claim streets, Troy Hill, collapsed last night, showering the street with brick and mortar.

The foundation of the 68-year-old edifice was being reinforced, and yesterday's rain was believed to have caused the wall's collapse. A portion of the wall fell into the church, crushing more than a dozen pews.

The Rev. Father Godfrey Pfeil, pastor, said services will be conducted in St. Anthony's Chapel, across the street from the damaged church. Firemen and police roped off the street, as it was feared part of the upper wall would collapse.

Damage was estimated at $10,000.

Girl Fractures Arm By Fall on Sidewalk

Jacqueline Percival, 8, of 5116 Rosetta street, suffered a probable fracture of the arm when she fell on the sidewalk near her home late yesterday, it was reported. She was treated at St. Francis Hospital.

GANGS KILL 103 IN TWO YEARS, SAYS JURIST

Fight Crime Periling Civilization, Patriotic Order Urged

Thought of the deadly toll the gangster and the racketeer have exacted from the people of Allegheny County occupied members of the Patriotic Order of Americans today as they opened their second convention day.

Judge Ralph H. Smith, appealing for help in the national drive to exterminate the racketeer, told the order at its banquet last night that one person has been murdered every three days in Allegheny County for five years, and that there have been 103 gang murders here in the last two years.

COURAGE URGED

Judge Smith's speech showed him in line with civic leaders throughout the country in their declarations that the racketeer must go or the American civilization must fall. He told the diners:

"You and I must determine if we have courage enough to tell the gangsters that they must go, that we have no room for them in this city.

"But when you drive them from the liquor racket they'll take possession of dozens of legitimate businesses, as they have in Chicago.

"Your time has come to tell the gangster that he must go, that this country and this American life will not and cannot be shared with the gangsters."

SCORES VOTE THIEVES

Swinging from the gangster engaged in the business of profiting from vice to the political racketeer who engages in election thefts, Smith declared:

"Nor can we tolerate the theft of ballot boxes, the wholesale stealing of elections.

"The gangster steals a few dollars from you while the other steals your government from under you."

Of the criticism of the county's arrangements for care of orphans, Smith said:

"We've sold our children from the juvenile courts into abject slavery and subjected them to filth and poverty and attack.

"What are we going to do about it?

PARK TO PROBE DRUG FRAUD

District Attorney Andrew T. Park today is to investigate an East Liberty druggist who is said to have defrauded the city of hundreds of dollars by faked prescriptions for medicine.

Evidence pointing to fraud practiced by the druggist has been turned over to the District Attorney by City Controller James P. Kerr.

Dr. Kerr's evidence indicates, he said, that the druggist defrauded the city by charging for prescriptions which were never filled and charging for extra doses of medicine never delivered to the families for which they were prescribed. The cost of the medicine comes from a fund set up by Council to pay for medicine for needy families.

Dr. Kerr said yesterday that only one druggist to his knowledge is involved.

AUTO KILLS BOY, DRIVER HELD

Seven-year-old Frank Cebrick, of Bethel Heights, Bethel Township, was killed late yesterday when he was struck by an automobile on the Brightwood road near his home.

Amos Haley, of 166 Stewart avenue, Carrick, the driver, was arrested by Justice of the Peace Charles W. Linepensel and ordered to post bond at the Coroner's office today.

Elmer Dean, 36, of 6340 Caton street, Squirrel Hill, suffered cuts on the face and head when the machine he was driving skidded on Brown's Bridge, near Homestead, and crashed into a girder. He was treated in the Homestead Hospital.

CHURCH THAT COLLAPSED AFTER HEAVY RAIN

THE WALL THAT FELL INTO 68-YEAR-OLD MOST HOLY NAME ROMAN CATHOLIC CHURCH

The shattered wall at Most Holy Name, Harpster street, Troy Hill, that collapsed last night, probably because the heavy rain softened the earth, weakened the foundation—which was in the course of reinforcement. Damage: $10,000. This is a Sun-Telegraph picture.

Radio Links Job Army To Families Here

Fifteen hundred families of the Pittsburgh district volunteers in the Civilian Conservation Corps encamped in Allegheny Forest were brought to a split-second contact with the camp today. The Sun-Telegraph inaugurated a unique radio message service in co-operation with short wave stations W8HEE and BEU of the 176th Field Artillery in Logan Armory.

Radio messages from the boys at the forest camps, received by the Army stations, were relayed over the Sun-Telegraph station, WCAE, during the Globe-Trotter's 9:30 broadcast this morning. Additional important personal messages will be broadcast daily during this period.

Initiating what is reported to be the first program of this nature in the country, the Sun-Telegraph will receive messages from the families to be relayed to the forest camps gratis. They must be of personal importance and not more than 30 words in length. Such messages should be addressed:

Civilian Conservation Radio, The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa.

This radio service, between parents and volunteers in the reforestation army, is made possible through co-ordination of 20 amateur radio stations in the Army Amateur Radio Net in Western Pennsylvania in charge of Lieut. H. A. Evans. It was organized both to provide training for the National Guard radio units and to facilitate communication with the camps.

Two Girls Abandoned In Depot Blame 'Daddy'

WASHINGTON, Pa., May 2.—No trace has been found of the parents of Helen and Dorothy McFeeney, 6 and 4, respectively, after their abandonment here Saturday.

Questioning at the Children's Home today brought a statement from the elder girl that the man who left them in the White Star bus terminal was not her father, but a moment later the child said it was "daddy."

She said:

"Daddy said not to tell. He said to say, 'I don't know. He's a big, fat man.'"

The child said her mother gave both children a bath before the man took them away. Authorities at the home believe the children came from Pittsburgh.

NEW YORK HITS FISH AND ICE RACKETS

By JOHN D. GREENE
Universal Service.

NEW YORK, May 2.—Virtually admitting that to drive out racketeers is too big a job for the largest police force in the world, Police Commissioner Bolan today declared it "has become apparent police must rely on federal income tax prosecutions to curb racketeers.

At the same time, however, District Attorney Crain, of New York County, moved to smash the twin fish and ice rackets flourishing on the Manhattan waterfront by directing a union official to notify dealers that so far as the union is concerned there would be no objection to the purchase of ice from a firm that complained to the prosecutor.

ACTS AFTER PROTEST

Crain took this action after William Fellowes Morgan, Jr., president of the Brooklyn Bridge Freezing and Cold Storage Company, received word of a threatened boycott with gang enforcement against his firm. Morgan had recently protested to both the District Attorney and former Police Commissioner Mulrooney against fish market racketeers.

It was also learned attaches of the District Attorney's office had been instructed to assemble evidence against known figures in the millinery racket.

In his statement, Commissioner Bolan said police would continue to prosecute racketeers wherever possible. He said his men had been instructed to use "every weapon at their command" to combat racketeering, but he thought federal authorities, in the income tax law, had the most effective weapon.

PROHIBITION SOURCE

He said:

"I believe racketeering has been due primarily to prohibition. It reached its peak about a year and a half ago, and it is now on the decline."

United States Attorney Medalie denied published reports that the federal government would indict 43 New York gangsters and racketeers this week. Medalie admitted, however, that men working under Hugh McQuillan, chief of the intelligence unit of the Department of Internal Revenue, "are working assiduously on incomes of several racketeers."

Taking issue with Police Commissioner Bolan, Judge Joseph E. Corrigan said racketeering is gaining. He declared:

"I have a solution in mind. Some step should be taken whereby the Mayor and the District Attorney should come from different political parties. Then 'pull' in one quarter would prove of no avail in the other."

Former Justice Heads Anti-crime Crusade

SEATTLE, May 2.—(Universal.)—William D. Askren, one-time fighting prosecutor of Pierce County and former state supreme court justice, has accepted chairmanship of the citizens' crusade against Seattle racketeers.

As the first move in the war to end extortion outrages, he invited a group of prominent citizens to meet with him in his office tomorrow when a committee to co-operate with law-enforcement authorities as a board of strategy, will be selected.

Judge Askren accepted leadership of the crusade and issued his call to civic leaders after Mayor Dore, prosecutor Burgunder and Chief of Police Norton had been consulted. Judge Askren said:

"This is not a time for the passing of resolutions by persons assembled. When these people of Seattle meet with me in my office Wednesday night, it will be for action, not words. "Racketeering can be stopped. And it is the people of Seattle that can stop it."

Pacific Ocean Depth Of Six Miles Found

SAN DIEGO, Cal., May 2.—(INS.)—A new Pacific Ocean depth of 5,501 fathoms, or 33,006 feet, has been found near the coast of Japan, according to a wireless message received today at 11th Naval District headquarters from the Navy tanker Ramapo, en route here from Manila.

Jolted Off Truck, Rider's Head Hurt

Daniel Mertz, 37, of 115 Maurice street, suffered brain concussion early today when he was jolted from a truck in Second avenue, near the Glenwood bridge. His nephew, Martin Watters, 21, of 138 Robinson street, was driver of the truck, according to police.

Famed Murder Case Lawyer Dies at 84

NEW YORK, May 2.—(AP.)—Hugo Hirsh, lawyer, philanthropist and author, died of heart disease yesterday at the age of 84.

chot senators did no yeoman work for old age pensions. Senator Thompson of Westmoreland County voted to discharge the committee, as did Mansfield and Harris of Allegheny—though neither is blindly Pinchot—but Bennett of Indiana and others stuck by "courtesy."

This is certain to be a future issue. It has passed the Senate every time the opportunity has been afforded, and would have last night but for the hard-boiled Fay, Buckman and Woodward, the weak-kneeded Harvey, and the 27 who voted for courtesy as a blind

What Are You Going To Do About It?

Developments today in the nation-wide war on rackets were these:

PITTSBURGH.—Judge Ralph H. Smith said there has been a murder every three days here for five years, and that citizens must also direct activities against election cheating racketeers.

CHICAGO.—A sixth bomb within 24 hours shook Lake Forest, and was linked definitely to gang warfare.

READING, Pa.—Federal agents drilled open a safe deposit box belonging to Max Hassell, Reading beer racketeer, murdered in Elizabeth, N. J.

BUFFALO.—"Protection" payments of $6,700 a month to certain public officials for operation of a brewery recently raided were alleged by federal investigators.

NEW YORK.—Police Commissioner Bolan said it was apparent racketeers can be curbed only through income tax prosecutions.

$190,000 Bequeathed By Guckenheimer

Mrs. Adele G. Lehman inherits almost all of the $190,000 estate of her father, Isaac Guckenheimer, of the Hotel Schenley, in his will which was filed for probate today.

Her husband, Albert C. Lehman, president of Blaw-Knox Company, receives $10,000, and Hilda M. Philipison $5,000 for her services to Mr. Guckenheimer and his late wife.

Mr. Guckenheimer was president of the Kerr Coal Company at Freeport and once president of the famed Guckenheimer Distilleries.

Pittsburgh Orator Wins Second Medal

Saul Dorfman, of Pittsburgh, a junior in the College of Arts and Sciences at Johns Hopkins University won the Adams medal for oratory for the second consecutive year. The medal is awarded annually for oratorical supremacy at Johns Hopkins. Dorfman declaimed William Jennings Bryan's "Cross of Gold" speech.

Thursday night, a sales lesson will be dramatized. J. C. McQuiston, of Wilkinsburg, is manager-secretary of the association.

To STOP a Headache

Just take two tablets of Bayer Aspirin. There's no speedier way—and no safer way. And if you saw Bayer Aspirin made, you would know why it is of such uniform, dependable action. No disagreeable taste or odor. No harmful percentage of free salicylic acid to upset the stomach. Nothing to depress the heart.

You could take these tablets every day in the year without ill effects. Nothing else will give you the same quick, complete relief. So keep Bayer Aspirin handy, and you will keep your engagements—free from headaches, periodic pains, or other sudden discomfort. Tuck a tin of twelve tablets in your purse.

If you want the tablet that dissolves quickly and relieves quickly, look for this cross:

SLAIN 'BARON'S' SECOND BANK BOX EMPTY

PHILADELPHIA, May 2.—(AP.)—A report to Federal Court today said the safety deposit box at Reading belonging to Max Hassell, beer baron, slain at Elizabeth, N. J., was found empty when opened yesterday.

The report was presented to Judge George A. Welsh, who issued the order for the opening of the box or any others found in the Farmers National Bank and Trust Company at Reading.

It was signed by Edmund J. Wrigley, special agent of the Bureau of Internal Revenue, and Wellington M. Bertolet, conservator of the bank.

The report stated that the box opened was the only one in the bank "known to be leased to Max Hassell under that designation or any other designation."

It was understood that government agents are seeking a new order giving them wider authority to open any box believed to have been leased by Max Hassell. Reports say Hassell had seven other boxes under different names.

Another safety deposit box of Hassell's opened in Elizabeth, N. J., yielded $214,000.

Hassell and Max Greenberg, of New York, were shot to death in a hotel room in Elizabeth and the search for clues to their slayers let to Hassell's safety boxes.

'NON-FIX' TAGS CUT REVENUE

Of 1,772 persons who appeared before J. Scott Morgan, traffic magistrate, last month, 1,393 were discharged, according to the City Controller's office. Two were jailed and 377 violators who were found guilty paid a total of $700 in fines.

The Controller's figures show 7,785 "non-fixable" traffic tags were issued in April. A total of 3,340 persons receiving tags paid fines without appearing. This netted the city $4,204.

With the fines paid by those who received hearings the city collected $4,904 from traffic violations during the month.

During April, last year, when "non-fixable" tags were something traffic cops dreamed about, the city's treasury received $6,020.75 from violations.

BALLOT PHOTOS REFUSED IN CONTEST

Judge James R. Macfarlane, presiding in Common Pleas Court, today refused counsel for Mrs. Anne E. Felix the right to photograph certain ballots in the fight for the seat in the Thirty-second Congressional District.

Such permission will not be given unless there is a special order from Congress, Judge Macfarlane declared as he sustained the objection of Robert Averbach, attorney for Michael J. Muldowney, defendant in the contest.

Attorney G. Malcolm McDonald, for Mrs. Felix, has announced he is considering asking for a Congressional order for photographs of ballots which give evidence of fraud.

The federal grand jury is engaged in routine investigations before settling down to inquire into alleged election frauds last fall in the Muldowney-Felix and the Erk-Brooks Congressional contests. The probe will probably start Thursday.

First Assistant United States Attorney James I. Marsh and Attorney Earl F. Reed, appointed special prosecutor in the election probe, conferred yesterday, but did not announce plans for the probe. Subpenas for witnesses likely will be served today.

KEPPEL TRACES NEED OF ADULT EDUCATION

By PENELOPE REDD

Dr. Frederick P. Keppel, of New York, president of the Carnegie Corporation, spoke yesterday afternoon before the Hungry Club in the Fort Pitt Hotel and in the evening at Carnegie Music Hall for the first anniversary of the Pittsburgh Council on Adult Education. His subject was "Chance and Change in Adult Education."

Miss Redd

Col. Samuel Harden Church prefaced his introduction of Dr. Keppel at Carnegie Music Hall by citing examples of adult education within his own experience and also discussed the changes in the reading habits of the general public. Said Col. Church:

"I look upon the newspaper as the eighth wonder of the world, bringing as it does from every corner of the earth, news of the last 24 hours."

VIEWPOINT CHANGED

Dr. Keppel, who has been concerned during the past decade with problem of adult education for recreation as distinguished from vocational education for material gain, said:

"Adult education is not new. What is new in any community concern for the adjustments to provide opportunities of this kind in what we are pleased to call modern civilization.

"With the depression we have been forced to look on all these matters from a new standpoint. The enormous morale factor in secondary interests in hobbies or 'recreative exercises of creative skill' has been definitely proved."

PERSONALITY FACTOR

Dr. Keppel pointed out that "the continued stimulation of the matured mind and personality" described by Morris Jastrow had a definite relation to economic life. Said Dr. Keppel:

"An analysis of 1,000 cases where people have lost their jobs showed that in less than one-third of the number surveyed did the loss occur because of incapacity to perform the job. The other two-thirds were hampered by some difficulty either in personality or by some social handicap.

"This finding indicates that people who have relied for security on following instructions accurately are more frequently out of jobs than those who enjoy the advantage of developed personalities.

PRODUCT OF TIMES

"We have concerned ourselves with the preparation for earning a living as contrasted with the preparation for living. I am hopeful that as a by-product of these terrible times we are going to do more fundamental thinking about adult education.

"There has been a change of attitude. The earlier discussions on adult education were sermons, inspirational in tone.

"Now they are analytical, the building up of a body of doctrine; but not theoretical, because they look toward the practical cost and realize that sooner or later adult education must be accepted as a public responsibility."

MOVEMENT TRACED

In tracing the history of the Adult Education Association, Dr. Keppel observed that one of the most important results of their research had been the determination of the capacity of people to learn at different age levels.

Everyone, he said, apparently has an optimum of ability at about 22 years of age and then drops off about one per cent a year. Everyone, Dr. Keppel continued, can go on learning if he so desires.

Dr. Keppel said that a wide range of subjects must be offered for we must go beyond book knowledge into the arts as well. He went on:

"There has been too great specializaiton in our education and a lack of emphasis on the fundamentals of building up the personality to reinforce the individual."

READY FOR SUIT AGAINST BEERY

LOS ANGELES, May 2.—(Universal.)—Barbara Bedford, once famous film actress, is marshalling her legal forces for a court appearance Thursday against Wallace Beery, screen star, whom she accuses of concealing property held in trust for her 8-year-old daughter, Barbara Edith Rascoe.

The complaint, filed under Miss Bedford's true name, Violet Rose Rascoe, alleges that when the child's father, John Albert Rascoe, actor-director, from whom Miss Bedford was divorced in 1929, died in March of this year he named Beery as beneficiary of a $10,000 life insurance policy, proceeds of which were to be held in trust for his daughter.

The plaintiff sets fort that, in behalf of the child, she has made frequent demands to Beery that he make an accounting. In each instance, she recites, he has refused.

Lindsay to Speak On Election Reform

Pending election law legislation will be discussed by Attorney Alexander P. He will be introduced by S. D. Barton, president of the association.

FAT MEN AND WOMEN

Should Read This

Every Man and Woman, who is overweight and wants to reduce safely without using dangerous drugs, harsh laxatives, strenuous exercises, or severe diets should use the new reducing food called SYL-VETTE. This new system of reducing is simply a food sufficiently rich in non-fattening proteins, carbohydrates and vitamines to furnish enough nourishment to keep you from feeling hungry or weak. Just one teaspoonful of Syl-vette takes the place of breakfast or lunch and has absolutely proven the fact that by reducing the amount of food you eat each day, excess fat will soon vanish, because food and food alone creates fat. Syl-Vette is the one absolutely safe way to reduce and is guaranteed not to contain any thyroid or other harmful drugs or ingredients. 30-day treatment only $1. Ask any of these Department Stores about Syl-Vette. JOSEPH HORNE CO., ROSENBAUM CO., BOGGS & BUHL, GIMBELS or McCREERY'S.

SUPPLIES BILL HALVES VET EXPENSES

WASHINGTON, May 2.—(AP.)—A half billion dollar supply bill, nearly halving this year's huge veteran outlays and giving President Roosevelt sweeping new powers to pare government costs, was reported to the House today by its appropriations committee.

It provided a total of $535,568,883, or just $5,053 more than the budget bureau recommended for operating the government's independent executive agencies in the 1934 fiscal year.

Of the aggregate, $506,838,000 was allotted the veterans administration.

VETERANS CUT

This sum in the bill compared with current appropriations for the same offices of $1,024,286,041, of which $948,799,000 went to the veterans administration.

The independent offices bill of the last Congress — vetoed by President Hoover—carried $1,003,314,981.

In addition to operating expenses, the bill would appropriate also $79,591,043 for permanent fixed allottments which compares with $81,070,850 this year.

BROAD POWERS

But besides providing funds, the bill contains broad legislative powers to be exercised by the President. They include authority:

To modify or cancel any government transportation contract;

To retire any civil service employe having 30 years' service. There are 21,000 employes in this class.

To increase existing charges for government services or articles.

To furlough on half pay at his discretion any officers of the Army, Marine corps, public health service, Coastguard or coast and geodetic survey.

To suspend or reduce the extra flight pay in the military services with a proviso that no flight pay shall exceed $1,440 annually.

Zoo Manicurists Kicked Out by Oxen

KANSAS CITY, May 2.—(AP.)—Elephants, zebras and water buffaloes didn't seem to mind having their feet manicured at Swope Park Zoo today, but four musk oxen objected strenuously.

Eight employes were required to trim their hooves. Two men were butted and kicked out of the barn. First aid was required by all eight after they "ganged" the animals, one at a time.

4TH OFFENDER FIGHTS 'LIFE'

Argument was heard yesterday by Superior Court on the appeal of Lawrence Woodward, Corry, convicted under the habitual criminal act and sentenced to the Western Penitentiary for life.

Woodward, alias Montana Slim, has been convicted four times for breaking into railroad cars, and once for perjury. The act of 1929 provides a life sentence upon the fourth conviction of a criminal offense.

Woodward's counsel held the interpretation of the words "car burglary" are involved and that the offense should not be construed to include violation of the act of 1887. Consequently Woodward should have been sentenced the term the latter act provides and not under the habitual criminal act, it was maintained.

The prosecution contends the term "entering with intent to steal" as embodied in the 1929 act was meant to include all criminal entering.

Constitution Now Obsolete, Says Ex-Navy Head

QUINCY, Mass., May 2.—(INS.)—Former Secretary of Navy Charles Francis Adams is of the opinion that the Constitution has outlived its usefulness.

Calling for support of the administration of President Roosevelt, the ex-Secretary said last night the old Constitution was drawn up for fishermen in seaboard states in the 1700's and was being used to control an entire country in which conditions are different.

Seize 130 Gallons Of Buried Whisky

After a four-hour search over more than 130 acres of farmland, near Allison Park, prohibition agents yesterday found 130 gallons of whisky, they reported. The liquor was buried in the ground under a porch of a house.

Beaver County detectives and agents from this city confiscated a 75-gallon still in a building in Pennsylvania avenue, Rochester. Thirteen gallons of moonshine and 728 gallons of mash were destroyed.

'WIZARD' MAKES CORN POP IN COLD SPOT

Corn is popped between two jars of ice water, an incandescent lamp lights with a match, and sound passes over a light beam, in an electrical demonstration by Dr. Ellis Manning, of the General Electric Laboratories, Schenectady, New York.

Dr. Manning's demonstration of modern science is on display twice daily this week in the Joseph Horne Company store. Before an audience of more than 300, these phenomena of electricity were explained by Dr. Manning last night.

A special invitation is extended to teachers of science and students. Transmission of music and code signals over a beam of light are featured.

Medical science is offered some new theories for cures of heretofore incurable diseases. An electric artificial "fever" is created in corn seeds that causes them to pop between two jars of ice water.

In his "House of Magic" Dr Manning with a "light seeing" tube illustrates the principles of ventilation in the Holland tubes, and the principles of the traffic count there.

The demonstrations will be given twice daily this week in Horne's auditorium by Dr. Manning.

HUSBAND CRUEL, ORGANIST SAYS

Minnie Gable, 28, of 7236 Kedron street, former organist at the United Presbyetrian Church, Pitcairn, brought charges of cruel and barbarous treatment, indignities and desertion against Harry R. Gable, 31, Hillsdale avenue, in a divorce hearing before Judge Frank P. Patterson.

They were married July 22, 1925, and separated July 15, 1931. Her husband was discourteous to friends, pouted and wouldn't speak to her for a week at time and was a poor provider, Mrs. Gable declared. During the two years the couple lived at Irwin, she declared, Sunday after Sunday his growls and grumbles nearly made her late for her organ playing in the Pitcairn church.

Desertion charges were heard today by Judge Patterson, brought by Mary Masloff, of 5708 Phillips avenue, against Jack Masloff, of 241 Dinwiddie street. They were married in Braddock on April 20, 1931, and he deserted her the same day, she said.

Taxpayers Must Pay Up to Get 10-Mill Cut

WASHINGTON, Pa., May 2.—(AP.)—The School Board of Cecil Township offers to trade taxpayers a 10-mill cut in 1933 taxes for payment of delinquent assessments amounting to $29,000.

Taxpayers had asked the board to cut the rate from 25 to 15 mills, cut teachers' salaries 30 per cent, and revise property assessments downward 50 per cent. The board replied with the trade proposal.

Attorney to Speak On Socialist Plan

Maurice Schnerov, Pittsburgh attorney, will lecture on "The Socialist Plan for America—A New Social Order," at the Gladstone School, Hazelwood, at 8 o'clock tomorrow night.

He speaks under the auspices of the Fifteenth Ward branch of the Socialist party.

Homewood Man Beaten by Thief

Investigating a noise at his chicken coop early today, Paul Holtman, 7436 Mt. Vernon street, was slugged by a Negro chicken thief who escaped with 12 chickens, Holtman reported to police.

TELLS FAT FOLKS HOW SHE REDUCED

"I am 23 years old and weighed 180 pounds. I have taken 3 jars of Kruschen Salts and have reduced 8 pounds and I think it will reduce me to normal weight. I think it's wonderful." Miss Leatha Ford, Dillon, S. C. (Nov. 3, 1932).

"To lose fat and at the same time gain in physical attractiveness and feel spirited and youthful, take one-half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water before breakfast every morning.

"A jar that lasts 4 weeks costs but a trifle at any drug store in the world, but be sure and get Kruschen Salts, the SAFE way to reduce wide hips, prominent front and double chin and again feel the joy of living—money back if dissatisfied after the first jar.

Patricia Pitt's Sprightly Comment on Pittsburgh Society Happenings

In Mayfair
–With–
Patricia Pitt

Spring has more to boast of this year than balmy days, flowers and stretches of green lawns. Never before within such a short time, it seems, have there been so many betrothals of note, particularly in Sewickley. Today brings a most interesting one to add to the list.

The William Christopher Robinsons, of Franklin Farm, Sewickley Heights, and Ridge avenue, North Side, announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Franklin Robinson, to William Dickson George, Jr., son of the William Dickson Georges, of Sewickley. She made her debut several seasons ago, and is a member of the Junior League.

* * *

Her cousin, Madelaine Alexander, is betrothed to William A. Gordon, III. Another member of the same set in Sewickley, Katherine Collin, is engaged to Robert R. Forrester, Jr., of New York. And Harriet Ramsburg's engagement to R. Putnam Goldsbury was made known just several months ago.

Engaged To Marry

Emily Frew, of Pittsburgh, who married Henry Oliver, Jr., of Sewickley, yesterday in Calvary Episcopal Church, is a member of the same set.

* * *

The Children's Charity of the Presbyterian Hospital will meet in the East End Young Men's Christian Association Building tomorrow for an all-day sewing. Mrs. Sydney A. Chalfant is president of the society, by the way. There'll be a luncheon with Mrs. Fannie R. Ayres as chairman.

Charity To Meet

* * *

The Edgewood Country Club will hold its opening woman's golf day in the Edgewood Country Club Friday, May 12. The women will play in the morning with a luncheon at 1 o'clock in the club house. Mrs. William F. McCrady is golf chairman.

Ambridge Junior Club Dance On May 6

A dance in the Eagles Club on May 10 will end the season for the Ambridge Junior Women's Club. The committee in charge includes the president, Miss Margaret McMaster; Miss Helen McNees, chairman, and Miss Lydia Yacovoni.

The Choral Club, composed of both seniors and juniors, will have its annual spring concert this evening in the Presbyterian Church, Mrs. Ray Peezel directing.

Soloists will include Miss Pearl Haskell, organist, who will also be accompanist; Miss Laura eJan Rice, pianist, and Miss Yacovoni, violinist. Miss McMaster will contribute readings.

* * *

The May meeting of the Allegheny County Council of the American Legion Auxiliary will be held at the Congress of Clubs tomorrow afternoon.

"Poppy Day," a drill by the Junior Auxiliary of the South Hills Unit 156, under the direction of Mrs. J. W. Bridges, will be a part of the entertainment. The girls will appear in their new uniforms, which they earned themselves by decorating and selling pencils.

Readings will be given by Mrs. J. Charles Wilson. Poppy Day, which is on May 13, will be the chief discussion topic at the business meeting.

* * *

The discovery of Easter Island on Easter Day and something of the formation of the island were described by Mrs. George Remensnyder in her paper before the Tourists yesterday.

Mrs. A. V. Crookston's paper was on Lake Trinidad and the program was completed with a description of the aurora borealis given by Mrs. Herbert W. Speight, who had seen it from different spots and at different seasons in Alaska.

The Tourists' drama day is set for May 15.

* * *

Mrs. Bertha Bayard Galbraith entertained the Monday Club of Carnegie in her home yesterday afternoon when a program on Russia was given.

Mrs. Arthur Schreiber told of the colorful life of the Grand Duchess Marie. Mrs. William Love gave biographies of Lenin and Stalin and Mrs. Norman Glasser reviewed "Once a Grand Duke."

Music was by Mrs. Jeanne Mahey Smith, who sang three groups, one of them by Miss Mary Parsons, her accompanist.

* * *

The Pittsburgh Literary and Musical Club chose a program on Ireland for its May Day meeting yesterday.

Miss Lillian Sprague had a paper on "The Top of the Morning" and Miss Lettea Donaldson one on "The Wearing of the Green."

An open forum followed and there was music by Mrs. Emma Stucki Hansen, Mrs. Adele Eggers Furniss and Mrs. Bertha Gross King.

MR. AND MRS. HENRY OLIVER, JR., LEAVING CALVARY EPISCOPAL AFTER THEIR WEDDING

Frew-Oliver Wedding Unites Old Families

Two old Pittsburgh families were united yesterday afternoon when vivacious Emily Frew, the William Frew's older daughter, became the bride of Henry Oliver, Jr., son of the Henry Olivers, of Sewickley, in Calvary Episcopal Church. And the guests represented every family in the social register.

Easter lilies banked the altar, with bamboos and cibotium ferns forming a screen on either side, with Cathedral tapers lighting the scene. Officiating was the Rev. Dr. Edwin J. Van Etten.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore two veils over her ivory-satin gown, a tulle veil cascading over a veil of lovely, heavy cream lace. The gown of lustrous, heavy satin, was fashioned with a V-neck, and long sleeves, rather full over the elbow and tight-fitting at the wrist, and a long train falling from the skirt. Her bouquet was of fragrant lilies of the valley and white orchids.

Has Two Veils

Spring's own colors, spring leaf-green and delicate yellow, were repeated in the gowns and hats of her attendants.

The former Peggy Milligan, Mrs. H. Myron Wilson, Jr., of Cleveland, as matron of honor, and Margaretta Frew as her sister's maid of honor, wore yellow silk frocks, resembling taffeta in luster, having capes formed of a triple ruffle of yellow organza, and wide-brimmed hats of yellow straw bordered with yellow silk. Around the crown was a band of yellow silk tied in back in a flat bow.

They carried colorful bouquets of Talisman roses, white lilacs, sprays of yellow and rose snapdraggons and African daisies, showered with the daisies.

Colorful Bouquets

Similar costumes in green were worn by bridesmaids, Virginia Frew Wright, Lydia Irish, Mary Franklin Robinson, Rebecca Doyle, Mrs. William C. Robinson, Jr., Mrs. William H. Trimble, Mrs. Wilson M. Book, of Westfield, N. H., and Mrs. John Watts, of New York. And their bouquets were like those of the maid and matron of honor.

R. Norman Semler, of New York, was best man, and Joseph W. Oliver, W. D. George, Jr., William C. Robinson, Jr., William Lloyd Standish III, David Oliver Shoemaker, of New York; David Oliver Ross, of Morristown, N. J.; Waldo W. Green, Wendell B. Thompson and Dr. Carnes Weeks, all of New York, and Charles J. Heller, of Detroit, were ushers.

The wedding reception was held in the home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. William N. Frew, of Fifth avenue.

The bride's mother wore flowered yellow chiffon with a large brown straw hat, and Mrs. Oliver a navy blue crepe, long jacket over ashes of roses crepe figured in blue, and a navy blue turban. Mrs. William N. Frew was in black and white heavy, rough crepe with a hat to match.

Flowered Chiffon

Among the guests were Mrs. R. B. Mellon in a black and white printed dress with a black hat with white for accent, the W. L. Mellons, the James Verner Scacifes, Mrs. Mortimer Miller, the John Lawrences with Mrs. Lawrence in black crepe with puffed sleeves, and a black hat.

Katharine Frazer was in black crepe dress with a guimpe-effect of red, green and white plaid taffeta, having puffed sleeves showing through slashed black crepe sleeves. Her black sailor hat had a matching band of the taffeta.

Mrs. T. M. Jones III wore a suit of blue pebble crepe with pagoda sleeves, Mrs. Herbert A. May, Mrs. W. W. Goldsborough, Jr., Mrs. James McKay, Mrs. T. J. Hilliard, Nancy Brown, Mrs. Ledlie W. Young wore beige crepe with a cape and a belt of red with a hat to match, Mrs. Gordon Fisher, Jr., and her mother, Mrs. E. V. Babcock.

In Suit Of Blue

Others were Martha Edmondson, Betty McCance, Katherine Collin in a shell-pink heavy crepe suit, and a black mandarin hat with a nose veil, Mrs. Lewis A. Park, Clara Dorothea Jenkins and her mother, Mrs. T. C. Jenkins.

Evelyn Evans was there, and so were Louise Evans and her mother, Mrs. Henry Oliver Evans, Mrs. William Doolittle, Virginia Drake, Lucile Todd, Betty McKay, Juliet Hillman, Mrs. Wallace H. Rowe, Jr., Mary Carroll and her mother, Mrs. W. C. Carroll, Margaret and Caroline Holdship, Dr. and Mrs. Robert Milligan and Mrs. F. I. Merrick.

Madelaine Alexander in black jacket over a black and white printed frock and a white sailor hat, was there with her fiance, William A. Gordon III, Rebecca Doyle, and many others.

The guests also include Mrs. W. C. Robinson and her daughter, Althea; Mrs. T. A. McGinley, Mary Elizabeth Floyd, Mrs. John Worthington, Mrs. W. Terrell Johnson, Mrs. Raymond Ford Moreland, Mrs. James I. Kay, Mrs. George S. Ebbert and the Merrill Wrights.

Among Guests

Also attending were Mrs. W. Harry Brown, Mrs. C. A. Painter, Jr., Margaret Painter, the George S. Olivers and Laura Oliver, the Samuel Harden Churches, the George W. Crawfords, the John C. Dilworths, the John Z. S. Laughlins, the James Magees, the Alan Magee Scaifes, the B. F. Joneses III, the Carroll Fitzhughs and the junior W. P. Snyders, the A. L. Robinsons.

The A. Rex Flinns were there, Capt. and Mrs. Cyrus R. Miller, the R. T. Fricks, the junior George C. Burgwins, Mrs. J. F. Byers, the Howard Heinzes, the Bennett Olivers, Mrs. D. M. Clemson, Mrs. Shirley Austin, Mrs. Charles S. Shoemaker and Miss Helen Rauh.

Press Club Told About Marionettes by Podrecca

Four miles of string, 15 tons of material and 800 puppets, each weighing from 20 to 30 pounds, are used in his Teatro Dei Piccoli, showing at the Nixon theater this week, Vittorio Podrecca told the Women's Press Club yesterday afternoon.

Each marionette in his "theater of the little ones" is an instrument upon which the puppeteer plays, Senor Podrecca said in enthusiastic but somewhat halting English in which he was frequently assisted by his wife.

Together they told of the manifold attractions of their marionettes, of the color, the music, movement and costumes, some of which have been designed by the famous Caramba.

Although he has appeared before many kings and presidents (he carries a diamond studded, crested watch, a gift from the King of Italy) Senor Podrecca says the American public is his best audience.

Breakfast Opens 10 Day Drive At Y. W.

MRS. CHARLES M. BREGG

Pink-blossoming almond trees, sprays of spring flowers and a little electric fountain made a most attractive affair of the breakfast given yesterday at Central Young Women's Christian Association to mark the opening of a 10-day membership education campaign.

Each of the four branches in the Pittsburgh Y. W. C. A. will have its own special observance to which breakfast yesterday was a general inauguration. More than 125 persons were present.

Mrs. Howard Smith, chairman of the campaign, presided and there were three intimate little talks. In the first, Mrs. Samuel Hamilton, Jr., told that the "Y" has provided 3,691 nights' lodging; 4,325 meals and employment, either full time or part for 1,140 persons, as part of its free service.

She spoke, too, of the schools which have been conducted at East Liberty and Central branches in which 469 high school graduates have been enrolled. So successful has this proved that another school is to be opened in October with both advanced and beginners classes.

Miss Dorothy Henderson, of East Liberty branch, described the release and escape from drudgery and monotony and the opportunity for self-expression which the "Y" affords the business girl. The richness of fellowship which the "Y" achieves through its common world interests was stressed by Miss Ida M. Allerton.

The purpose of the 10-day campaign is two-fold, to acquaint the public with "Y" work and to obtain new members. One life membership was announced yesterday.

Catholic Convention Chairmen Announced

Chairmen appointed for the annual diocesan convention of the Pittsburgh Council of Catholic Women on May 18 are: Program committee, Mrs. Mary T. Horan; ushers, Miss R. A. Good; decorations, Mrs. L. J. Feinaugle; rules of order, Mrs. W. D Brown; registration, Mrs. James A. Byrne; credentials, Mrs. John O'Donnell; membership, Mrs. Margaret Murray; hospitality, Mrs. John H. Roney; publicity, Miss Catherine A. O'Donnell; luncheon, Mrs. Mamie A. Bittner; nominations, Mrs. William P. Lange; resolutions, Mrs. L. P. Shea.

A special feature of the convention will be the exhibits from the various organizations. The Tabernacle Society will have a display of ecclesiastical art vestments, church linens and other articles.

South Hills College Club Elects Officers

Next year's officers, newly elected by the South Hills College Club, are: President, Mrs. T. C. Cheeseman; vice president, Mrs. A. D. Robb, Jr.; Miss Lillian Green, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Ivan Miller, recording secretary; Miss Louise Koenig, treasurer; Mrs. W. A. Stolzing, publicity secretary.

This evening the retiring president, Mrs. L. L. Greer, will entertain the old and new boards at dinner in her home in Roycroft avenue, Mt. Lebanon.

Templar Auxiliary Will Meet Tomorrow

The Ladies' Auxiliary to Allegheny Commandery, No. 35, Knights Templar, of which Mrs. C. M. Gates is president, will meet in Malta Temple, North Side, tomorrow at 1:30 o'clock.

Immediately after the business meeting there will be a social session.

THE NEW FASHIONS "MEASURE UP" ARCHITECTURALLY SPEAKING

AN EXCELLENT example of the architectural shoulder is shown in the suit at the left. It is of heavy corded pique. The shoulders are stitched straight across the top. A whimsical blouse of brown and white check is tied with a string bow of rolled brown linen.

* * *

THE SHOULDERS are the mainstay of interest again in the jacket dress in the center. The heavy-sheer silk is dark blue with a broken stripe design interspersed with white dots. A tiny tuck at a 45-degree angle at the armhole makes the sleeve stand out at the shoulder. The swagger jacket with finger-tip length sleeves is built with modified broad shoulders. The jabot of white georgette, scalloped and falling in folds, and the black patent belt with brilliants, are exquisite details.

* * *

FOR FASTIDIOUS daytime wearing is the brown, lightweight wool coat at the right. An extremely new upstanding shoulder pleat brings it into the architectural fashion group. The finely corded white pique scarf, brown leather belt with brown bone buckle, the side opening, and the fact that the coat is lined throughout, although it might pass as a dress, are intriguing details.

SMART SET WEARS PRINTS TO THEATER

Prints are leading the styles in spring evening gowns to judge by the frocks worn by the smart set at the Nixon last night for the Pittsburgh opening of "Piccoli," the inimitable marionette show.

And the prints aren't namby-pamby affairs, but bold fascinating designs in strong colors on lighter backgrounds, chiefly white. With such striking material the gowns are made simply, of course, with the wide-shoulder style emphasized more than ever.

Mrs. J. Porter Gillespie's gown was a striking print—a large red flower painted on a white background with leaves of dark blue and an occasional red leaf for variation.

Large white and yellow daisies with red and blue worked in, too, distinguished Frances Fitzgerald's printed evening dress, having narrow ruffles at the decolletage.

The swagger coat may have an inning in the evening as well as at day-time affairs. Over her heavy white crepe gown, Caroline Mitchell wore a swagger type evening jacket of red matelasse having the full sleeves shirred into the armholes.

Betty Kennedy wore pebbly yellow crepe, Patricia Witherow heavy white ribbed silk with shell-pink velvet at the bodice and her mother, Mrs. David McG. Witherow, hyacinth blue chiffon.

Mrs. F. G. Blackburn was in printed crepe, Mrs. Simon T. Patterson in black crepe with wide wings of white organdie over the shoulders; Mrs. T. J. Jones III, in chartreuse green crepe with an interesting jacket, printed in brown and chartreuse green, having epaulettes.

Katharine Fraser, who wore forget-me-not blue satin, arrived with her mother, Mrs. James G. Fraser and Mrs. C. E. Borntraeger; Mrs. F. G. Gwinner III, was in blue crepe; Mrs. Charles Flaccus in shell-pink heavy lace; Mrs. Edward W. Woods, red crepe.

Others there were Katherine MacCloskey, the John W. Lawrences, Mrs. A. P. Brill, La Salle Dorrance, Mrs. H. K. Whittmer, Mrs. Harold Williams, Virginia Louise Johnston in pink chiffon and her mother, Mrs. Charles Howard Johnston.

A RADICAL innovation! . . . Not a mere improvement in sanitary protection . . . but something new, different.

Kotex, with the New Patented Equalizer, gives 20 to 30% greater protection. The center equalizer not only increases protection but makes it more adequate, more comfortable—because edges stay dry, removing all danger of irritation through chafing.

Ends must be "phantomized"

Mere rounded ends are not enough. They must be flattened, embossed. Kotex—and Kotex only—offers this special shaping. Remember, too, that it can be worn on either side with equal protection.

Happy Wife Advises Square Deal for Husbands

Crabby husbands and naggy wives—

Have you been reading about them so much that you've come to think that there's no such thing as a happy marriage?

Or perhaps you're having your first rough sledding with the complicated job of turning Romance into the Going Business of a home, and you're so discouraged that you're willing to give up the whole struggle?

If you have—or if you are—then listen while A Very Happy Wife speaks her piece. It will be good for What Ails You!

Dear Elsie Robinson:

This is the first time that I've ever written a fan letter to anyone. But when you told the story of Millie, who married a man like Willie, who thought that woman's job was to wait on her husband, you asked to hear from some happy wives. And so here I am—one who is happy, at least!

And I am sure that there are plenty more who actually are happy, if only they would admit it. For women are queer, and it seems to me that many of them make it a pastime to discuss their husband's faults, just so they can feel important and get sympathy.

Of course, all men do have faults. But then, haven't we all plenty of them? It seems to me that if women spent more time looking for their husband's good points and less looking for their bad ones they'd have saner ideas and be much happier. None of us is perfect; I guess we weren't meant to be—and we've got to learn to take people as they come and stop getting all upset by them.

Four years of marriage have taught me a good many lessons. The first and most important are patience and understanding. When we were first married I waited on my husband hand and foot, just as Millie did. To tell the honest truth, that wasn't his fault. He really didn't like being treated like a baby. But he soon got used to it and began to expect and demand it.

FEEL NEGLECTED

I think we're all that way. It's just like spoiling a baby by picking it up and playing with it, and then putting it down and expecting it to be perfectly good.

We poor, foolish women often treat our men that way, until our babies come along. Then we can no longer give our husbands all our attention. They have come to expect it and at first feel neglected.

Then is the time when they have to be gently but firmly shown that things have changed—that we love them just as much as ever, but that now we need their help.

Men like responsibility. They like to be depended upon. I say "give a man a break and nine times out of ten he'll prove he's true blue." Of course, some are no good—but so are some women.

My husband and I have had our ups and downs. We've been poor, and sometimes we've had spats; but we've always pulled through with a grin, because neither of us shirked. We've pulled together, and we're still pulling together.

Marriage isn't a one-person job. It takes two to make a success of it, and plenty of tolerance. It is a full-time job, with many a trial, but oh, so much joy!

SQUARE DEAL

My motto is, and always has been: "Give the other fellow a break and a square deal. Meet him half-way, and most of the time he won't disappoint you." And—well, if he does, stick up your chin and try again! My husband and I try to give each other a square deal, and we don't expect too much of each other. Our marriage is a going concern, and we expect to keep it going.

Too many married people make themselves unhappy by "feeling abused" when they come up against ordinary difficulties, or by flying into a temper, instead of trying to learn how to get along. They don't give each other a break. You can't stay happy, anywhere, that way.

A VERY HAPPY WIFE.

Sounds like a 100 per cent recipe for making a happy partnership, doesn't it? But do you agree?

Fay King Believes "Home Girls'" Course Best For Happiness

I WANT TO GET AWAY FROM HERE AND MAKE SOMETHING OF MY LIFE!
FAY KING
SHE STAYS IN THE HOME TOWN AND MAKES A HAPPY MARRIAGE
IN TIME WE SEE THE MOST SUCCESSFUL CAREERS CROWNED WITH A HAPPY MARRIAGE!

By FAY KING

In so many cases a career is only the longest way 'round to happiness.

After all the struggle, the climb, the hopes, disappointments, and wear and tear of attaining success we see the famous at last find their greatest happiness and real reward in happy marriage.

Their domestic bliss and children mean more to them finally than all the glory and glamor they longed so to achieve.

And so it seems to me that the girl who is not ambitious, who stays quietly in the home town and marries the man she loves, has reached the same happiness and success sooner and more securely than the restless girl who rushes out in the world to worry and wait much longer to find this.

Heart of a Wife -:- -:- Continuation of Love's Reawakening

By ADELE GARRISON

Owen and His Driver See Autogyro Circling Overhead

Luckily, the man at the wheel of the limousine, which we saw stretched across the entrance of the mountain trail, had his face turned away from the path. He was slouched over the wheel and, I guessed with thankfulness, was a bit drowsy at the long waiting. His inattention gave Ronald and me just the fraction of a second required to flatten ourselves against the rocky bank. Otherwise he could not have helped seeing us in the moonlight.

Owen, with the bound figure of Marion held tightly in his arms, had halted his horse abruptly at the junction of the trail with the open road.

The meow of a cat suddenly pierced the air, a cry so natural that if it had not been for Carolyn's tale of the man meowing at the door of the shack in which she and Marion were held prisoners, I should have paid no attention to it. But in the light of that tale I realized that the cat cry was a signal from the lips of Charles Owen, meant to announce his arrival to the man in the limousine.

That the man recognized it, too, we knew the next instant, when he snapped into attention and, springing from the seat of the car, came up to the side of the horse upon which Owen was sitting with the inert figure of Marion in front of him. Ronald and I were so near them that, though both men kept their voices to a low pitch, we were able to hear the most of what they said.

"Do you think this a particularly auspicious time for a nap?" Charles Owen asked with a silky hauteur far more infuriating than a storm of abuse.

"Nap? Where do you get that stuff?" the man growled. "There couldn't so much as a mosquito have gone past me without my knowing it."

"If I had not given you the signal, my friend," Owen answered icily. "I could have passed you myself, without your being any the wiser."

"You're a —— —— liar," the other man retorted, not angrily, but almost impassively, as one stating a fact too well known for argument. "But you always were a crabber, Charlie, and I guess you'll be one till the cops catch up with you and you squat on the hot seat.

"But we're not getting anywhere with this buck-passing. We'd better be moving. Is this the bale of dry-goods you want transported? Why don't you let a guy have a squint at her? She must be an eyeful to be worth all this trouble."

"If you say anything more except answers to my questions," Owen said chokingly, "I'll prove my eligibility for the electric chair right here and now."

"You and how many other murderers?" the big man sneered. Then, as if realizing just how far it was safe to goad Owen, he pointed skyward, and demanded sharply:

"Say; what is that up there? An endurance stunt, or is that bird trailing us?"

"What stunt? What bird? Owen asked, and we realized with astonishment that he had not consciously heard the whirring of the auto-gyro above his head, so absorbed had he been in his dastardly and perilous undertaking.

"Have you gone blind and deaf?" the big man demanded, "that you haven't seen or heard that flyer up there? He's been circling around ever since I've been here; was here when I drove in, for that matter. I'm no authority on the air game, but it strikes me that he's flying too low for an endurance stunt."

"That may be," Owen replied, but his tone held no anxiety. "However, I'm not worrying about it. The woods have been full of flyers these last few days; some sort of government test, I believe. They've been doing all sorts of stunts. This is probably one of them.

"But I've something besides flyers to worry over. Open the door of that car, and then come back here and help. Quick; hold this horse!"

For from the apparently inert bundled figure before him had come a muffled but distinct, anguished cry:

"Oh! Ronald! Where are you?"

Gritty Sandwiches

Mustard and cress sandwiches sometimes taste slightly gritty owing to the difficulty of removing the seeds. When washing the salad, add a little vinegar to the water, the seeds then sink to the bottom and this unpleasant little gritty matter is thus removed.

Contract Bridge -:- -:- HOW TO PLAY and HOW TO WIN

By JOSEPHINE CULBERTSON

Selecting the Lead

Undoubtedly, more contracts are made at the Bridge table through ill-considered Opening leads than almost any other single cause. Many hands present serious problems in the choice of a correct lead, due to tenace holdings or to other situations that make the choice of the correct suit and the correct card one that requires thought and consideration; and there is a possibility, even with careful consideration, that the final choice may not be the best one.

A player who has a reputation for being able to select, with almost uncanny accuracy, the correct suit to open and the correct card to lead is Mr. Michael Gottlieb, a member of a famous New York club's team-of-four and winner of many championship events. Recently, in a practice match, played by my husband and me as partners against Mr. Theodore A. Lightner and Mr. Gottlieb as partners, the following hand was dealt:

North, Dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.

	Mr. Golttieb ♠ K 5 ♡ 7 6 5 4 ◇ K 10 2 ♣ K Q 7 5
Mr. Culbertson ♠ A Q 9 ♡ K J 9 3 2 ◇ 8 ♣ J 9 8 4	North West East South	Mrs. Culbertson ♠ J 10 3 ♡ A Q 8 ◇ A J 7 5 4 ♣ 10 6
	♠ 8 7 6 4 2 ♡ 10 ◇ Q 9 6 3 ♣ A 3 2

Mr. Lightner

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
		Pass	1 ◇
Pass	1 ♡	Pass	2 ♡
Pass	4 ♡	Pass	Pass
Pass

The bidding, it will be noticed, follows strictly conventional lines. The Opening diamond bid, Mr. Culbertson's response, my Raise and his Jump to game are all warranted by the cards held. In fact, the hand would be made against anything but the best possible defense.

The natural, unthinking lead on this hand would be the club King, establishing a trick in clubs, regardless of the location of the Ace, and, if partner holds the club Ace, permitting the collection of 2 tricks in that suit before the lead is surrendered. However, this perfectly natural lead would result in the making of the contract, as a study of the cards will show. It actually sacrifices one of the most important elements—namely, the element of time—and if the club King is the Opening lead, the time lost to the Declarer can never be regained. The contract will be made, as Dummy's trumps can then be utilized to ruff losing clubs in the West hand, and perhaps, in the process, establish 1 club trick as a winner. It will thus be seen that the thoughtless lead is the losing lead.

Mr. Gottlieb studied the situation, without seeing any of the hands, and selected, without hesitation, the point of attack that to him appeared the most probable means of success. In other words, he led a trump, reasoning that with Mr. Culbertson's bid and Rebid of the heart suit, which I had assisted, such a lead could not possibly hurt his partner's hand, and, quite probably, a trump lead would reduce the ruffs available to Dummy. This proved correct. Against the trump lead, game could not be made, as all efforts to utilize any trumps in Dummy for club ruffs were defeated.

As a result of the choice of the Opening lead, the contract of four hearts, which would have been made against less accurate defense, was set 1 trick.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Avoid the Menace of Apoplexy

Dr. Copeland

Recently an eminent physician published an interesting and instructive report on the subject of cerebral hemorrhage. I will not burden you with the figures of his extensive study. The report shows that cerebral hemorrhage, or "apoplexy," as it is more commonly called, continues to be a serious menace.

Apoplexy, or "stroke," is due to a rupture of a small artery in the brain. If severe hemorrhage takes place, pressure of the blood on the brain will cause the victim to become unconscious. If the hemorrhage is mild and little blood is lost, the afflicted individual recovers. But usually some form of paralysis results from the hemorrhage.

The paralysis may be mild, involving an arm or leg. In other cases, where the stroke has been more severe, complete paralysis of one side of the body occurs. The side involved is deprived of power of motion and sensation, with a general feeling of numbness.

When the hemorrhage occurs on the right side of the brain, there is a paralysis of the left side of the body. If the hemorrhage is on the left side of the brain, the paralysis occurs on the right side of the body. This is explained by a crossing of the nerve fibers at the base of the brain. If the hemorrhage is profuse or if it involves the base of the brain, both sides of the body are afflicted. In such cases recovery is doubtful.

It is a good thing to take stock of ourselves once in a while. I am confident that as a result of this report and other surveys, increased efforts will be made to reduce the frequency of cerebral hemorrhage. Please bear in mind that apoplexy is not a disease in and of itself. It is the result of continued negligence of certain disorders of the body.

This condition is usually seen in persons beyond the age of fifty. It rarely occurs in young adults. The rupture or escape of blood into the brain is associated with such defects as high blood pressure, arteriosclerosis, or hardening of the arteries, heart disease and kidney disease. Since these are largely preventable, many of the deaths from cerebral hemorrhage could have been avoided if necessary precautions had been taken.

No unreasonable demands should ever be placed upon the body. It should not be called upon for overwork when it is tired.

The victims of apoplexy are usually those who failed to heed the warnings given by nature. Many sufferers from high blood pressure are careless in their mode of living. Victims of hardening of the arteries ignore such symptoms as dizziness, sleeplessness, mental irritability or impairment of memory. Apoplexy may be the result. No one will deny that the onset of these cases is dependent upon the extent of the original disease. The willingness of the patient to follow the advice of the attending physician will result in removing the danger of having brain hemorrhage.

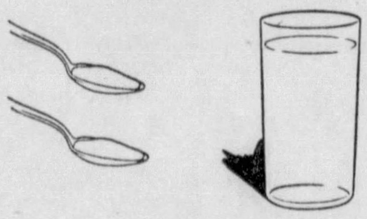
HOW TO TELL IF YOU HAVE ACID STOMACH

And How to Stop It Instantly

THE SIGNS OF ACID STOMACH

Nervousness	Sour Stomach	Loss of Appetite
Neuralgia	Mouth Acidity	Frequent Headaches
Indigestion	Nausea	Feeling of Weakness
Auto-intoxication		Sleeplessness

WHAT TO DO FOR IT



TAKE—2 teaspoonfuls of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia in a glass of water every morning when you get up. Take another teaspoonful thirty minutes after eating. And another before you go to bed.

According to many authorities, some 80% of the people of today have acid stomach. This because so many foods, comprising the modern diet, are acid forming foods.

It usually makes itself felt in headaches, nausea, "gas," "biliousness," and most frequently in stomach pains that come about thirty minutes after eating. So you can easily tell if you have it.

Now Quickly and Easily Corrected

If you do have acid stomach, don't worry about it. You can correct it in a very simple manner. Just do this. It will alkalize your acid soaked stomach almost immediately. You will feel like another person.

TAKE—2 teaspoonfuls of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia with a glass of water every morning when you get up. Take another teaspoonful thirty minutes after eating. And another before you go to bed.

What This Does

That's all you do. But you do it regularly, EVERY DAY, so long as you have any symptoms of distress.

This acts to neutralize the stomach acids that foster your "upset" stomach, that invite headaches and that feeling of lassitude and lost energy.

Try it. Results will amaze you. Your head will be clear. You'll forget you have a stomach.

BUT—be careful that you get REAL milk of magnesia when you buy; genuine PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia. See that the name "Phillips" is stamped clearly on the label.

ALSO IN TABLET FORM:

Phillips' Milk of Magnesia Tablets are now on sale at drug stores everywhere. Each tiny tablet is the equivalent of a teaspoonful of Genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

Neutralizes Food and Tobacco Acids a few minutes after taking.

That the Australian natives have the cutest way of greeting. They stick out their tongues at each other. (Like this—ehhhh!)

That the swaying to and fro of a chandelier in a cathedral gave Galileo the idea of the pendulum. (Not Pendulum Franklin!)

That Sir Walter Scott was veddy, veddy dumb as a student. A professor at Edinburgh University said of him: "A dunce he is and a dunce he will remain!"

That you are aiding the Japs in their warfare when you trade in your old car. Much of this old steel goes to Japanese steel mills. Export of auto junk has increased 2000 per cent since the Jap tiff.

That a certain ciggie firm is right. The University of Michigan, in an experiment, proved that the lighting of a cigaret actually aids in maintaining nonchalance in moments of stress.

That the convict industries at Sing Sing finished the fiscal year with a net profit of $258,500. (Most firms lost money).

That the Eskimos do not kiss. The kiss is unknown there as well as to the Madagascar and other tribes in Africa. (That's Africa!)

That nearly 800 letters are placed in mail boxes every day without any address on them. (Such dopes!)

That the word "simpleton" was originally applied to persons of honest candor—straightforward and simple—like you, dear.

That drunks are rarely injured by falls. The reason being that breakage of bones is caused more by resistance of the tendons than by violence of the shock incident to the faw down and go oop!

That Helen of Troy was 60 when Paris fell in love with her.

That if you ask any average intelligent man or woman the name of last month, it will usually take him or her twice as long to think of it than if you asked the name of next month!

That in the Arctic region a man, who wants a divorce, leaves home in anger and doesn't return for several days. The wife takes the hint and departs. (The roads there are terrible, however!)

Piccoli Have Everything Excepting Brains, Maybe Those

By GEORGE SEIBEL

It is hard to understand why there was so much fuss about the threatened discontinuance of the Metropolitan Opera in New York, when New Yorkers had the Piccoli and knew they could take the place of Gatti Casazza's expensive Camorra. The Piccoli have come to Pittsburgh, and last night at the Nixon demonstrated their ability to provide any form of entertainment, from a concert by De Pachmann to a bullfight in Valencia, from a colored revue to a comic opera.

Mr. Seibel

Those mannikins are marvelous. Signor Podrecca ought to carry a physician along with his troupe—not merely an osteopath, either, for these little histrionic figures have muscles, glands, lungs and liver, souls and sex. They justify the French savant who wrote a book to prove that "Man Is a Machine." These machines are in some ways superior to men. Acrobats and dancers who perform feats the human organism would lack the elasticity and the rhythmic speed to perform—evolutions that defy imitation by any ballerina—these dolls operated by strings from above show they are easy if you know how and have no bones to break.

BULL AND DONKEY

The first part of the program closed with a bull-fight that was more exciting than Eddie Cantor with the Taurus of the Zodiac. The proud and fierce beast of the arena displayed an agility matched only by his sense of humor.

But even this bovine hero was outclassed by a performing Donkey so human that Darwin surely made a mistake in his "Descent of Man." This Donkey did everything but make puns—and perhaps he considered them beneath him.

Then there was Mistinguett, with real tendons and muscles in her million-dollar legs—and there was Josephine Baker, exotic and erotic in her languors and abandons. Yes, sir, these marionettes have sex appeal and ought to be psycho-analyzed.

A CONCERT PARTY

The climax of the entertainment was reached when a pianist went through all the maneuvers of a Paderewski and a quartet sang the famous foursome from "Rigoletto" with all the artistic accompaniments of stage-fright, angina pectoris and high C.

Just before this we had been transported to Naples, where a full moon sailed over smoking Vesuvius and the Castel del Ovo stretched its long finger into the bay. There was also a Venetian scene with several natural gondolas and an illuminated Bucentoro.

"The Geisha," that Sidney Jones rival of "The Mikado," was presented in a tabloid version with good voices, and you could almost see the singers' lips moving. When Miss Legnetti sang "O Sole Mio" a little later, some people criticised her breath control, but it was really perfect.

The Piccoli are an entertainment in which the beauty of the scenes, the variety of the numbers, the humor and poetry of the performances, can be matched only by the intelligence of the cast. Who would have thought wood and paint and strings could work such marvels?

Plays and Players

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

Come Thursday and seats will be on sale in the Nixon box-office for next week's attraction, George M. Cohan in his new play, "Pigeons and People," a full-length play, but all in one act. This, one might say, is the opposite of the Eugene O'Neill idea of giving one play in nine acts, with time out for eats. According to eastern critics, "Pigeons and People" is sufficiently entertaining to keep the folks' minds off the usual entre-acte ciggie puff in the foyer, and to keep them satisfied to sit through the time generally given to intermission. Mr. Cohan, by the way, is on the stage almost continuously. There'll be the customary Wednesday and Saturday matinees.

* * *

Cohan, incidently, will not end the season here, as had been expected. That honor will go, if nothing else comes along—to Lenore Ulric, another of Pittsburgh's favorite pack-'em-iners. She'll be here the week of May 15 in "Hard-Boiled Angel," the cast which will include also Paul Kelly and Catherine Dale Owen, who is popular in the movies as well as on the stage.

* * *

Flush, the spaniel that appeared with Katherine Cornell in "The Barretts of Wimpole Street," has been written up as a book by Flora Merrill that will be published soon. The dog is one of 10 to receive medals of the New York Anti-Vivisection Society, unusual intelligence being the reason for the award.

Two English Pictures In the Cinema

German, French, Italian, Russian and Polish are outlawed in the Avenue Cinema this week, and two Hollywood pictures of last year's best crop being shown. George Arliss in "A Successful Calamity" is the one, while Ruth Chatterton in "Frisco Jenny" is the other. Two of the screen's real actors in a good romance and a realistic tragedy makes up for missing a language lesson.

'Health!'

George Arliss gives gay salutation in "The Working Man," his new starring picture that will have gala opening in its Pennsylvania premiere in the Stanley Thursday evening before an audience that will include social, civic and official leaders.

Stage Player In O'Brien Movie

By HARRISON CARROLL

(Copyright, 1933, King Features Synd., Inc.)

HOLLYWOOD, May 2.—The excitement of knowing a Hollywood picture production was waiting on her must have stimulated Claire Trevor's final performance in that Broadway show, "The Party's Over."

Miss Trevor, newest recruit for the cinema, was supposed to leave the stage play in time to report at the Fox studios in Hollywood by May 4. On that date, she takes over the job of leading woman for "Life In the Raw," George O'Brien's final picture on his Fox contract and the first acting he has done since he began holidaying away back in January.

The newcomer is blonde, with hazel eyes and is of the Sally Eilers type. She has made a few shorts, but this is her first major screen experince.

Nothing has been decided yet on George O'Brien's future at Fox, although I hear two other studios are talking contract with him.

The effect of Hollywood's munificence on the natives of Papua is brought to attention by Jack James clipping from the Papuan Villager, an island newspaper.

Reporting one of the many film expeditions into New Guinea, the local correspondent prints:

"The celebrating feast of Shackelford and Brumgold's expedition was held on the 21st ultimo. The street was full up with people, about 700 to 900.

"They have taken plenty pictures on which they have spent 347 pounds besides some pounds spent on the big feast for the people. We hope their work will be successful on their return to America. These two men, Shackelford and Brumgold, are very good, kind-hearted men."

* * *

A Beverly Hills audience was startled the other night when a woman with a foreign accent got up during the picture and hysterically denounced a scene showing a dog being killed.

It was Dorothea Wieck, Paramount's new German importation. Miss Wieck is a lover of animals and the scene, as her manager explained, was too much on top of all the amazing things she has seen since her arrival in America.

* * *

Mischa Auer, who carries a fateful air in his screen appearances, will play the assassin of Archduke Ferdinand in "Strange Rhapsody." Auer is a professional "short-ender" in pictures. He was the communist scribe in "Gabriel" and was shot as a spy in "Mata Hari."

* * *

Barbara Weeks and Richard Cromwell have taken up cycling together . . . Jack Holt used up most of his vacation teaching his son, Tim, how to play polo . . . Charles Laughton is fuming over a reported mis-quoting by his compatriot newscribes. He denies that he won't come back to Hollywood . . . William Harrigan is cast for "Disgrace", Helen Twelvetrees picture. Ken Murray, the stage-radio-film wit, goes into it, too . . . Milton M. Golden postcards from Madrid that he expects to see Ruth Chatterton, husband George Brent and Ramon Novarro in the Spanish capital . . . Gary Cooper, who was out with Sandra Shaw at the Grove the other night, frosts his burnsides for his next picture. Cary Grant ditto.

Did you know: That Wallace Beery, with a "specialist" rating of Lieutenant Commander in the Naval Reserve, is entitled to fly any model naval plane?

Romance

Mary Pickford is seen as an old-fashioned girl at the beginning of "Secrets," romantic film coming Friday to the Penn screen.

Yale Library Head Dies in Auto Crash

NORTH GUILFORD, Conn., May 2.—(Universal.)—Dr. Ridgely Hunt, head of the Linonia Library at Yale University, was killed early today when his automobile skidded and struck the abutment of the Blakeslee Bridge here.

Notes About New Films

George Arliss will make his Pennsylvania premiere bow in "The Working Man" in the Stanley Thursday evening. The current picture, "Elmer The Great," will end at 6 o'clock that day and the box-office will remain closed until 7:30 o'clock, then reopen for the Arliss picture, to be shown at 8. The festivities will be in the Hollywood style, with broadcasting, and making motion pictures of the scenes.

* * *

Gloria Swanson is starred in "Perfect Understanding," opening in the Fulton Thursday. The story concerns a young American girl who marries a son of an English peer. Michael Farmer, Laurence Oliver and Genevieve Tobin are in the picture.

* * *

Mary Pickford and Leslie Howard have the leading roles in "Secrets," romantic drama covering a period of 50 years, opening in the Penn Friday. The story begins in a little New England seaport town, with the elopement of Miss Pickford and Mr. Howard. Before it ends he is a United States Senator.

* * *

"From Hell to Heaven" opens in the Warner Friday with Jack Oakie and Carole Lombard in the leading parts. The story is about racetrack frequenters and has comedy and dramatic elements.

* * *

Dorothy Jordan and Alexander Kirkland play the leading roles in "Bondage," photoplay opening in the Davis and Sheridan Square Friday. The story concerns a young girl whose fiance deserts her at the marriage license bureau.

* * *

"Central Airport" is the photoplay coming to the Enright screen Saturday, with Richard Barthelmess and Sally Eilers playing the leading parts.

Vallee and His Band Coming Friday

John H. Harris has engaged Rudy Valee and his Connecticut Yankees to play for dancing in Duquesne Garden Friday and Saturday, May 5 and 6. The large capacity of Duquesne Garden will permit the management to hold the admission price to a minimum. Two weeks have been spent in beautifying Duquesne Garden and in perfecting the floor for dancing. Miss Alice Faye, Vallee's radio discovery, also will appear here.

Bertillion System Pioneer Succumbs

CHICAGO, May 2.—(AP.)—George N. Porteus, 72, credited with being the man who introduced the Bertillion system of identification into the United States about 40 years ago, died in the county hospital after a long illness.

Following a European trip years ago Porteus was instrumental in organizing the National Bureau of Identification in Chicago.

PITTSBURGHER HEADS ORDER

The first Pittsburgher ever to head the state organization of the Patriotic Order of Americans, Mrs. June M. Morrow, today was scheduled for election as president at the opening of a two-day convention in Hotel William Penn.

Mrs. Morrow will succeed Mrs. Laura H. Sylvester, of Philadelphia, at installation exercises tomorrow night.

A welcome was scheduled by Mayor John S. Herron at the opening business session today. A drill was being staged by the Pittsburgh Patriotic Pirates under direction of Mrs. Elizabeth Thompson.

The national president, Mrs. Reba Saunders, will install the new officers tomorrow night following the closing business session.

BROWNSVILLES VOTE ON UNION

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., May 2.—Voters of Brownsville and South Brownsville boroughs went to the polls today to cast ballots on a proposal to consolidate the sister municipalties into a single community.

It marks the first time in the boroughs' 119 years of incorporation that the issue has been put to a vote.

The polls opened at 7 a. m. with church bells ringing forth an appeal to the electorate to turn out. A record vote was expected before the five voting precincts closed 12 hours later. Ten voting machines were being used.

Political leaders predicted victory for the merger.

Coming

Rudy Vallee and his Connecticut Yankees will play for dancing in Duquesne Garden, Friday and Saturday, May 5 and 6.

ODDS AND ENDS

I MET the gentleman in Mr. Barney Gallant's establishment the night before last. He rushed up to me, pumped my hand vigorously and talked and talked and talked. He is a writer for one of the evening papers, and he had never before been particularly friendly. But now you would think that I was a long-lost father-in-law, or something.

"Well, well, well," he chirped. "So good old Mark is back again. Well, well, well! Sure is a pleasure to see you, boy. Sure is a pleasure to see you. It's been a long, long trip. Let's see, you were gone about three months, weren't you?"

I sighed.

"Seven," I replied.

"Tch, tch, tch," he tched. "Seven months! Well, it's all in the game, I suppose. And how does it feel to be back in the swing of things?"

The conversation was boring me tremendously, but I had to stand there with the old smile. I am making no more enemies. Not for the next week or so, anyhow.

"It feels great," I returned. "Nothing like getting home. It's all swell."

I turned to go—but he turned right with me.

"Tell me, Mark," he went on, "do you find it hard to write these days? I mean, does it take you longer than usual to write a column? Do you have to sit at a typewriter for a long time before you can strike a lead?"

I nodded.

"Why, yes," I asserted. "That's quite right. I didn't think of it until you mentioned it. But I do find it rather difficult to get started on a column."

He seemed genuinely pleased.

"I knew it," he cried excitedly. "I knew you'd have the same difficulty as I did. Do you know, Mark, that after I returned from my trip, it took me three days to grow accustomed to the old grind again? And you're going through the same experience."

I shrugged my shoulders.

"I guess so," I said. "But I didn't know you had been traveling. Where did you go?"

"Bermuda," he replied . . .

TWO OF Broadway's greatest characters — and, incidentally, two of my best pals—are a father and son who conduct an excellent restaurant in the West Forties. The son is daffy about his father and the father thinks there's no one like his boy. But that is only their private opinions. To the outside world, they are always battling about something or other.

Regularly, at least once a month, I should say, the old man gets into an argument with his boy and tells him to get out of the restaurant. His son storms out of the place and swears that he will never return again. And the old man swears he will never let the boy come back.

The following day, both of them are blue. The son wants to come back to work but he's too proud to do so. The father misses his son and worries about him, but he's too proud to ask him to return. So he talks to a few of the regular customers.

"Not that I want my boy back, you understand," he asserts. "It's not that at all. I just want to make sure that he's all right. Maybe, if you called him up, he might tell you something. But don't let on that I said anything."

In the end, after four or five days have passed, the son is always back in the restaurant. Everything goes well for awhile—and, boom, they're off again. Much as they care for each other, the same episode is gone through in exactly the same fashion.

For at least 15 years now, this act—with variations—has been taking place every month. And don't you ever think they don't mean what they say during an argument. It's only when they both have a chance to cool off that they realize how silly the thing is. They've grown accustomed to the situation and if things got too peaceful, I'm afraid neither father nor son would be happy.

A few weeks ago, they had one of their arguments. In the rear of the restaurant, the father wagged a finger at his son.

"Get out!" he stormed. "Get out of here—and don't you ever come back!"

Then an amazing thing happened. For the first time in all these years, the son didn't perform according to schedule. Instead of grabbing his hat and exiting with the threat that he would never return, he took a chair and seated himself very calmly.

"Listen, Pop," he murmured wearily, "do me a favor, will you? This time you get out. I'm tired of going!"

UP AT the Paradise Cafe the other night, a well known Wall streeter was talking back to Nick Blair, one of the owners of the club.

"Maybe you can help me out, Nick," said the big bond and share man. "I'm going to a masquerade ball tomorrow night and, while I have an idea in mind, I don't know exactly what to wear."

"So?" returned Nick. "And what's the idea you have in mind?"

"Well," replied the other, "I want to go as a bum. What do you think I ought to wear?"

"Very simple," advised the cafe owner. "Just put on your other suit." . . .

THE BEAUTIFUL Ziegfeld theater is now a motion picture house. I have ridden past it several times since my return, and it's one of those changes in New York to which I simply cannot accustom myself.

They tell me that, on the afternoon of the day that the theater went on motion pictures, there was an impressive memorial performance to the late Flo Ziegfeld. Had I been in New York, I would not have gone. I do not like memorials that are staged to get into the papers.

Shortly after Flo's death, a local radio station staged a radio tribute to the great producer's memory. People went and wailed—and mugs whom Flo hated while he was alive—spoke glowingly about their dear, departed friend. I was severely criticized for not attending. I would rather be criticzed a thousand times than be a party to a publicity dance that is staged on the lid of a casket.

I did not blame the radio station at that time, and I do not blame the interests today that took over the Ziegfeld Theater. If the Ziegfeld Theater has to become a film house, it is the duty of those who operate it to get as much publicity as possible. They did their job, and they did it well.

What I object to most strenuously are some of the exhibitionists who take part in these affairs. If they knew Flo well, they must certainly be aware of the fact that, were Ziegfeld to know that his prize possession had become a picture house, he would turn over in his grave.

No, my friends. Such memorials as these are unfair and hypocritical. The only true memorial is within the heart. If some of the weepers who attended that performance the other day had chipped in anonymously to keep the house from going to pictures—that would have been an honest memorial . . .

PRIZE AWARDS IN JOURNALISM ANNOUNCED

Universal Service.

NEW YORK, May 2.—Awards of the 1932 Pulitzer prizes in journalism were announced last night by Columbia University. They were:

The $500 gold medal for public service: To the New York World-Telegram for its series of articles on veterans' relief, real estate bond issue, the campaign urging voters to "write in" the name of Joseph V. McKee in the last New York City election, and articles exposing lottery schemes.

The $500 prize for correspondence: To Edgar Ansel Mowrer, Berlin correspondent of the Chicago Daily News, for series of articles on Germany.

The $500 prize for the best editorial: To the Kansas City Star for its series on national and international subjects.

The $1,000 prize for the best reporter's work: To Francis A. Jamieson, staff correspondent of the Associated Press at Trenton, for his coverage of the Lindbergh kidnaping.

The $500 prize for the best Cartoon: To H. M. Talburt, of the Washington Daily News, for cartoon, "The Light of Asia."

New York City made a clean sweep of three traveling scholarships, worth $1,500 each, given to school of journalism graduates for travel abroad to study the life and press of Europe.

The 1932 $1,500 traveling scholarship in music went to Robert Delaney, of Santa Barbara School, Carpinteria, Cal.

Announcement of the 1932 Pulitzer awards in literature will be made Thursday at a dinner at the Hotel Plaza.

4 HELD IN TWO ROBBERIES

Four men previously held for court in the $3,000 holdup of the North Side Laundry Company, Winifred and Success streets, were held last night on robbery charges in the stickup of the Atlantic Refining Company's service station, Nineteenth and Main streets, Sharpsburg.

The four were given a hearing before Justice of the Peace Anthony Ferrara, of Sharpsburg. All were identified, Ferrar said, by the holdup victims, Adam Bollmer, of 1725 Lowrie street, attendant, and Eugene Miller, Blawnox.

Those held are Lester L. Corey, 47, of 627 Clyde street;; Ray Gilliland, 28, Allison Park; Bruce Murphy, 28, of Harrisburg, and Floyd Kirk, 29, of Western avenue.

RIVER GIVES UP WOMAN'S BODY

The body of an unidentified woman, believed to have leaped into the Allegheny River on March 5, was recovered today. Joseph Uhrich, occupant of a house boat at the foot of Dasher street, found the body near his home.

Early in March Mrs. Sarah Janeda, occupant of a boat moored near the Sixth Street Bridge, reported to police that a woman had leaped from her boat. A purse containing 15 cents, shell-rimmed glasses and a handkerchief with an embroidered initial "B" was found on the deck of the boat.

OBITUARIES

Heck Funeral.

Funeral services for Mrs. Emma Heck, 66, of 910 Wood street, who died Sunday, will be held tomorrow afternoon at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Hilma McElheny, of 428 Lamar avenue, Wilkinsburg.

Mrs. Heck was born in Pittsburgh. She was a member of the German Lutheran Church of Ford City.

She leaves two sons, Carl and Herman Mutz; three daughters, Mrs. McElheny, Mrs. Emma Bonice and Mrs. Sophie Boop, both of Mansfield, O.; two brothers, Herman and Max Lindemann; three sisters, Mrs. Martha Zanze, Mrs. Minnie Brame and Mrs. Hilma Gitschier, and 13 grandchildren.

Jacobs Funeral.

Funeral services for Mrs. Margaret Mackey Jacobs, of Clairton, were held yesterday in her home. Interment will be Wednesday afternoon in Round Hill Cemetery, near Elizabeth.

Mrs. Jacobs was a member of the First Methodist Episcopal Church at Clairton, and had been a resident of that town 25 years.

She leaves two sons, David M., of Weirton, W. Va., and William H. Jacobs, of Clairton; a brother, the Rev. Samuel Mackey, of Bellevue, and two sisters, Mrs. Albert Von Hofen and Mrs. Sarah Orr, of Sewickley.

Engelhardt Funeral.

Funeral services for Albert Engelhardt, Jr., 37, of 111 Lincoln avenue, Millvale, who died Saturday in the St. Francis Hospital, were held in the Evergreen Methodist Episcopal Church, Babcock boulevard, today.

A military burial in Mt. Royal Cemetery followed the services.

He was a lifelong resident of Millvale. During the World War, he served with Company M, 52nd Infantry, 6th Division, and was a member of Millvale Post No. 118, American Legion.

He leaves his father, Albert Engelhardt, and three brothers, Elmer, Ralph and Herbert.

Mrs. Conrad Finke.

Mrs. Matilda Finke died at her home, in Middle road, Etna, yesterday.

For 15 years she was the organist of St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church. She was also a member of the L. C. D. A.

She leaves her husband, Conrad Finke, three daughters, Miss Gertrude, Miss Mary and Miss Anna; four sons, Charles, Joseph, George and Francis; two sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Soeder and Mrs. Olivia Wagner, and two brothers, Nick and George Goodman.

Bridge Funeral.

Funeral services for Miss Gertrude Bridge, who died yesterday, will be held at the home of her sister, Mrs. J. M. Geary, 744 Middle avenue, Wilmerding, Thursday. Requiem high mass will follow in St. Martin's Roman Catholic Church, Derry.

She leaves two other sisters, Mrs. P. J. Ammond and Miss Cora Bridge, and five brothers, James, Lawrence, Leanord, Dennis and George.

Cella Funeral.

Funeral services for Mrs. Anna K. Cella will be held in St. Agnes Church at 9 a. m. Thursday. She died Sunday at her home, 215 Dunseith street.

She leaves five daughters, Mrs. L. T. Gallagher, Mrs. W. J. Mannings, Mrs. J. K. McAleer, Mrs. James P. Kenney and Mrs. Helen Gessley.

Anna A. Thorp.

Mrs. Anna A. Thorp died yesterday at her home, 326 Maple avenue, Edgewood. She was born in Rawley, Pa., in 1839, and spent the greater part of her life in Oil City and Marietta, O., coming to Pittsburgh in 1930.

She was the widow of Lewis H. Thorp. She leaves two sons, Charles M., of Edgewood, and Edgar Thorp, of Franklin, Pa., and a daughter, Mrs. F. L. Reed, Edgewood.

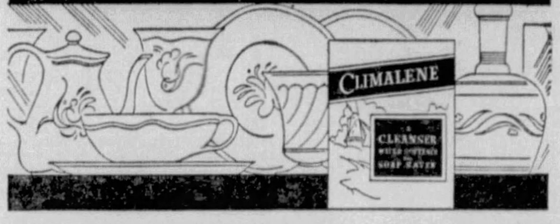
MAKES DISHES Sparkle



● To make your dishes sparkle and gleam like new, add a teaspoon of Climalene to your dishwater. ● Climalene softens hard water . . . but more than that . . . it gives water the power to dissolve grease. Thus you do your dishes in soft, lasting suds with ¼ the soap, in ½ the time or less. And your hands stay soft and smooth. ● It makes your clothes whiter. ● Get Climalene from your grocer today. He has it in the bright, shiny, blue box in two sizes, 12 oz. for 10c and 2 lbs. for 25c. The Climalene Company, Canton, Ohio.

BLANKING PHILS AT HOME RARE FEAT

THERE'S NO DENYING that it's a most unusual batting feat when two members of one club make home runs with the bases full in the same game. And the cleanup wallops of Floyd Vaughan and Earl Grace in Philadelphia yesterday were all the more pleasing to Pittsburgh fans because neither of those players had been hitting a lick and this may mean the end of both slumps. But under the heading of exceptional performances, don't overlook the pitching of Bill Swift. When any hurler shuts out the Phillies in their own bandbox park, where they have the range of the short right-field fence and are expert at bouncing the ball off the squash-court walls, it's a rare achievement. Swift must be given credit for having accomplished one of the most difficult pitching jobs in baseball.

Bill Swift

At that it's just another addition to a slab showing that has been notable since the season opened. Swift has won three games out of four and his only defeat was due to a dozing windup that enabled the Cubs to pull a double steal. In his four games, Swift has allowed only five runs, one of them unearned, and only 20 hits. In a total of 34 innings pitched he has been scored on in only three. Incidentally, the club that "hasn't got the pitching" leads both leagues in shutout victories with three.

ALWAYS A FINE pitcher, Red Lucas is even better than ever this spring, as indicated by his record of three straight wins, two of them over Lonnie Warneke, and only five runs allowed in 27 innings. The improvement is due to a change in style. The Cincinnati right-hander has adopted a sidearm delivery.

It was Jim Bottomley who engineered the shift. He told Lucas that the Cardinals always had batting practice against fast-ball pitching exclusively when they knew Red was going to face them, and that other clubs followed the same plan. They were primed for smoke when the game began. Bottomley suggested the side-arm style with a slow ball delivery to be mixed with the overhand speed.

UP TO DATE the results of the experiment have been all that Bottomley predicted, and it is expected that through the season Lucas will make even more trouble for opposing hitters than in previous years. His new style has the batters way off their feed.

Instead of coming to the plate with all of its old overhand power, the ball now shoots out from the side, a slow, baffling delivery, fired almost as Lucas used his speedball. His wind-up is the same, and that's what fools the hitters and catches them off balance.

IN SHOOTING AT Babe Ruth's record of 60 home runs in a season, Jimmy Foxx is up against a handicap aside fromhitting a less lively ball. Sixty homers by Foxx or anybody else under present conditions in the American League would be a far greater feat than the Babe's. In 1927, when Ruth made his record, fair-hit balls bounding into a stand or over a fence were home runs. Now they are only doubles. The short right field in St. Louis has been screened, and a fly that used to go for a homer is now generally a two-base hit. In Cleveland, where the old park had the shortest right field in the league, the Indians have moved to a field so large that a four-baser is almost out of the question. And in Detroit this year there is a 20-foot screen in left field, which will cut down Foxx's homers at a favorite spot. Changed conditions, if nothing else, may save Ruth's record, and prevent Foxx from doing as well as he did last season, when he piled up 58.

Max Carey

IT MAY BE a little too early for any definite conclusions, but as far as things have gone Max Carey appears to be entitled to a grin at the expense of the critics who said he had received all the worst of it when he traded the famous Dazzy Vance for the humble Owen Carroll, and slipped along Gordon Slade in exchange for Jake Flowers.

Carey insisted at the time that in giving Vance for Carroll he was swapping a big name for pitching value. Developments so far have borne him out. Carroll has won three out of four for Brooklyn, while Vance has started only once for St. Louis and did not last two innings. There may be a change later, but right now it looks as though Max knew what he was talking about.

THE OTHER PART of the deal was viewed at the time as being about a stand-off, and that the swapping of Slade for Flowers was merely an exchange of substitute infielders, with no edge for either side. But even there it seems that Carey got the better of the trading.

Flowers filled in very acceptably for the Dodgers while Glenn Wright was absent from the short field, and his ability to play second or third promises to make him a valuable reserve during the season. And Slade failed so dismally with the Cardinals that 15 other major league clubs waived on him and he has been shipped to Columbus.

THE CONCLUSION OF another soccer season in this country adds one more chapter to the interesting history of the most universal sport on the globe. It is the original style of football, and as the ball must be kicked, instead of being carried or thrown, it is the only type of football that really lives up to its name. Soccer, once called Association football, is so ancient that the Spartans are said to have played it about 500 B. C. Later the Romans adopted it and played matches with the Spartans under standardized rules. Caesar Augustus put it out of style about 28 B. C., because he didn't consider it good training for war. The game was introduced in England in the tenth century, and it has grown since to such an extent that now the sun never sets on it.

IN ITS ORGANIZED form, as controlled and operated by the International Federation, soccer is played in no fewer than 55 countries, and its general scope takes in practically every civilized country in the world. In the United States Football Association alone there are more than 2,000 clubs, not counting colleges, schools or playgrounds.

Soccer supporters contend that the game can do more for boys and young men than any other sport, that it develops self-control, the mind, initiative and originality, and requires skill and technique. It does not require any particular weight or stature of its participants, is an open style of game for the open air, affording great physical benefits with a minimum injury risk and needing little equipment.

IT HAS BEEN rumored recently that Jack Dempsey is not the real promoter of the Max Schmeling-Max Baer fight; that he sold out his end of that show to Joe Jacobs and Tim Mara for $50,000 and is only fronting for publicity.

However, Dempsey continues to act as if he were still in command, not only of the battle of the Maxes, but of the title match in which the winner is expected to appear three months afterward. Having wound up the Schmeling tour and taken Baer to Hartford last night for an exhibition, Jack will give his full attention to preparations for the June show, and he expects to do some preliminary maneuvering meanwhile in connection with the proposed championship bout in September.

Johnny Buckley

DEMPSEY HAS BEEN pressed for a statement on the demand made by Johnny Buckley, manager of Jack Sharkey, that Sharkey be given a bonus of $25,000 merely for signing a contract to meet the winner of the Schmeling-Baer fight, but evidently the former champion has learned too much about promoting to put himself on record with any definite reply. "It will all depend on how Sharkey fares with Carnera," he said. "Sharkey will have to win in sensational style to rate any such bonus, and even then I wouldn't give it to him without a lengthy conference on other details. For instance, I don't see why Sharkey should be paid $25,000 for signing if he is going to demand practically all of the percentage set aside for the main event. If he stops the Italian and looks like a big card for a show in September, I might consider paying him that bonus. But if he lacks color he'll have to come to us. And from the way things look now we'll be holding the trump card when the June fight is over, for I'll have the winner under contract!"

FRENCH TO OPPOSE PHILLIES TODAY

EASTERN STARS ARRIVE AT RACE SCENE

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 2.—(AP.)—If you believe what the "long shot boys" tell you at Churchill Downs these days, you will be justified in reaching the conclusion that all the favorites for the $50,000 added classic Saturday will jump the fence or drop dead in the stretch.

These are the tales they tell:

"Ladysman can't win because he hasn't raced enough this season.

"Head Play can't win because he's burnt himself out in workouts.

"Charley O won't win because he's been thrown off his winter racing stride.

"Mr. Khayyam is just a flash in the pan.

"Sarada won't be able to go the distance."

. . . and so on.

THE OTHER SIDE

Or, if you listen to all those who say they are certain they know which thoroughbred will win, you may be led to believe that the 15 or 20 horses entered all will run a dead heat. Their comments follow:

"Ladysman is another Man 'O War."

"Head Play is another Reigh Count."

"Charley O is another Black Gold."

"Mr. Khayyam is another Twenty Grand."

"Sarada is another Gallant Fox."

And all the other nominees, if you listen to partisans of each of them, are Burgoo Kings.

All of this disconcerting information was to be clarified somewhat, so far as the Western Derby eligibles were concerned, with the running today of the preparation purse, a mile race at the Downs which drew a field of 10 candidates for next Saturday's premiere event.

Led by Charley O, the Florida Derby winner, and Head Play, the co-favorites, the field included At Top, filly which won the Jefferson Derby; Warren Jr., and Isaiah, both of which have good records in spring racing; Col. E. R. Bradley's entry of Boilermaker and Fingal, and Thistle Play, Ben Minturn and Knockaway.

NEW ARRIVALS DRILLED

The Eastern candidates for the Derby who arrived yesterday were given long gallops at Churchill Downs today to limber them up, and Broker's Tip, Bobsled, Strideaway and Spicson, Western eligibles who are not entered in today's "preparation purse," were breezed out.

Broker's tip was sent over a half mile in :51 1-5, and Col. E. R. Bradley, his owner, expressed himself as much pleased with the colt's condition. It was expected Broker's Tip would be given a workout tomorrow over the mile and a quarter Derby route. Col. Bradley declined to say whether he would enter any other colt with Broker's Tip. He commented it depended partly on the condition of the track Saturday and on Fingal's showing in the one-mile preparation purse today.

Bobsled, of the Bradley stable, was worked over three-eighths in :37 1-5, while Strideaway, of the Three D's stable, and L. M. Severson Spicson each covered a half mile in :54 flat.

The Eastern candidates which were galloped today are expected to be given longer workouts tomorrow.

POMPOLEON MAY START

BALTIMORE, May 2.—(AP.)—J. H. (Buddy) Stotler, trainer of the W. R. Coe horses, said today he would take Pompoleon with Ladysman and Pomponius to the Kentucky Derby.

Pompoleon was disappointing in the Chesapeake Stakes at Havre De Grace last Saturday, running ninth, and until today Stotler had been undecided about taking him to Churchill Downs.

EXPLANATION OF RIPLEY'S CARTOON OF YESTERDAY: THE CHAPEL OF THE SKELETONS—Tscherbenei is a little village about nine miles from Glatz, in Upper Silesia, Germany. It was the scene of many bloody encounters during the Thirty Years War in the seventeenth century, and during the Silesian War of the Austrian Succession in the eighteenth century. Out of the skulls and bones of about 24,000 victims, a bone shrine was constructed having the aspect of a true Chamber of Horrors.

SCHOOL TEAMS KEPT IDLE

Rain and wet grounds today prevented the games scheduled in the two sections of the City High School League.

Indications were that the inclement weather also would wipe out the contests carded in the W. P. I. A. L. as well as the matches scheduled in the Scholastic Golf Conference.

National Open Golf Entry List Shrinks

NEW YORK, May 2.—(INS.)—Unless upward of 500 additional entries get in under the wire between sunrise and the deadline at 6 o'clock tonight, the National Open golf championship of 1933 will play to something slightly better than 50 per cent of its normal manpower.

This morning there were, roughly speaking, 525 entries on the line. Last year, the total entry was 1,012.

Indications today were that more than 1,000 clubs will participate in the first title tournament of the Handicap Golfers' Association, organized on a nation-wide basis to enable the great American duffer a chance to compete in a title tourney. Regular club handicaps will apply in the tournament, each entrant playing 36 holes on the course of his own club.

SPORT VIGNETTES

Two old gents of baseball are in the news . . . Joe Boley, now 35, who cost Connie Mack $60,000 in 1926 and proved a great shortstop for the Philadelphia Athletics, but passed out because of a bad arm, signs with the Williamsport team, of the New York-Pennsylvania League, which opens its season today . . . Jack Quinn, veteran spitball pitcher, 47, gets his unconditional release from the Brooklyn Dodgers, for whom he appeared in 39 games in 1931 and 42 last year, generally in a relief capacity . . . He won five and lost four games in the first season and won three and lost seven last year. . . . He's been a remarkable character and still can catch on a lot of places and make himself useful.

Jack Quinn

Further proof that the uniform doesn't make any difference and that great players make great baseball teams, and not vice versa, may be found in the fact that Al Simmons, Jimmy Dykes and Mule Haas are making the Chicago White Sox go this year, after having been sold by the Philadelphia Athletics, while the A's are foundering since the trio has gone.

A six-day swimming marathon, something new in the sports scheme, will be held at Orchard Park, New York, beginning June 11 . . . The contestants will be six teams of four swimmers each, one woman and three men to a team. . . . Who was it said there's nothing new under the sun?

King Levinsky may not be the greatest heavyweight in the world—in fact, a lot of folks consider him a very mediocre performer—but he is an amazing drawing card in Chicago, where he has lured $437,222.36 to the box office in nine fights against Jimmy Slattery (twice), Tommy Loughran, Tuffy Griffiths, Primo Carnera (twice), Paulino Uzcudun, Jack Dempsey and Mickey Walker . . . A total of 149,737 persons have paid to see these battles.

Izzy Richter, the Philadelphia newsboy, who, scaling only 180 pounds, won the National amateur heavyweight boxing championship in Boston last week, does not plan to turn professional for several years, if at all . . . He wants to wait until he attains his full growth and maximum weight and wants to get a college education . . . He would like to enter the Naval Academy and place himself under the tutelege of Spike Webb, the Olympic coach . . . He's still a schoolboy, in his senior year at West Philadelphia High School . . . He started out as a featherweight, a little more than three years ago, and didn't attract much attention until he began to fight as a welterweight . . . He has grown rapidly and should be a 200-pounder.

The decision of the Superior Court in Chicago that the boxing commission cannot prohibit wrestling matches which are legal under the law is of interest in other states where bans have been placed on the sport from time to time . . . The Chicago ruling is that the commission cannot assume legislative powers and make laws of its own which conflict with those laid down by the Legislature, a quite logical conclusion.

Word from St. Louis is that things are going so badly for the Browns that the word is out that the Mound City will pass on its American League franchise at the end of this season . . . The opener there drew only 4,000 fans, and the turnouts have run to only three figures in most of the games. . . . Monday games are being pulled ahead to make Sunday doubleheaders . . . Phil Ball, the owner, has lost heavily for several years, and is said to be about convinced the town isn't big enough to support two big league clubs.

Here's something to think about: . . . Many West Virginia boxers are entered in the Pennsylvania amateur championship tournament, which gets under way here this week-end . . . The question is: Is a boxer eligible to win the championship of a commonwealth in which he does not reside any more than an athlete is eligible to win a national championship in a country of which he is not a resident? . . . The point being that if this is a Pennsylvania championship the entries should be restricted to Pennsylvania boxers . . . If it's an open tournament, that's something else again.—HARRY KECK.

N. Y.-PA. RACE OPENS TODAY

HARRISBURG, May 2.—(AP.)—Bolstered by a new franchise at Reading, three managerial shifts and a brand new Class A rating, the New York-Pennsylvania Baseball League opens its eleventh season today.

Basicly and despite the annual franchise movements, the circuit remains the same as that which opened its gates in 1923 with John H. Farrell as its president.

The six charter clubs, York, Wilkes-Barre, Scranton, Williamsport, Binghamton and Elmira, are back, although some have hurdled serious financial difficulties.

Harrisburg, which entered with the 1924 campaign, and Reading, for which the veteran baseball magnate, Bob Quinn, purchased the league's "roaming franchise," complete the 1933 loop.

UMPIRES ANNOUNCED

EBENSBURG, Pa., May 2.—(AP.)—Elmer M. Daily, president of the Middle Atlantic League, today announced the following staff of umpires:

George McNally, Gus Detz, Bill Clark and W. H. Walker, Springfield and Dayton clash in the opener tomorrow, the remaining clubs staging their inaugurals on Thursday.

Baer and Schmeling Begin Training Grind

NEW YORK, May 2.—(INS.)—Principals in next month's two big heavyweight fights were swinging into action today.

Max Schmeling, former champion, was at his Oak Ridge (N. J.) training camp taking preliminary workouts. Max Baer, his opponent in the June 8 shindig here, did some exhibition boxing at New Haven, Conn., last night under the watchful eye of Promoter Jack Dempsey.

Jack Sharkey, heavyweight champion, announced he would start training a week from Thursday at Orangeburg, N. Y., for his title bout with Primo Carnera here, June 29. Carnera will sail from Italy the day after tomorrow.

PHILADELPHIA, May 2.—George Gibson and his peppery Pirates might paraphrase an historic gentleman today to declaim:

"We have met the Phils and they are ours!"

Surely the Quakers were the Buccos' "cousins" yesterday as the Pittsburghers smeared their fellow Pennsylvanians to the tune of 10-0. And just to think it was Chuck Klein, Dick Bartell and the others who did a lot to knock the Pirates out of a pennant last season.

Well, this is another season and a lot of things have happened. In the first place, the Pirates appear to have picked up a pitcher who knows how to conduct himself in the famous bandbox park. Bill Swift did something yesterday that is matched about as often as February 29 comes around. He pitched a shutout here.

To add to the gayety of the Pirates' debut in Philly, the visitors scored no less than eight tallies on two hits, both of which were clicked after two were out.

VAUGHAN, GRACE HEROES

Shortstop Arky Vaughan and Catcher Earl Grace were the batting heroes of the Pittsburgh triumph. The flashy shortstop came up in the third and found the sacks loaded with mates. Arky hit the ball atop the scoreboard in right-center and before it could be fielded back to the home plate, the fleet shortfielder had crossed the platter behind his three buddies.

Came the seventh and another full house proposition with Grace up. Earl measured the short fence for one of those Broad street homers and four more runs were credited the Pittsburgh cause. Meantime, Swift moved along like a champion and all the Quakers could see on their row of the scoreboard were ciphers.

FRENCH TO TODAY

Larry French, crack Pirate lefthander, who has won all three of his starts this season, is slated to face the Phillies this afternoon. Big Jim Elliott, also a southpaw, may twirl for the Phillies.

The impressive start of the Pirates' eastern invasion increased their prestige in and around Philadelphia. The folks hereabouts had been reading a lot about Gibson's new club, but they were hardly prepared to see such a spectacle.

The contest was witnessed by approximately 12,000 natives, the majority of who were out to assist the home club in celebrating its fiftieth anniversary of its entry into the National League. A

BASEBALL COMEDY

By NICK ALTROCK

CLEVELAND, May 2.—Well, folksey-wolkseys, this is Uncle Nick broadcasting you a bedtime story from his portable typewriter. The time will be exactly 11:30 p. m. when you hear the key strike the next comma.

Nick Altrock

Uncle Nicholas was up kind of late last night, folksey-wolkseys, as he missed his usual nightcap of beer. Also, on account of not being at home, the missus had not ordered him to bed at 9 p. m.

So Uncle Nicholas is giving you folkses this bedtime story, but he does not feel so good, as he just lost $1.19 at pinochle and his shoelace busted. So, good night, you little brats, sleep tight.

GRIMM WARNS ALL RIVALS TO WATCH PIRATES

BRUINS' PILOT EXPECTS TEAM TO HIT SOON

NEW YORK, May 2.—(AP.)—Charley Grimm, left handed first baseman and philosopher, just about the only man who kept his head and sense of humor when a world series blew up around him last fall, carefully piloted his Chicago Cubs into the lobby of a stately midtown hotel.

Like an Indian scout reconnoitering, he lifted his hand and peered around. There was a sly grin on his leathery face as he whispered hoarsely:

"Is it all right to come in? Have the Yankees left town?"

CUBS NEED HITTING

He settled down on a divan still chuckling to himself, but favoring the crick in his back that is keeping him on the bench. Then he announced:

"Everything is going to be all right as soon as we start hitting. Kiki Cuyler's leg is healing fine and he'll be back in uniform in three weeks. We've been getting grand pitching, but no runs. We still need a left handed pitcher."

The Chicago pilot then issued a warning to all and sundry to look out for the Pirates. He thinks the Pittsburgh entry has everything it takes to win a pennant, and points to the fine showing of the Buccaneers to date as proof of his claims in their direction.

Grimm led his National League champions east for the first round of intersectional duels against the Giants, with his club in fifth place, winners of six of the 14 games they've played so far.

He continued:

"The hitters not only are behind the pitchers, but bad weather hasn't given them a chance to catch up. When you lay off a couple of days, the pitchers get stronger. It's natural for them to rest between games, three, maybe four days. But it knocks the edge right off the batters' eyes."

GRIMM FEARS BUCS

There's not a suspicion of truth, Charley says, in stories from the Midwest that he has been battling with Rogers Hornsby, and even threatened to drag him out of the Cardinal dressing room.

Charley doesn't think the National League ball has been slowed up. Hornsby and Babe Herman hit home runs the other day off slow ball pitching and the balls left the park like rockets. Carl Hubbell is the best southpaw, perhaps the best pitcher in the National League. He likes the aggressiveness that has returned to baseball and fears the Pirates as Stagg feared Purdue.

Travis Jackson, veteran shortstop of the Giants, may make his first start of the year against the Cubs today. Jackson's knees still are in doubtful shape, but Manager Bill Terry wants to use his batting ability as soon as possible.

COUNTY LINKS TO OPEN ON SATURDAY

By TOM BERKS

William S. Haddock, recreational director at the Allegheny County parks, announced today that the courses at both North and South parks would be opened for play Saturday morning.

Both county parks are reported in fine condition for play. The inaugurals will be free from any elaborate ceremonies at the starting tees, Haddock announced.

The women of the Highland and Shannopin Country clubs opened their season this afternoon.

The Handicap Golfers' Association of America is going ahead with its scheduled national tournament. Max R. Marston, former national amateur champion and president of the association, announced today that Jesse Sweetser had been elected chairman of the handicap board and Francis Ouimet chairman of the tournament committee.

While this association has been gaining much ground in the East, only two country clubs from Western Pennsylvania, the Pittsburgh Field Club and Edgewood, have joined the association.

According to President Marston, 350 clubs all over the country have joined and their members will play in the national tournament eliminations that will be conducted before July 15. The finals will be staged between July 16 and September 1.

PITT'S SCHOOL MEET DRAWS FAST FIELD

TODAY'S COLLEGE CARD

TENNIS

Dukes vs. Pitt at Pitt Stadium, cancelled.
Carnegie Tech vs. Wash-Jeff at Washington, Pa.

BASEBALL

California vs. Fairmont at Fairmont, West Va., vs. William and Mary at Williamsburg, Va.

By JESS CARVER

The reporters, who in the past annually have labored hard and long in covering the Pitt Interscholastic Track and Field Championship meet, seeing to it that all the score or so heats in the dashes reached the presses, won't have to sweat so much Saturday at this year's renewal of the district's scholastic track and field classic, but they may have to delve deep into the record book.

The field this year will be one of the smallest, but also one of the fastest in the history of the carnival.

25 TEAMS ENTERED

Due to the fact that economic conditions have forced many high schools to shelve their track teams this year, only about 40 schools are expected to be represented, and not all of these will have nearly as hefty (in point of numbers) squads as they have in the past. To date, exactly 25 have entered, this list including East Huntington, Fayette City, Sharon, Erie Strong-Vincent, Donora, Ellwood City, Wilkinsburg, Oliver, Ben Avon, Bridgeville, Uniontown, Connellsville, South Fayette, Norwin, Washington Township, Rankin, Evans City, New Bethlehem, South Union, Ferndale, Braddock, Greensburg, Harrold, New Wilmington and McKees Rocks.

The meet will get under way at 12:30 p. m., with the varsity freshman teams of Pitt and West Virginia dueling in conjunction with the scholastic affair.

CLINIC ENTRY HEAVY

Pitt officials expect at least 200 high school coaches to be on hand for the second annual gridiron clinic, to be conducted by Coach Jock Sutherland Saturday morning. This year's clinic is to be confined strictly to high school coaches and players, with each school limited to four tickets. The collegians are barred.

The Pitt and Duquesne tennis varsities were to have had an engagement on the Pitt Stadium courts this afternoon, but the match was called off on account of rain. Carnegie Tech's netters meet Wash-Jeff at Washington, Pa.

Frank Stanish, Duquesne varsity footballer, who suffered an injury to his neck in a clinic game on the Bluff Saturday, is getting along in o. k. manner at Mercy Hospital.

It was at first feared that the Red and Blue guard had suffered a broken neck, but an X-ray examination disclosed that there was no fracture of the vertebrae. He'll be kept quiet for a few days, after which another X-ray examination will be made.

HALL FUNERAL TOMORROW

Funeral services for William Hall, former Pitt varsity tackle candidate, who died Sunday evening of tetanus, which developed from an apparently minor scratch suffered in a spring practice scrimmage last week, will be held tomorrow afternoon at his home in Auburn, W. Va.

The body was taken home yesterday afternoon, after having lain in Samson's funeral home yesterday morning. Members of the freshmen football squad of last fall will serve as pallbearers, including Malarkey, Randour, Schnidel, Wood, Rector and Detzel.

Rain stepped in and put the kibosh on the Pitt freshman-Peabody High School track and field meet in the Pitt Stadium yesterday, with the Panther Cubs far ahead.

With only six events complete, the Pitt freshmen led by 47 to 3.

Defends State Title

JIMMY ASTO, OF UNIONTOWN, IN STATE TOURNEY

Asto will defend his Pennsylvania state amateur bantamweight championship in the tournament opening in the Pitt Stadium Pavilion Thursday night. The competition extends over a stretch of four nights and has attracted the best boxers from a wide area.

DUNDEE READY TO BATTLE GOOSBY

TONIGHT'S FIGHTS

North Siders' Baseball Club benefit amateur bouts, Arena, North Side.

Tom Phillips vs. Jacquette Elverillo and Babe Colima vs. Johnny Datto, 10 rounds each, Youngstown.

Jackie Fields vs. Young Peter Jackson, 10 rounds, Los Angeles.

Henry Woods vs. Mexican Kid Ponce, 10 rounds, Seattle.

Frank Van Hee vs. Jack Patrick, 10 rounds, Portland, Ore.

Jacky Dezember vs. Babe Dunning, Marty Tokonen vs. Santiago Zorilla, Johnny Terrell vs. Al Gatchel, Gene Marsh vs. Ray Van Hook, Bert Paxson vs. Dick Miller, Tony De Marco vs. Harley Christie, 6 rounds each, and Eddie Ronsshkolb vs. Jim Walsh, 4 rounds, Cleveland.

By HARRY KECK
Sports Editor.

All winter and on into the spring, Frankie Goosby, undefeated Negro middleweight, has been lying around Pittsburgh waiting for a good match. Week after week he has been a prospective headliner, only to see his hopes fade.

It has been said Ben Jeby, Vince Dundee, Lou Brouillard and the likes of those fellows won't have anything to do with him.

Now comes word direct from headquarters that a top-notch match can be made for Goosby if the promoters will take a chance and pay a reasonable guarantee to Vince Dundee, regarded by many as the uncrowned middleweight champion, as a result of two victories over Jeby and the unpopular decision in Jeby's favor the last time they met.

WANTS GUARANTEE

Writing from Newark, N. J., Max Waxman, manager of Dundee, says:

"Just want to let you know that there is no truth to the reports that Dundee has refused to box Goosby in your town. I have refused to make the match on a percentage basis, but, if the promoters will guarantee Dundee enough to make it worth his while, he'll be glad to come on and hand Frankie his first defeat.

"Also want to break in Jack Portney there against Ted Yarosz. Portney defeated Eddie (Kid) Wolfe in Baltimore last Friday night, and you know Wolfe's record against Yarosz. Portney also has beaten Steve Halaiko and Eddie Cool."

So there we have a match for Goosby, if the promoters want it, and also another opponent for Yarosz.

Between Rounds

Matchmaker Juler Back, of Motor Square Garden, has matched Young Panos, of Ohio, and Joey Zelano, of the North Side, for a return bout in the opening preliminary of his Eddie Shea-Jackie Wilson card next Monday night.

Tommy Paul boxes Petey Sarron in a return bout in Virginia next Monday night. Sarron defeated Paul there last week.

They're talking about getting up a benefit for Joey Speigel, Uniontown boxer, who has a broken back. If arranged it will be held in Uniontown within a few weeks.

Elmer Wilson, Negro junior-welterweight of the East End, is one of the toughest youngsters in the local ranks, specializing in knockouts with left hooks to the body. He stopped both Frankie Portland and Sharkey Lesko that way.

Tug Phillips boxes Jacquette Elverillo and Johnny Datto meets Babe Colima in 10-round bouts in Youngstown tonight. Tomer Di Piero will box one of the preliminaries.

Sammy Paris, of the Hill, is back on the Arena card Friday night, as a result of his good fight against Johnny Warner there last week. He will meet Charley Burns, of Johnstown, with whom he fought a thriller in the show that opened the Arena.

Petey Jahn, North Side boxer, who meets Jimmy Gilligan on the Arena card, now is being managed by Paul Muzzo, the professional football promoter.

Lew Raymond, Arena matchmaker, is dividing his attention between telling the folks what a great fight his third meeting between Jimmy Thomas and Pete De Grasse will be on Friday night and getting ready to appear as the guest speaker on the Trained Seals radio program over WCAE at 7 o'clock tomorrow night. When he's at it he'll get a lot of good fight chatter off his chest.

The Arena also will be in operation tonight, when the North Siders Baseball Club stages a benefit amateur show, for which a flock of tickets have been sold.

The total of entries for the state amateur championship tournament which gets under way in the Pitt Stadium Pavilion Thursday night was 83 this morning and will go well over the 100 mark by closing time tonight.

RAMEY BEATS SCIOLINO

BUFFALO, May 2.—(AP.)—Wesley Ramey, Grand Rapids, won the decision over Tony Sciolino after 10 hard rounds here last night. Sciolino staged a mid-bout rally that brought blood to Ramey's nose and raised a bump beneath his eye, but Ramey piled on steam in the last two rounds, bewildering the Buffalo lad with a two-handed attack, to clinch the verdict. Ramey weighed 136, Sciolino, 135.

ALLEGHENY VALLEY LEAGUE

Harwick at P. N. A.
Campion at Campbells.
Natrona at Girolamos.

A host of interesting sandlot games will be played this evening in various district leagues if rain does not interfere. The Greater Pittsburgh League has two games on tap. St. Clair will play at home again, and will meet the Frick Park outfit, while at West Penn Park, Hazelwood opens with Immaculate Heart.

The Panhandle League, with a number of strong clubs lined up, swings back into action this evening, four games being carded. Midway goes to Sturgeon, Cecil appears at Imperial, Walker Mills plays at Carnegie and Moon Run goes to Langeloth.

In the County League, the Union Printers will start another campaign by meeting Whitaker.

In last night's inaugurals, a number of tie games were run off, with the sandlotters following in the footsteps of the major leaguers by having the pitchers holding the edge over the hitters.

In the Allegheny Valley League, the Negro Elks and Colfax tied, 0-0, and Lou's Garage drew with the New Kensington Merchants, 6-6.

Verona and Universal played to an 3-to-3 deadlock in the Suburban loop.

The Jimmy Smiths nosed out St. Clair, 5 to 4; Millikens downed Mellon Stuart, 5-4, and Bellevue took over J. J. McGraths, 5 to 0, in the Greater Pittsburgh League. John Casey pitching a no-hit, five-inning battle.

In the Aspinwall circuit, Frieds won over the Fehrmann nine, 9 to 4, and in the Pine Creek loop, Fort Pitt defeated Sample, 4 to 3.

The Homestead Grays nosed out the Columbus Bluebirds at Columbus, 6 to 5.

The Books yesterday increased their pitching staff to five members with the addition of Dick Callahan. The others are Bimmy Steele, Joe Semler, Lou Jacoby and Abe Martin.

EASY FOR CHOCOLATE

PHILADELPHIA, May 2.—(INS.)—Kid Chocolate, of Cuba, had no trouble defending his world junior-lightweight title against Johnny Farr, of Cleveland, in their 10-round here last night. Chocolate, back after an enforced vacation in Havana, started slowly, but finished with a rush to win the decision. He floored Farr three times in the last round.

FALCONS HONORED

NEW KENSINGTON, Pa., May 2.—The New Kensington Falcons, basketball champions of District IV in the P. N. A. eliminations, were honored at a testimonial banquet held here last night.

EARL GRACE

Catcher of the Pirates, who also hit a home run with the bases full in yesterday's 10-0 rout of the Phillies in Philadelphia. These are Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph pictures.

CANADIAN CUP TEAM NAMED

TORONTO, May 2.—(AP.)—The Canadian Lawn Tennis Association has selected two veterans and a newcomer to international tennis to represent the Dominion in the first round of the Davis Cup play against Cuba at Hot Springs, Va., next week.

Marcel Rainville, of Montreal, Canada's No. 1 ranking player, and Dr. Jack Wright, of Vancouver, are the veterans. Gilbert Nunns, of Toronto, a youngster, is the newcomer. Rainville and Wright represented Canada last year, losing to the United States, 5 to 0, in the first round of the North American zone.

PEDEN-AUDY LEAD

TORONTO, May 2.—(AP.)—William (Torchy) Peden and his little Canadian partner, Jules Audy, today continued to set the pace in the six-day bicycle race with a lap lead over the second place combinations of Saetta-Ottevaire and Parrott-Elder.

MILLER PIN CHAMP

CHICAGO, May 2.—(INS.)—Joe Miller, of Buffalo, today was the new national match bowling champion. Miller defeated Stewart Watson last night by 1,169 pins in their 80-game match, the final block of which was won by Watson with a sudden flash of form.

ENTRY IN AUTO RACE GROWS

INDIANAPOLIS, May 2.—(AP.)—Entries in the 500-mile automobile race to be run here May 30 increased to 59 today.

Among the last cars nominated for places in the starting lineup were two owned by Fred Frame of Los Angeles, who won the contest a year ago with a record-breaking average of 104.144 miles an hour.

Frame plans to drive a new four-cylinder car. Last year he piloted a straight eight owned by Harry Hartz, who also has entered two speedsters in the coming event.

T. E. Myers, general manager of the speedway, said today the final entry list probably would exceed 60. Entries mailed before midnight of May 1 will be accepted.

Six Big League Clubs Seek Quinn

NEW YORK, May 2.—(INS.)—Jack Quinn, the veteran spitball tosser, not yet has run out his major league string.

Six big league teams today are understood to have made offers to the moist-ball flinger. Boston and Cincinnati, in the National League, and four clubs in the American League are reported to be angling for Quinn, unconditionally released by the Dodgers on Saturday.

Coast Star Sets New Jump Mark

LOS ANGELES, May 2.—(AP.)—Cornelius Johnson, Los Angeles high school Negro high jumper, who placed third in the 1932 Olympic games, bettered the world interscholastic record when he leaped 6 feet 6½ inches in a City League meet yesterday.

The old mark of 6 feet 6 inches was set in 1931 by Willard Ward, a Michigan high school boy.

Fight Results

At Philadelphia—Kid Chocolate defeated Johnny Farr, 10 rounds, for world junior-lightweight championship; Johnny Lucas defeated Phil Rafferty, 6 rounds; Pete Susky defeated Lew Lafferty, 6 rounds; Vincent Reed won by a technical knockout over Mike DeCamillo, 2, rounds; Johnny Craven defeated Jack Tracy, 6 rounds; Norman Rahn defeated Joe Allen, 4 rounds.

At Buffalo—Wesley Ramey defeated Tony Sciolino, 10 rounds; Pete Susky defeated Snowflakes Wright, 10 rounds; Harry Williams defeated Bill Foparty, 6 rounds; Joe Gerace knocked out Pete Young, 6 rounds; Ray Steen knocked out Frank Laspina, 4 rounds.

At Terre Haute—Tiger Jack Fox defeated Babe Hunt, 10 rounds; Red Callahan defeated Jimmy Davis, 8 rounds; Eddie Greb defeated Bud Marshall, 6 rounds.

At Hartford, Conn.—Eddie Reed defeated George Leone, 6 rounds; Joe Rossi won by a technical knockout over Sailor Sharpe, 4 rounds; Dick Carter defeated Jack Pettisham, 6 rounds; Max Schmeling defeated Pedro Leone and Pete Westfore, two-round exhibitions.

At Miami, Fla.—Tony Lopez defeated Sammy Seaman, 10 rounds; Young Kilbane defeated Davy Adelman, 8 rounds.

At Newark, N. J.—Young Terry defeated Lou Halper, 10 rounds; Doc Conrad knocked out Wild Bill Kent, 5 rounds; Tony Mack and Carl Duva drew, 6 rounds.

At New York—Johnny Ladao defeated Damasco Seca, 6 rounds; Joe Cosentino defeated Gene Dundee, 6 rounds.

At New Orleans—Gus Campbell defeated Eddie Flynn, 10 rounds; Snooks Campbell defeated Kenny Reed, 6 rounds.

At Holyoke, Mass.—Joe Kaminski defeated Leo Larrivee, 10 rounds; Elmo Nyholm defeated Ralph Castagliano, 10 rounds; George Amarino defeated Ruby Bradley, 6 rounds.

At New Haven, Conn.—Al Gainor knocked out Charley (Trader) Horn, 9 rounds; Eddie Moore defeated Rudy Marshall, 8 rounds; Hooky Jackson defeated Bob Pitch, 8 rounds.

FRENCH READY TO FACE PHILS

frolic of oldtimers gave spice to the occasion.

OLDTIMERS PERFORM

Baseball rules went by the boards as old and new members of the Phillies got together for a ball game and jubilee in connection with the club's anniversary.

Rules or no rules, however, the former greats and the present-day Phils had a lot of fun as they commemorated the Phils' first game on May 1, 1883.

From the moment an ancient tally-ho, drawn by four big horses arrived with the old-timers, until the seventh man was out in the second inning, that was the kind of game it was, a gala holiday mood spread over the 10,000 fans and the former and present-day members of the club.

Hans Lobert raced home with one run from the third base coaching box where he was stationed, and "Big Chief" Bender grounded out and then refused to leave the plate until he had another cut at the horsehide? The half-century celebration was the thing.

To keep the records straight, the game went two innings—or, rather, the first inning was regulation baseball, while the oldtimers took seven outs in the second session and then left before the present day Phils got their turn at the plate.

COVELESKIE ON MOUND

Harry Coveleskie, the New York Giants' bugaboo years ago, got the hurling assignment for the oldtimers, while Charley Dooin, former Phils pilot, backstopped. Opposing them were Grabowski on the mound with David behind the plate.

The Old-Timers' lineup read something like a bluebook of former stars. Stationed at first was Kitty Bransfield, Otto Knabe held down the keystone sack, Hans Lobert performed at third and Mike Donlin completed the infield. Reading from left to right, the outfield held Dick Harley, Roy Thomas and John Titus. Many more erstwhile greats stepped up to the plate to take their cut at the ball.

Among those who saw the fun were John Heydler, president of the league, and John K. Tener, one-time governor of Pennsylvania, former National League head, and himself a pitcher of no little ability in his day.

AKRON PINMEN PRIZE WINNERS

Pinmen from Akron and Braddock won the lion's share of prizes in the Iroquois tenpin sweepstakes according to the list of winners announced today. The event was confined to singles and doubles rolling, and was held on the Iroquois alleys, Frankstown avenue.

The leaders and their prizes follow:

Doubles—Usleber and Sharaberger, Akron, 1291, $200; Schmidt and Lehner, Pittsburgh, 1237, $50; Cole and Summa, Akron, 1231, $30; Pack and Schmeid, Pittsburgh, 1230, $15; Verdi and Weber, Pittsburgh, 1214, $12.

Singles—Usleber, Akron, 715, $100; Shepherd, Braddock, 681, $25; Nolte, Wheeling, 670, $15; Bodies, Cleveland, 659, $12; Sundahl, Bradford, Pa., 633, $9; Hamilton, New Kensington, 630, $8.

Fans to Pay Fines Of Nats in Riot

WASHINGTON, May 2.—(AP.)—At the suggestion of an enthusiastic supporter of the Senators the Post will receive contributions of a dime each from local baseball fans to pay the $100 fines assessed Second Baseman Myer and Pitcher Whitehill, who tangled with the Yankees in the "riot" here last week.

The idea was advanced so that fans could "assure themselves of aggressive baseball on the field."

BOAT PILOTS TO INVADE

AUBURN, N. Y., May 2.—(INS.)—Guy P. Ellsworth, local youth who has won several American outboard racing events, will compete late this month in the international races on Lake Garda, Italy, it was learned today. Ellsworth will sail from New York Thursday for Italy, accompanied by John Wanamaker and George H. Townsend, who will drive the Gold Cup hydroplane Louisa in the international classic.

ELI CAPTAIN NAMED

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 2.—(AP.)—Joseph Barker, Jr., of Omaha, Intercollegiate Swimming Association champion in the 440-yard free-style, was elected captain of the Yale swimming team, to succeed Al T. Hapke, of Milwaukee.

Natrona Amateur Ring Meet Closes

NATRONA, Pa., May 2.—The Harrison Township Atheletic Club's Golden Glove amateur boxing tournament came to a close here last night with only one knockout being recorded during the final night of action.

In the only kayo, Nick Rossi, New Kensington lightweight, stopped Clyde McKelwaine, of Brackenridge, in the first round. The summary:

112-pound class—Al Walsh, Natrona, won by default from Jim Smith, Kittanning.

118-pound class—Ike Lascola, Butler, defeated Jimmy Jones, Natrona.

126-pound class—Dick Gregory, Butler, defeated John Zollerino, Butler; Kid Roberts, Vandergrift, defeated Tommy Kelnick, Blawnox.

135-pound class—Nick Rossi, New Kensington, knocked out Clyde McKelwaine, Brackenridge, first round; Paul Brant, Butler, defeated Toots Misconis, New Kensington.

160-pound class—Walter Karwinski, Blawnox, and Willie Ritchie, Vandergrift, bout stopped when both fighters suffered cuts over their eyes.

PLAYING A HANGING LIE

Oftentimes on a downhill slope to the green it becomes necessary to hit a rising second shot with the brassie to clear the hazards ahead. In such cases hitting the ball off the heel of the clubface will help. Let the golfer aim to the left of the pin to allow for a resultant slice, the clubhead going through along the slant of the ground. The right foot is slightly advanced with the ball off the left. To enable a better contact the arms are kept low to slightly raise the toe to the clubhead. At impact the arms are drawn in, which adds a considerable lofting spin to the ball.

Buying Wave Overtaking Industries

By B. C. FORBES

THE BEST news received by this column comes from automotive men.

The big fact is that people are buying more automobiles than manufacturers had expected.

Mr. Forbes

Paul Hoffman, Studebaker's sales generalissimo before he was made receiver, tells me that, through use of newspaper advertising to acquaint dealers with the real facts, sales, immediately following resort to the courts, actually exceeded anything enjoyed since the best month of last year, June. Studebaker is formulating most aggressive plans.

General Motors men are greatly encouraged over recent expansion in sales. Cheerful tidings come from William A. Blees, general sales manager of B. O. P., meaning Buick, Oldsmobile, Pontiac. Sales Manager R. K. White tells me that consumer demand necessitated speeding up the April factory schedule of Pontiac straight eights from 6,100 to 8,100. H. J. Klingler, general sales manager of Chevrolet, is particularly happy over recent events. Dealers are bombarding headquarters with orders for immediate deliveries.

Robert C. Graham, of Graham-Paige Motors, tells me that shipments last month were larger than in April, 1932.

General Sales Manager E. G. Poxson, of Reo, writes:

"We are very optimistic over improvement in our business and are confident that conditions warrant aggressive action. We are, therefore, preparing to release a vigorous newspaper, radio and magazine campaign announcing one of the greatest automobile improvements since the self-starter, namely, the Reo self-shifter, an amazing device which does away with the gear shift lever, shifts gears automatically and completely revises present-day conceptions of automobile driving."

President A. G. Bean, of White Motor, has received a truck order from Kroger Grocery which approximates $100,000 for the chassis alone. Truck orders from brewers are also pouring in. Says Mr. Bean:

"We are encouraged with the apparent betterment in general business conditions. Our district and branch offices showed a 22 per cent gain last quarter as compared with 1932 and our April business is 50 per cent ahead of March."

From Dodge also comes cheery facts and figures. Plymouth's working force is at a new peak.

THE AUTOMOTIVE field is not the only one sprouting animation.

President Howard E. Blood, of Norge, tells me that May promises to eclipse April of last year, the best month in the company's history, by about 25 per cent. One recent day 17 carloads of Norge refrigerators were dispatched to Philadelphia.

Yesterday 634 refrigerators were shipped to a Chicago dealer. One day last week one New York order alone called for 477 units. In the first half of last week orders were booked for over 4,000. Curiously, the new demand is not for the lowest or lower-priced machines, but for the high grade type.

STOCKS REGAIN LOSSES AT CLOSE

NEW YORK, May 2.—(AP.)—The stock market was pulled up smartly by heavy buying of the rails in the afternoon today, after showing an inclination to react in the earlier trading.

Several issues closed 1 to 5 points higher, and morning losses of 1 to 3 in the industrials were largely regained. The final tone was firm.

Shorts who had been playing for a technical reaction were driven to cover, and trading expanded to large proportions in the late dealings. Rails were stimulated by loadings reports of a number of western carriers showing the volume above the like period of 1932. Early hesitancy was in part attributed to a rally in dollar exchange.

Oils slumped rather sharply when Socony-Vacuum omitted its 10-cent quarterly dividend. This company, formed two years ago as a merger of two old time dividend payers, Standard of New York and Vacuum Oil, has an extensive foreign business and had been listed by Wall Street analysts as one of the companies likely to benefit by sag in the dollar, but recent unsettlement in the oil industry has had a disturbing effect upon all of the larger companies, and a number of executives now feel that federal action may be necessary to bring order into the industry once more.

In foreign exchange dealings, there was fresh indication that the British stabilization fund was acting to keep sterling down.

The fund evidently stood aside during a fresh burst of speculative selling of the dollar yesterday. Foreign exchange dealers here stress the theory that there is no intrinsic reason why the dollar should go down, or stay down, with this country's favorable balance of trade, and since the action of the dollar has come to be regarded as a sort of inflation barometer in speculative quarters, some stock market quarters were inclined to proceed cautiously.

Wall street has been greatly encouraged by the pickup in business statistics in recent weeks, but has been unable to determine how much of it was "real" and how much was caused by buying in fear of depreciation of the dollar. More optimistic quarters, however, assert that the country had been undernourished by its rate of business activity for some time, and that revival should hold, whatever its stimulus. Over a longer period of time, however, some leading bankers felt that uncertainties over the value of the dollar would prove a brake on business, and hoped that steps would be taken to clarify its outlook soon.

'GOLD CLAUSE' INOPERATIVE

WASHINGTON, May 1.—(AP.)—Foreign holders of United States obligations will not be able to collect their interest in gold at the present time. This was emphasized in official quarters today in pointing out that under the President's executive order of March 20, gold can be shipped abroad only for three purposes under license from the Secretary of the Treasury. The three purposes include gold that is earmarked or held in trust for a foreign country or a foreign central bank for international settlement. The export of gold to meet interest payments on the United States obligations is not included in the list.

It is not considered likely that the President would approve such shipments, since the citizens of this country who hold United States securities cannot collect their interest in gold.

DOLLAR RALLIES IN EXCHANGE

NEW YORK, May 2.—(AP.)—The American dollar rallied in most foreign exchange markets today. The British pound sterling lost nearly a cent at $3.69 for cables, while the French franc was off about 1-12 of a cent at 4.59 cents. Swiss francs and Belgian belgas yielded about 1-3 of a cent each. German marks, Spanish pesetas, Italian lire and Canadian dollars eased.

Bethlehem Bonus Action Suspended

TRENTON, N. J., May 2.—(AP.)—Chancery proceedings to compel the officers of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation to reimburse stockholders for alleged excessive bonuses received between 1917 and 1930 were suspended today by Chancellor Luther A. Campbell until June 1.

The Flapper's Daughter

By BEATRICE BURTON

THRILLING NOVEL OF THE CHILDREN OF DANCING MOTHERS

CHAPTER XXXVI.

Sharlie's face grew red with anger in the darkness as she watched Mr. Collins come around to her side of the car and open the door for her to get out . . . He was letting her go without a word except this warning to keep silent about the evening they had spent together. Putting her out of his car at the street corner as if she were someone he was ashamed of! Some "lady of the evening" whom he had picked up for a few hours' pleasure—

It took Sharlie only a minute to run from the corner where Mr. Collins had dropped her to the apartment house. But in that minute she came to a firm decision.

She would never go back to that man's office again. Tomorrow when he pushed open the door of her little room he would find it empty.

"And when he finds out I'm not there he'll call up here," Sharlie told herself as she went up the steps to the second floor of the apartment house.

EDNA BACK HOME

She knew exactly what she was going to say to him when he did call up, too. She would tell him that she couldn't think of working in the same office with a man who had so little respect for her that he would dump her out of his car at a street corner in the middle of the night instead of taking her home, as he should have done.

Sharlie fitted her key into the lock of the front door and stepped into the flat.

In the middle of the living room stood a trunk, Edna's little wardrobe trunk with her initials painted on it in white. . . She was back then, after her vacation.

She hadn't gone to bed, for Sharlie could hear her and Dodie talking together in the kitchen, and through the lighted doorway came the tinkle of dishes and the rich odor of boiling cocoa. Evidently the two women were having a midnight lunch.

Holding her breath and walking on the tips of her toes, Sharlie began to cross the dark dining room. The last person whom she wanted to see that night was Edna. She felt guilty somehow, as if she had done Edna a wrong, played a trick on her by going out that night with Mr. Collins.

"Ah, well, I played a meaner trick on myself," she thought as she pushed open the door that led to the rear hall of the apartment. The hall was dark as the Calcutta Hole and suddenly Sharlie bumped against something. Something soft and bulky that made the oddest creaking sound as she fell across it. As soon as her hands touched it she knew what it was—the wicker wash basket, piled high with the week's washing.

SHARLIE UPSET

She was laughing when Edna and her mother turned on the hall light and stood looking at her as she sat on the floor, blinking up at them from the pile of clothes.

"Heavens, how you frightened us!—We couldn't imagine what the noise was!" Her mother's voice was shrill with fright and her eyebrows were drawn together in a frown. "What were you sneaking off to bed for, without saying a word to us?—Where have you been until this time of night, anyway?"

"She's all upset, poor thing! And no wonder! It's enough to scare anybody to death—to fall over a heap of clothes like that in the middle of the night!"

"Now, wait just a minute, Edna!" Dodie's voice came again, high and shrill. "Before she does anything or goes anywhere I want to know where she's been all evening!"

Sharlie turned her tear-stained face to her. "I'll tell you—after a while," she said jerkily. Her teeth had stopped chattering and she felt better with Edna's hand on her arm.

There was something so warm and comforting about Edna. She was so firm and quiet, and so sure of herself and of what she was doing.

"Let her alone until she gets quieted down, Dodie," she said. "She probably wants to talk to you alone."

"She's been drinking, that's what!" declared Dodie, following them into Sharlie's bedroom. She sniffed the air of the room as if it were tainted. "I can smell liquor on her breath from 'way across this room! She's been drinking! I knew she was up to some mischief or other when she didn't come home for dinner tonight."

Edna nodded. "Maybe we'd better not talk to her until tomorrow morning," she murmured in her low voice as she began to strip Sharlie's stockings from her feet. "She's not herself right now. That's certain."

MENTIONED COLLINS

Her mother was sitting alone at the dining room table when she opened her eyes and got out of bed the next day. She had a book propped up against the fern-dish on the dining room table and she read as she ate her lunch. Sharlie, still sick and weak, turned her eyes away from the plate of sandwiches and the tall glass of iced coffee, the tin box of sardines and the slice of jelly roll that Dodie had set out.

"Oh, but I'm sick," she groaned, and dropped down on to one of the uncomfortable room chairs. "Tell me—did I dream it, or did Edna come home last night?" The trunk, she saw, had vanished from the living room.

"She came home," her mother answered shortly. "Where were you last night, Sharlie? Who gave you what you had to drink?—Mr. Collins?"

"Mr. Collins!" repeated Sharlie. "Why, yes—it was Mr. Collins. But how did you guess it?"

Dodie raised one shoulder in a shrug. "You were talking about him last night."

A long silence. Then Sharlie asked, "Did Edna hear me?"

"Of course. She was right there."

Sharlie lifted her heavy eyes to the little clock that stood on the sideboard.

"Gosh, it's one o'clock," she said. "Did Edna go to the office in my place?"

"You certainly weren't able to go," Dodie said.

EXPLAINS TO MOTHER

"I didn't intend to go anyway. I'm never going back there . . . Not after last night."

"Last night? Her mother laid down her fork. Her blue eyes were wide and a shadow crossed them like the shadow of a bird over blue water. "What happened last night—in addition to your getting drunk?" Her voice had a knife-like edge.

Sharlie shook her head. "I had only a tiny bit of one drink," she said. "But I hadn't had anything for so long that it went to my head—and it didn't do that until I got into the house. I was all right while I was out in the air—Oh, I'm so sorry I went out with that man last night! No girl ever ought to go out with the man she works for! Do you know that?"

Dodie closed her book and laid it on the cloth before her. "Go on," she said.

Sharlie went on. She told her the whole story of Friday's adventure, beginning with Mrs. Wilmot's visit to the office in the afternoon and finishing with the moment when Mr. Collins stopped his car at the street corner.

"It's possible that he cares a great deal for you, Sharlie, men of his age have been known to lose their heads plenty of times over girls as young as you and marry them . . . The thing for you to do is to make him realize that you aren't the kind of a girl who can be dropped off at street corners in the middle of the night. Refuse to go out with him any more if he asks you to. Remind him that he hasn't met your mother and father. It looks to me as if he were your big chance, honey!"

TO RETURN TO WORK

Sharlie shook her brown-gold head. Her lips curled. "That's what I thought until last night, Dodie. I knew he was crazy about me and I thought all I had to do was fall into his arms and he'd put a big diamond ring on my engagement finger ... But he's a wary bird. He isn't going to marry anybody if he can get out of it. That's how I figure him out. What I'd really like to do is to leave him and get a new position somewhere."

But this was the Autumn of 1931, when jobs were more scarce than hen's teeth, and Sharlie knew how badly her salary was needed in the little flat.

She looked around the small rooms that she had known all her life. They never had seemed so cramped and crowded, so small and shabby before. How wonderful it would have been to sit here and announce that she was going to marry Mr. Collins and would soon leave the little flat forever.

"I suppose I may just as well go back to Collins' on Monday," she said. "I won't be able to get another job in a hurry—and I suppose it is my own fault that he treated me the way he did. I can see now that I shouldn't have let him pick me up on a street corner—and then get sore because he dropped me at one.

That there would be a next time she never doubted for an instant. She knew that Mr. Collins was infatuated with her. She had seen his infatuation in his eyes last night, had heard it in the tones of his voice, and had felt it in his kisses and the hard grip of his arms as he held her in them.

"Just bring him here and let me meet him! I can manage him! Dodie answered grimly, as she picked up her fork.

ROCKY MOUNTAIN NATIONAL PARK, COLORADO

The entire park is a garden of wild flowers. From June to September the gorges and meadows, the slopes and even the loftier summits bloom in colors that change with the season. Innumerable streams and lakes are watering with their icy water the wild gardens of the Rocky Mountain National Park. Gigantic peaks rise with broken perpendicular walls, fantastically shaped by ages. The greatest is "Longs Peak," shown with a massive square head towering above everything else. It is an architectural structure on columns of solid rock buttressed on four sides by long rock ledges. Rocky Mountain National Park extends over 400.52 square miles. It was established by Act of January 26, 1915.

THE PYKNOMETER

Specific gravity or relative density of a solid or liquid is the ratio of its mass to that of equal volume of water at 4 °C. The specific gravity of gases is the ratio of their masses and the mass of hydrogen or air of equal volume. The pyknometer serves to determine the specific gravity of a solid or liquid. It consists of a vessel A with neck H into which a thermometer is inserted. If the weight of the pyknometer at t °C. temp. filled with water = w and with the substance (weighing s) to be investigated plus the water = i (always filled up to mark M on pipe c), the specific gravity of the substance = own weight over weight of equal volume of water = d = s/ (s + w — i). For exact calculations this result has to be corrected by reducing it to a vacuum standard and 4°C.

MARCO POLO (1250-1324) AT THE COURT OF THE TARTAR EMEPROR, KUBLAI KHAN (1216-1294)

Kublai Khan, grandson of Genghis Khan (see issue April 29), ruled by reason instead of terror. He founded the Mongol Dynasty in China, fostered art, learning, splendor. His reign is known as the second "Golden Age." The Venetian Marco Polo, a youth of 20 years, entered the services of the Great Khan, as a traveler, traversed China and neighboring regions. A few years after his return to Europe he dictated the "Book of Marco Polo," which inspired later explorations. (World's History.)

STEAM LOCOMOTIVE, VIEWED IN SECTION THROUGH THE BOILER (Science)

It is a non-condensing steam power plant designed for restricted space. The combustion gases are led from the fire box through the fire-tubes surrounded by water. The generated steam passes through a super heater before entering the cylinders; the used steam is discharged into the stack, increasing the draft. Coal and feed-water are stored on the tender and forwarded by mechanical stoker and steam-injector. Steam driven air compressor fills the air-tanks of the brakes and a small turbo-generator supplies headlight and cab lights. The engineer regulates the flow of steam by levers acting on a throttle valve and the valve gear. The thermal efficiency of the best steam locomotive is about 8%, which means that 92% of the fuel value of the coal is wasted and only 8% converted into useful work. (MacNaughton: Steam Power Engineering.)

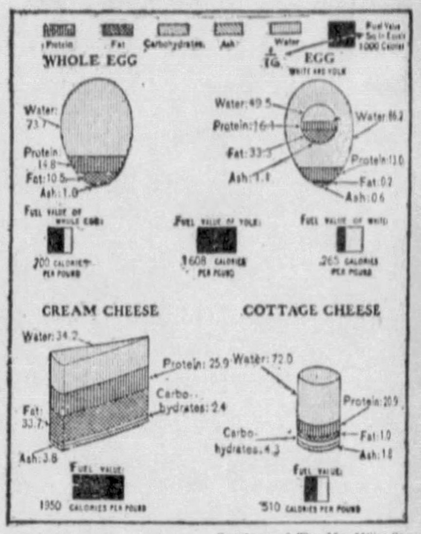
THE FOOD-VALUE OF DIFFERENT BREADS

The essential ingredients of bread are flour, water and yeast. Milk and butter improve flavor, tenderness and nutritive value; salt is added to develop flavor. Spices and dried fruits are used in sweet breads and when eggs are added sweet bread becomes a plain cake. The crust of a good bread is uniform in color, soft or crisp, but never tough; the crumb is light, evenly baked, without streaks near the crust. (Kinne & Cooley: Foods.) (Science.)



Courtesy of The MacMillan Co.

COMPOSITION OF EGGS AND CHEESE (Science)

Eggs are very rich in protein, the yolk also in fat; the mineral matter is valuable, especially for iron and phosphorus. Fresh eggs are most desirable, though it is possible to keep them just above freezing temperature for months without appreciable deterioration (storage eggs). Eggs stored too long have musty odor, thin white and running yolk. Cheese is made from the curd of milk and contains its most nutritive parts. The high protein content makes it a good meat-substitute. It should be eaten in small quantities, in combination with other foods. (Kinne & Cooley: Foods.)

OH PEGGY DARLING! THE WAY YOU GALLOPED UP THOSE STAIRS... AND SLAMMED THE DOOR WHEN YOU RUSHED INTO THIS HOUSE.
MOTHER! TOMORROW... THINK OF IT, I'M GOING TO REHEARSE A PART IN THE MOVIES WITH DELHAM RAVINE!

DELHAM RAVINE? WHAT'S THAT? IT SOUNDS LIKE THE NAME OF A PLACE WHERE PEOPLE MOVE TO RAISE CHICKENS.
WHY MOTHER, YOU KNOW VERY WELL WHO DELHAM RAVINE IS... THE STAR OF SO MANY MAELSTROM FILMS. I WAS AS CLOSE TO HIM AS I AM TO YOU.

PEGGY BUNGLE, DO YOU MEAN TO TELL ME THAT JUST LOOKING AT A FISH-FACED FILM SHEIK MADE YOU TEAR INTO THIS HOUSE WITH A RED FACE AND SQUEALING WITH EXCITEMENT?
BUT MOTHER DON'T YOU UNDERSTAND.. WHAT IT MEANS TO BE IN A PICTURE WITH HIM? DELHAM RAVINE!

OH GOSH MOTHER, WHY CAN'T YOU SEE HOW IMPORTANT IT IS FOR ME TO?...
SPEAKING OF THINGS THAT ARE IMPORTANT REMINDS ME THAT MONTGOMERY EL DORADO CALLED UP FOUR TIMES TODAY WHILE YOU WERE WANDERING AROUND THAT STUDIO LOOKING AT BULLHAM GULLY OR WHATEVER HIS ODD NAME IS.

A Word for the Family Doctor

In this age of specialists it sounds and listens good when an expert praises the old family physician.

It is okay for a man to concentrate on his subject. But it seems to us that they have carried specializing too far. We ran into a foot doctor the other day who only handled the little toe.

The family physician is a man who studied the entire course in college. The specialist is a football player who didn't get to classes often. He was too busy going through college to study.

That's why we have ear, nose and throat experts. The teacher wore a high collar and that's all the boys could see.

The scientist who boosted the old family doctor said the steady, reliable tribal healer could take care of 80 per cent of our ailments. Everybody admits that doctoring is only 20 per cent medicine and the rest common sense.

And the family diagnostician has plenty of that. You might laugh at his pills. But they're easier to swallow than six feet of the Atlantic cable with an electric light on the end.

You can walk into a specialist's office perfectly healthy and we'll guarantee his apparatus will scare you into a well-earned relapse. He has so many mechanical jiggers and not-whats around that you feel you should have brought your motor car in with you for an overhauling.

Nothing like that with the family doctor. All he wants you to do is stick out your tongue. The specialist asks the same thing. But when your tongue is out the expert smacks you under the chin with a tack hammer. In this way he discovers a reflex that is worth $60 to him.

Man is heir to many ills. And the estate never dwindles. But most of them can be cured by ordinary medicines. The family doctor knows that. And he rams so many pills down your throat that he always brings his ramroad with him in case of a tie.

We are not going to discuss the merits and actions of these pills because it would only lead to a debate. All we know is that we string along with the family doctor until the sands of the desert grow cold.

He can do anything the specialist can do. And one thing more. He will carry you on his books.

Disfranchising the Poor

The Legislature Might Well Reduce the Poll Tax to One Cent During the Emergency

As chairman of the state executive committee of the Pennsylvania Security League, Prof. Ralph E. Turner of the University of Pittsburgh has written a bitter letter to members of the General Assembly, saying "it seems that this Legislature will be known as the one which distranchised 1,300,000 voters."

The basis for this is that the Legislature has refused a request that it reduce the poll tax to one cent. Prof. Turner contends that more than a million Pennsylvania voters have been reduced to such depths of poverty that it will be out of the question for them to pay the 65-cent poll tax this year, and so they will be barred from voting.

Prof. Turner apparently has failed to take into consideration the fact that the big political machines, such as that in Allegheny County controlled by Senator James J. Coyne, issue tax receipts by the thousand to their followers without cost to the latter.

It would be a worth while philanthropy for other organizations to pay the poll taxes—with proper authority, of course—of poverty-stricken citizens who refuse to let the machines control them.

But the Legislature might well reduce the poll tax to one cent during the present emergency.

Only as a Last Resort

Supt. Franklin T. McQuaide Gives the Police Valuable Instruction on the Use of Maces.

A man arrested on a charge of drunkenness last Thursday died shortly afterward. He was found to have a fractured skull, and it developed that the arresting officer had struck him on the head with a mace. There have been many such cases.

Encouraging, therefore, is the pronouncement of the new police superintendent, Franklin T. McQuaide, on the subject. He warns against brutality; he tells the police their maces are given them for self-protection only, and are to be used only as a last resort.

The police should also be warned not to use their pistols except for self-protection, and only as a last resort.

The Primary Saved

The Frustration of the Attempt to Substitute the Convention System Is Cause For Gratitude

Pennsylvanians who believe in democracy have cause for thankfulness in the fact that the attempts that have been made in the Legislature during the last four months to substitute the convention system for the primary as the agency for nominating candidates for public office have proved abortive. As the session nears a close it can be said with assurance that the primary is saved.

The impression prevails in some quarters that the political machines find it just as easy to gain their ends and put their own men in office through the direct primary as through conventions. Thus McCready Huston, former Pittsburgh newspaper man, in his novel about politics, "Dear Senator," has one of the characters say:

"My boy, when direct election of senators was put into the constitution didn't people say, that's the end of Penrose! They said the people of Pennsylvania would never send him back. And what happened? He was nominated and re-elected by the biggest vote ever cast for a candidate in the state of Pennsylvania. As a matter of fact, the leaders get results by the primary easier and a lot cheaper than they did by the conventions."

This view is contradicted by the fact that it was henchmen of the Republican machine who were most active at Harrisburg in the attempts to abolish the primary. Does anyone suppose Gifford Pinchot could have won the Republican gubernatorial nomination if it had been left to a convention to name the party's candidate?

No, there is every reason to believe that the machine dislikes the direct primary because it gives the people an opportunity to interfere with its designs, an opportunity of which they sometimes take advantage.

A Good Starting Place

District Attorney Park Should Find Out Who Has Been Bombing Barber Shops.

District Attorney Andrew T. Park has declared war on business racketeers. The criminals who by violence and terrorism have gained control of various business enterprises in New York, Chicago, Philadelphia and elsewhere, will not be permitted to gain a foothold here, Park says, if he can prevent it.

It is suggested that a good starting place for this commendable effort would be found in the outrages that have been committed against a number of Pittsburgh barbers lately.

Shop after shop has been damaged by mysterious bomb explosions. The proprietors of these shops have invariably been men who had refused to raise their prices. These outrages look very much like the work of racketeers who were thus paving the way for extortion.

The Penitentiary Escape

Warden Stanley P. Ashe Probably Is Doing All That Can Be Expected to Prevent a Recurrence.

Warden Stanley P. Ashe, of the Western Penitentiary has a fine reputation. Penologists regard the local prison as one of the best managed in the country.

These things mitigate the indignation that otherwise would be felt because of the escape of four felons from the penitentiary last week. Two of the fugitives have been recaptured, but the other two are still at large.

Mr. Ashe is making an investigation. He announced yesterday that the escape had been made possible by the fact that guards responsible for counting the prisoners in the cells at 4 p. m., 9 p. m. and 5 a. m. on the night of the escape counted four dummies as human beings. If this mistake had not been made, this particular escape could not have occurred.

Two guards have been suspended from duty as a result of the investigation.

To undertake to advise Warden Ashe what to do in respect to this business would be gratuitous. He probably is doing all that can be reasonably expected to prevent a recurrence.

An Ill Wind

(Copyright, 1933.)

Over a period of generations the American people developed a system of 127,000 public school districts.

The work has never been completed. Many districts, even in the best of times, gave inadequate training. The nation's task was and is to carry on its public school development.

Today false economy is threatening to wreck the public school system. In fifteen states schools have closed entirely. In forty states school terms have been curtailed, to save money for politicians' salaries.

This country needs MORE education, not LESS. The public school system must be protected from false economy.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, May 2.—In clearing the desk today I came upon some back-of-an-old-envelope-jottings made at the annual Dutch Treat dinner a few weeks ago. They were for no purpose—merely idle observations of artists and writers who dotted the various tables and are reproduced with slight editing:

W. F. Bigelow, who least resembles an editor, pilots one of the most successful magazines... Jim Flagg's exactly the same as 20 years ago . . . Fontaine Fox always in need of a haircut . . . Clare Briggs and Jim Quirk never missed these affairs . . . Don Marquis, rosy cheeked, white haired . . . John Mulholland, writer-magician.

Robert Sherwood, tallest fellow here . . . Or anywhere . . . Charlie Towne's bald spot . . . A name for a romantic novel—D'Alton Valentine . . . No writer is such a constant entertainer as Walter Trumbull . . . Marc Connelly grows plumper and Boyden Sparkes thinner . . . Rube Goldberg's impish grin . . . "Pigs is Pigs" Butler.

C. B. Falls still wears those bangs . . . Boyish and talented Ogden Nash . . . A cricket-like name—Lee Keedick . . . Russell Patterson's the only one with a lapel flower . . . Arthur Train looks so serious . . . Arthur Samuels can tear a piano apart . . . Otto Soglow has as many O's as Otto Floto.

Radio entrepreneurs no longer look upon an artist's fan mail or announcements in the radio column as a criterion of success. Too many jacked up their quota by trickery or press agentry. The scope of the deceit was discovered through a new artist who, due to a mechanical breakdown on his first broadcast, spieled through a dead mike. But the station received some 300 letters of praise. Stations now have secret research bureaus which find out a performer's audience reaction in a way unknown to him.

Incidentally, a magazine editor tells of the difficulty in abandoning series dealing with the same characters. While he did not have in mind Montague Glass' Potash and Perlmutter or Fanny Kilbourne's Dot and Will, whose popularity are perennial, they encompass the idea. Lesser technicians may launch characters with a few stories and if dropped there is a genuine protest. So long as characters are fixed authors may write the weakest balderdash and readers remain loyal. Thus editors are, goody, goody, at the author's mercy.

Three of the most popular characters in serialized fiction are Clarence Budington Kelland's Scattergood Baines, Irvin Cobb's Judge Priest and Peter Kyne's Cappy Ricks. Each made a fortune for the originator. All tried at various times to bury their heroes but readers demand resurrection. The tug was in their stamp of reality. Scattergood Baines, Cappy Ricks and Judge Priest were aliases of men the authors knew intimately.

The fiction character with the greatest popularity the past 30 years I could not abide. I refer to Finley Peter Dunne's "Mr. Dooley." My father used to laugh at his observations until his face surged apoplectic purple. I have known few beings save myself, who did not find him amusing. I can account for it only because of a distaste for dialect coupled, of course, with a thick sense of humor. But I still think it high inanity and am glad it's erstwhile.

A figure in the Broadway flow is Lou Davis, who when not attending his wholesale butchery business, writes words and music for sentimental ditties. He is one of the piano improvisers who can hold a silent circle knotted about until the final note. His best-known tune, "That Precious Little Thing Called Love," made a sizable fortune. His boon companion is Harry Richman.

I notice Amelia Bingham's home on Riverside is shorn of its crazy bristle of heroic statuary. The facade was niched for marble figures of Shakespeare, Goethe, Farragut, Abraham Lincoln and a bust of Napoleon. The mansion seems deserted and in growing decay. Further south the Charles M. Schwab residence was also crepuscular with gloom, the iron puddler statues in the yard sadly needing whatever iron puddler statues need to make them all merry and bright.

I have perfected a dandy jabberwock for eavesdroppers who cup an ear to private conversation in cafes or elsewhere. Like this: "Alms dopeka shannon sokup mabley carewe"—and a few other names of Cincinnati stores. It sounds fearfully continental and certainly bewilders the nibby.

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

"I believe in capital punishment," you say.

Very well, that's your privilege. But just how much do you believe in it—and just how much do you know about this thing in which you believe?

Do you sincerely and intelligently believe that you have, by your vote, the right to kill your fellow man—and would you back up that belief by actually cutting the rope of pulling the lever which sends him to his doom?

OR IS THIS JUST SOME MORE OF YOUR LOOSE, LAZY THINKING; AND WOULD YOU REALLY PASS OUT COLD IF THE HANG-MAN CALLED YOUR BLUFF AND PUT THE NOOSE IN YOUR HAND?

All of which I'm asking, because I'm mad. As I write this, Winnie Smith Judd's ghastly trial is still going on; and I've been hearing a lot of slack-jawed talk on the subject of capital punishment. Particularly from Nice Ladies, who never even saw a pig-sticking—much less a hanging—yet who think they're talking awful smart and brave when they say they'd send that poor, wretched soul to her death.

Now I do happen to know a little about capital punishment. Because I am a woman. I have never been permitted to see an execution; but I have seen plenty of hard-boiled newspaper men come gagging back from "covering the story," and I have taken pains to learn such hideous detail of the whole foul business which you and I, by our votes, are countenancing.

So I know what I'm talking about when I say that I DON'T BELIEVE IN CAPITAL PUNISHMENT.

I'm against it with every atom of decency that there is in me. I consider it the beastliest blot on our so-called civilization. For it not only makes murderers of us but it does something worse—something slimier. IT MAKES CHEATS AND COWARDS OF US ALL.

FOR HERE WE ARE, CLAIMING WE WANT CAPITAL PUNISHMENT—

AND VOTING TO HAVE CAPITAL PUNISHMENT—

AND HIRING MEN TO PERFORM CAPITAL PUNISHMENT—

AND YET THERE ISN'T ONE OUT OF A THOUSAND OF US WHO WOULD HAVE THE NERVE TO DO THE THING WE HIRE THOSE MEN TO DO!

You doubt it, lady? All right, answer me this: You have equality now, and a vote. You're supposed to think as straight as a man, and take it as hard on the chin. Very well—let's see what your pose is worth.

Every time a man in your state dies by capital punishment, you help kill him. You kill him as truly as though you drove a knife through his flesh or sent a bullet crashing through his brain. And whether you realize it or not, his dribbling blood and his dying drool clot on your polished nails.

All of which is perfectly jake if you know what you're doing, and you mean what you're saying, when you stamp your ballot. But do you?

WOULD YOU YOURSELF CUT THE ROPE THAT SENDS THE BODY JERKING, TWISTING TO ITS DEATH DANCE ON THE EMPTY AIR?

WOULD YOU YOURSELF STAND THERE AND WATCH THAT TONGUE COME LOLLING, BLACK, OUT OF THE STRANGLING GULLET; NOTE THE EYE-BALLS STRAINING FROM THEIR SOCKETS; COUNT THE MINUTES—THOSE BLACK, ENDLESS MINUTES—BEFORE THE BLASTED BRAIN IS BROKEN AND THE TWISTED VEINS KNOT STILL?

OR, IF ROASTING IS MORE TO YOUR TASTE, WOULD YOU YOURSELF, KIND LADY, STRAP AN 18-YEAR-OLD BOY TO A CHAIR—A SKINNY HALF GROWN YOUNGSTER, STILL GREEN AS YOUR OWN LITTLE LAD AT HOME—AND HAVING STRAPPED HIM, CRUEL THONG ON WHITE YOUNG ANKLE AND THIN YOUNG WRIST, WOULD YOU SLIT HIS TROUSER AND CLAMP THE DEATH STEEL TIGHT?

AND THEN WOULD YOU PULL THE LEVER THAT LET THE ROAST INGBEGIN—THE ROASTING FOR WHICH YOU VOTED AT THE POLLS?

How easily you voted! How smartly you talked at your club meeting in your Anti-Crime Drive! And how case-hardened and progressive you felt as you cried down "sob sister sentimentality" and said: "The criminal asked for it; let him take it!"

Well, then, you also have "asked for it"—but can YOU take it?

WILL YOU AS EASILY SEE THAT BODY BULGE AND WRITHE UNDER THE DEADLY VOLTS?

WILL YOU BE AS CASE-HARDENED WHEN THE STINK OF THAT SCORCHING FLESH FILLS YOUR NOSTRILS AND THROAT AND THE CAP FALLS ASIDE—AND THE DYING EYES GLARE AT YOU, WHO SENT THEM TO DEATH?

Would you do that, really? Would you back your vote with the actual act; do the thing you hire another voter to do? Then if you would, you're an honest woman and I respect your opinion.

BUT IF YOU WOULDN'T, YOU'RE A VICIOUS HYPOCRITE, A WHITE-LIVERED COWARD, AN INFERNAL LIAR—AND AS WICKED A MENACE TO CIVILIZATION AS THE MAN YOU SENT TO DEATH.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS

The Man Without a Chance

The others all outstripped him soon,
The lads more fortunate;
He plodded while they passed him by
With proud young hearts elate.

All through his life it happened so,
A score of times he failed;
In vain toil, faith and earnestness,
For none of these prevailed.

There was no lack within the man
That any could descry,
None knew in what dim circumstance
The fault, the flaw might lie.

But though the cause remained obscure,
The issue was the same;
He lived, a man without a chance
For happiness or fame.

But in the end, how good to know
Some day all these who plod,
Who work and strive in vain, we say,
Will have a chance . . . with God!

Isn't It So?

Good order is the foundation of all good things.

The caliber of a man is judged by the fool questions he asks.

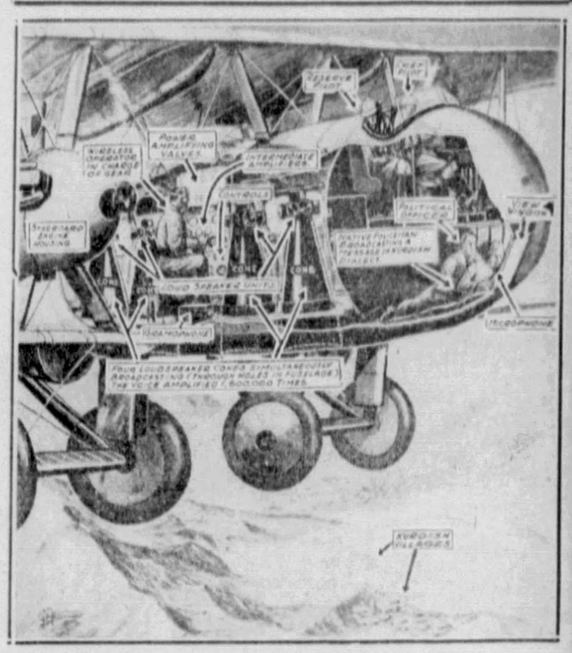
Instead of being looked up to, most girls prefer being looked around at.

There are just as many people waiting to hear the truth as there are people to tell it.

Just as long as a woman gets her alimony regularly she thinks she is happily married.

Fighting With Noise

This British Plane Roars Warning at Enemy Tribesmen.



THE "YELLING MACHINE" IN ACTION

This intensely interesting and important illustration from the Illustrated London News shows the new and humane British method of frightening and controlling barbarous tribes with which Britain deals in many parts of the world.

Formerly, before airplanes arrived, soldiers of "civilized nations," carrying their master's orders to distant desert places, had a difficult task, marching over hot sands, through high mountain passes and jungles—they were often ambushed and shot down. No more of that now.

It has been shown that a few highly explosive bombs, especially if they happened to blow the heads off the idols of the barbarians, inspired great "respect" for civilized beings that come roaring through the air.

This shows an improved humane method of impressing the will of England on rebellious peoples in different places.

A few troops travel in this big plane with government observers and a native policeman able to speak the language of the natives that are to be impressed.

Instead of dropping bombs or poison gas on the natives, or subjecting them to machine gun fire, the plane with the great big loudspeakers that you see indicated sends down words of warning.

It is not any ordinary voice that greets the barbarians of this Kurdish village in their native tongue. Science makes it possible for these loudspeakers to multiply the human voice ONE MILLION SIX HUNDRED THOUSAND TIMES.

The roar that reaches the ears of the men on the ground is deafening.

And Sir Philip Sassoon told the House of Commons that these "yelling machines" talking their own language to rebellious belligerents below are even more effective than high explosives and have "caused hundreds of tribesmen to surrender."

A native policeman, able to broadcast in his native tongue, flies back and forth over the rebellious villages, unseen, talking through the loudspeakers, saying for example: "In the name of Allah, the Compassionate, the Merciful, O people of Aigosh, Mawata and Banan, we know that the Mullah Isa is near your villages and that you are helping him. Leave your villages at once and make 'dakhalat' (surrender) at Diri. If you do not do so we shall bomb your villages after three days."

That is one actual message roared down at the villages. Hearing a strange flying machine, apparently from heaven, roaring orders in the name of "Allah, the Compassionate," no wonder the simple-minded Kurds say "This is too much for us" and surrender.

We "highly civilized creatures" might have done the same if the thing had happened to us 100 years ago.

If the Britishers in the airplane haven't any native to do their broadcasting for them, they use a talking machine, with the warnings on "records" in the native language and those records serve the purpose of the native.

When the next war comes perhaps you will see machines like this telling Germany or machines from Germany telling Paris what will happen if the city does not surrender.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

If there were not so much talk about their "rights," many family quarrels might be avoided; folks usually gain what they merit.

Often a family quarrel is precipitated because one or the other thinks that not enough respect is paid to their position.

Especially is this true when one or the other or both have attained local prominence.

Outside of the family they receive the homage of people, and they like it.

At home they expect the same sort of obeisance.

But the home folk look at them from a totally different standpoint.

They know their frailities—everyone has some weakness.

So the home folk don't put other members of the family on an undeserved pedestal.

A person may have admirable and really remarkable qualities, sufficient to put him or her over, in a big way, outside of home.

But those familiar with the home life of that person might not have the same sort of respect for the individual because he or she does not come up to what is required of a loyal, non-shirking member of a home household.

So when a husband or a wife defends his or her position at home as one for respect, it goes not by what the world thinks, but what the home folk think.
